SUMMARY.

The latest telegrams from the front state that the extent of the Austrian disaster cannot yet be calculated.

The Italians, in advancing, showed magnificent elan, and the victory is exalting the courage of the troops.

The Italians are reported to have broken the Austrian line at Celia Bella.

Directly General Diaz learned that the Austrian commander had given the order to retreat the counter-attack increased.

The Austrian retreat commenced early on Sunday, and by 11 o'clock on Monday morning the retreat had become a rout.

Italian aviators were continually bombing and machine-gunning the Austrian masses crowding the bridges.

The bridges, one by one, were destroyed, until only a single bridge remained intact in the Montello sector.

The total Austrian casualties are at least 180,000, the Italian casualties numbering 30,000.

The Italian Embassy in London confirms the report that the Austrian prisoners number 4,000. Enormous booty has been taken.

It is expected that the Austrian casualties will be immensely increased in the present fighting.

It is already known that the re-crossing of the Piave resulted in the most serious losses.

Horrible scenes of carnage took place at the water's edge.

Masses of bewildered Austrians were waiting their chance of using the hastily improvised bridges.

The Italian artillery and aeroplanes were continually destroying the bridges.

The pioneer American aviation corps rendered particularly brilliant services.

They attacked the bridges until the passage-ways were finally blocked with dead and wounded.

Italian cavalry are now east of the Piave, between Montello and the Zenson Bend.

The Austrians in the Zenson Bend are fighting a stubborn rearguard action to cover the retreat of the main body.

The Austrians are in a most difficult position owing to the poor state of their lateral communications.

The situation abounds in possibilities, but General Diaz is unlikely to take risks, as he has already scored a great success.

Prisoners state that eight divisions initiated the storming of the Asiago Plateau.

It was necessary to put in seven divisions of reserve on the very first day, the Austrian losses having been tremendous.

It is now clear that the grandiose scheme for crushing Italy, in view of a final Austro-German advance in France, collapsed.

The Emperor Charles, realising that the situation was hopeless on the battlefront, hurried back to Vienna to deal with the civilian disorders.

The newspapers in Rome, Milan, and elsewhere are jubilant over General Diaz's announcement of the Austrian defeat.

There is grave anxiety in Berlin regarding Austria.

The German Emperor has sent Ludendorff on a special mission to Vienna.

A Washington message states that the Germans are hurrying troops from France to Italy.

A Vienna official message states that the height of the river and the bad weather caused the Austrians to evacuate Montello.

The order was given, it is declared, four days ago. "Our evacuation was unobserved by the enemy," the message says.

Reviewing the war position, Mr. Lloyd George said we were on the eve of very great events.

There might be a great blow coming in the next few hours, he remarked; certainly within the next few days.

The issue of the campaign, Mr. Lloyd George added, might depend upon it. The Allies had never felt better prepared.

The members of the Australian Press delegation will leave for London, via America, by the Ventura to-day.

There is a prospect that the cost of gas to consumers will be increased to 4/8 per 1000 cubic feet.

The Lord Mayor yesterday opened an exhibition of oil and watercolours and black and white drawings in aid of Italy's Day.

Legislation giving control of travelling stock routes to the Pastures Protection Boards was referred to at the annual conference.

It was resolved that the Government be asked to give prompt effect to such legislation.

The Interstate Conference of the Official Labour Party at Perth was concluded yesterday.

It was decided to ask the Commonwealth Government to repeal the Unlawful Associations Act.

An increase in old-age and invalid pensions and the extension of the pension system to widows and orphans were urged.

The next conference was fixed to be held in Sydney not later than June, 1919.

An extensive bush fire is raging on the western side of the Wallone (Q.) towards Bollon. A large area of country has been burnt.

It was stated before the Abattoirs Commission yesterday that Monday's meat was the best of the whole week.

The reason given was that the meat had been in the chilling rooms longer than that of any other day.

The rival merits of English and Australian woollens were dealt with yesterday before the Interstate Commission.

It was stated that the all-wool article made in England was better than the all-wool article made in Australia.

According to one witness, Australian dyes were better than British dyes.

The annual conference of the Co-operative Dairy Factory Managers and Secretaries' Association was opened yesterday.

The Minister for Lands said that only with the highest class of butter could they compete successfully in the world's markets.

The services of over 400 employees in the wool-topping industry have been dispensed with.

This position has arisen through a disagreement between one firm engaged in the industry and the Federal Government.

A case arising out of the meetings held in the Domain on Sunday week was heard at the Central Police Court yesterday.

A man was charged with having made statements likely to cause disaffection. The case was adjourned.

As the result of a departmental inquiry, it is found that the mail-bag robberies were carried out by an organised gang of thieves.

Mr. Massy Greene said yesterday that the Federal Government was anxious to give consumers some relief in the price of meat.

The Government scheme is near completion, and will be announced in a few days.

Fifty members of the A.I.F., with a band, will start a series of suburban route marches to-morrow.

The Premier unveiled at the Sports Club a roll of honour bearing the names of over 300 members who have enlisted.

The Board of Trade yesterday arranged procedure in regard to the inquiry into cost of living.

The Cabinet has approved of the Commissioners' recommendation to increase the rates on portion of the North Coast railway.

On all the sections of the line north of Kempsey the rates are to be raised 15/ per cent. all round.

The rates for the carriage of store stock are to be revised.

The present rates are to apply only to stock carried at least 100 miles.

War insurance rates, other than interstate and coastal, show a slight reduction.

Oils were steady at last week's level. There was more inquiry for turpentine.

There was a heavy slump in the price of eggs, greatly increased supplies having come to hand. Butter was in strong demand.

Forecast.—Fine generally, excepting further clouds and showers south of the Murrumbidgee, on the south-west slopes, probably with thunder in the north-west; mild day and cold night temperatures.

—PEAPES RECEIVE SHIPMENT.

One of the scarcest lines at the present time is British-woven underwear.

Peapes have received a limited supply, the completion of an order long delayed in England.

This underwear is of very reliable quality—a fine close even weave of pure natural wool, heavy weight, for winter wear.

Its warmth-imparting texture, its softness to the skin, and shape-retention make it appreciably comfortable in wear. It will not shrink.

THE SEASON'S FURS.

The DISPLAY of FURS in the FASHION SHOW-ROOMS must be SEEN by EVERY LADY who, whether a prospective purchaser or not, WISHES to secure FIRST-HAND KNOWLEDGE of this SEASON'S FASHIONS in FURS.

EVERY PHASE of the PREVAILING STYLES is shown in a COLLECTION that is probably the most COMPREHENSIVE yet seen at the NEW PALACE EMPORIUM. This is due to the PURCHASE LAST YEAR of an exceptionally HEAVY CONSIGNMENT of CHOICEST SKINS, thus PROVIDING AGAINST an ANTICIPATED SHORTAGE OF FURS.

STOLES, CAPES, COLLARS, and MUFFS, in the NEWEST SHAPES, are made up in various Furs, including Fox, Ermine, Skunk, and Sable, making a DISPLAY that is at once ATTRACTIVE and AUTHORITATIVE. CRITICAL EXAMINATION will demonstrate that EXCEPTIONAL VALUE, which puts all competitive effort in the SHADE, is assured by

ANTHONY HORDERNS' FAMOUS LOW PRICES.

I FIND IT HARD TO LIVE WITHIN MY INCOME,

complained the manager. "Maybe," growled the boss, "but you'd find it a whole lot harder to live without it." Living within one's income is largely a matter of management and wise spending. One of the biggest helps to the housewife is—a valuable economiser in thousands of homes. By using "Rex" Brand you have the finest flavoured and most nourishing cheese. Its easy-to-spread consistency makes butter quite unnecessary in sandwiches. "Rex" Cheese is piquantly flavoured, and contains all the valuable digestive properties of a fully matured Cream Cheese. Prove it yourself by trying a tin to-day. Sold by all grocers. Refuse all "just-as-goods."

"REX" LUNCHEON CHEESE,

Also try "Rex" Ham Pate and "Rex" Veal and Tongue Pate—two tasty all-meat sandwich fillings.

CHOOSE UNDERWEAR CORRECTLY CUT AND SHAPED.

There are many factors that go to make for perfection in Under-Garments. Two of these are the cutting and shaping, both of which demand the attention of specialists.

JAEGER PURE-WOOL UNDERWEAR

fits the form perfectly without bulge or sag, without uncomfortable seams or tightness. The garments are snug fitting on the arms, and around the ankles, while the whole body is cosy.

Outer Garments, therefore, hang better and appear smarter.

WINTER COATS.

STILL A FEW FOR TO-DAY'S SELLING LEFT FROM LARGE SPECIAL CONSIGNMENT ANNOUNCED YESTERDAY.

HALF-PRICE AND LESS.

Contrary to the general rule that "Opportunity comes only once," we are able to announce that opportunity is still open as far as this Special Consignment of Winter Coats is concerned—selling was brisk, but the purchase is a large one.

There are still a few of the smartest styles in these Splendid Coats left—

BUT COME EARLY TO SECURE YOUR COAT.

These are really splendid values—the materials being those that are most wanted and most in fashion. They are beautiful Scotch Blanket Tweeds, Scotch Cheviots, and Velours finish cloths—every coat designed on the very latest fashion lines—large collars and big cuffs, fur trimmed in a few cases.

The prices are positively half what would be marked under ordinary conditions—and, in many instances, less than half.

VERY SMART COAT IN ALL-WOOL SCOTCH CHEVIOT, the collar and cuffs and part of belt being designed with Caracul Cloth, finished at back with buttons, smart waistbelt. PRICE 49/6

HALF USUAL PRICE.

VERY SMART TWIST COVERT COAT, the collar and cuffs being trimmed with Fur. A smart belt finishes the waist. PRICE 49/6

LESS THAN HALF COST.

A GOOD VALUE COAT IN ALL-WOOL BLANKET CLOTH, velour finished; with convertible collar of the smart large type now in fashion, the waist having smart belt. PRICE 50/6

LESS THAN HALF COST.

CHARMING MODEL IN ALL-WOOL NAVY TRICOTINE, the collar and cuffs being of Coney Cloth; smart Vandyked design; the pockets being edged with Coney Cloth. Coat is half-lined with silk Polonaise. PRICE 73/6

LESS THAN HALF VALUE.

Mantle Salon, Second Floor, Pitt-street.

"ANSONIA" ALARM CLOCKS MAKE WAKING UP EASY AS GOING TO SLEEP.

Most of us are complete successes at going to sleep, but perfect "duds" at waking up, unless—

AN "ANSONIA" ALARM CLOCK is at our Bedside.

Waking at the RIGHT Time then becomes as automatic as dozing, because the "Ansonia" Alarm is one that must be obeyed. At the right time, for a long time, for very many years, is the "ANSONIA" ALARM CLOCK'S way of waking you—and it's a marvel of ACCURACY. Doesn't cost much, either, at NOCK AND KIRBY'S NOTED LOW PRICES.

"PIRATE" ANSONIA ALARM CLOCK.—Like all the clocks in this advert., the case is bright nickel-plated. This one has a 4in dial, with distinct figuring. 6/6 each.

"FLASH" ANSONIA ALARM CLOCK.—Ansonia's offer a wide range of prices, but only one kind of time—TRUE TIME. "Flash" has 4in dial, Arabic (or ten) numerals, bell on back, and costs 8/6 each.

"REPEATER" ANSONIA ALARM CLOCK.—A ... good clock, with a very penetrating, intermittent call. Dial is 4¼in across, with Roman numerals. 9/ each.

"CLATTER" ANSONIA ALARM CLOCK.—A ... of waking sleepy citizens. A loud, effective alarm you simply cannot ignore. Will give you a long, continuous call—or ring, stop, and ring again style. A handsome looking clock, dial clearly figured in written numerals, bell on back. 10/9 each.

WHEN TO SA-O!

Whenever your appetite calls for wholesome food that will prove delicious to the palate—you should partake of

ARNOTT'S "SAO" BISCUITS.

They are crisp, flaky crackers, with a distinctive flavour that makes them enjoyable at all times. Served with butter, cheese, jam, honey, potted meats, pastes, etc., they are delightful.

Ask your grocer to supply a tin.

All in favour—SA-O!

MAKE ATTRACTIVE GARMENTS WITH "VIYELLA" (Registered)

—it outlasts most other materials, and is light, warm, and comfortable—yet non-irritant to the tenderest skin.

"VIYELLA" IS CHILL PROOF

and healthy to wear—splendid for women's blouses, nightdresses, and underwear; children's frocks and nightwear; and men's shirts and pyjamas.

Owing to the difficulties of transport and war requirements, it has not been possible to keep up supplies of "Viyella," and we respectfully ask users to bear with suppliers if unable to immediately fill their needs.

Name of nearest dealer handling it on request to I. and R. MORLEY, 50 Market-street, Sydney.

IT MAKES GOOD BAKING EASY FOR ALL.

If you want the distinction of being a really good pastry maker—if you want to get perfect results—ALWAYS use

IRELAND'S BAKING POWDER.

It makes no difference how well you are satisfied now, you can be better satisfied. Ireland's Baking Powder will revolutionise your baking. It consists only of the choicest ingredients, scientifically compounded in their proper proportions.

Ireland's Baking Powder is guaranteed as follows:—

Every tin of Ireland's Baking Powder is fully guaranteed without reservation or restriction. Should the contents for any reason not meet with the approval of the purchaser, it may be returned to the grocer, and he will refund the purchase price.

THE COME-TO-STAY PHOTOGRAPH.
THE COME-TO-STAY PHOTOGRAPH.
THE COME-TO-STAY PHOTOGRAPH.

Our latest creation is the greatest of all Photographs. The New Emblo Portrait has come to stay.

It carries all before it, and is better than all the best of the past.

It cannot be approached for ART, STYLE, or EFFECT.

It is chaste in design, harmonious in the blending of complementary tints, and is of distinctive merit.

For Black and White Photos, it is a creation in Greys, while for Sepia Portraits it is a unique blending of Buffs, Creams, and Biscuit tints. Each folder is eminently suited for the particular photo, enclosed therein.

It is a two-fold case enclosing a cut-out mount, delicately Indian tinted with dual tints on a plate mark. The photo. shows the mount with good effect. It is flexible, and will not crack or break in carriage.

NOW SEE THE PRICE.

Bromide Portraits (Engraving Black), beautiful and artistic, 15/6 per dozen, or True Sepia Portraits, 21/ per dozen.

This beautiful creation is worthy of the first place in any collection; it instantly appeals to the artistic taste.

The ruling fashion. If you do not see our window before going elsewhere you are sure to be sorry.

A BEAUTIFUL GIFT PICTURE.

The Emblo is an artistic portrait that will give equal pleasure to the one who gives it and to the one who receives it.

THE ON-VIEW PHOTO.

Not like the ordinary photo. that gets stuffed away, the merit of the "Emblo" will impel a permanent view place in the room.

BUILDING MATERIALS.

AUSTRALIAN ASBESTOS CEMENT.
WHY "DURABESTOS?"

BECAUSE "DURABESTOS" is the original and only Australian-made Fibrous Cement Sheeting Material which is hydraulically compressed.

BECAUSE "DURABESTOS" surpasses all other makes in quality, finish, and durability.

BECAUSE "DURABESTOS" is proof against rust, weather, white ants, and is fire-resisting.

BECAUSE "DURABESTOS" is well seasoned and matured, and does not crack, split, or warp.

BECAUSE "DURABESTOS" is approved by the Fire Underwriters, who grant the maximum discounts where this material is used.

A WOMAN "STRUCK BY FALLING PLASTER."
The following appeared in a Sydney Newspaper on June 18th:—"A hundredweight of plaster fell from a ceiling. It struck a woman, and she fell heavily to the ground."
The risk of falling plaster is ever present where ceilings are made of this material. It cannot happen with HARDIE'S
"FIBROLITE" (REG.) CEMENT,
THE AUSTRALIAN ASBESTOS CEMENT SHEETS.
Fibrolite is a strong, tough asbestos cement, that can never fall, crack, or chip. It has the added advantages of being impervious to fire, rust, rot, acid, and decay.
But most important is the fact that a "Fibrolite" house, although safer and more permanent, is far cheaper than even weatherboard.
The first cost is low, because Fibrolite is the least costly building material on the market to-day. Other costs are lowered because less studding and supports are required, and painting costs are reduced to the minimum.
Insurance Rates are 25 per cent. less than for weatherboard.
"Fibrolite" is Australian, made by the Asbestos Slate and Sheet Manufacturing Co., Ltd.,

FOR PERFECT WALLS AND CEILINGS,
"GYPSBOARD" Monolithic Sheets.
"Gypsboard" is overwhelmingly superior to any plaster wall board on the Australian market. It has monolithic solidity, yet is lighter than usual, even in thickness, and has a smooth, hard surface of brilliant white.
Walls and ceilings of "Gypsboard" are permanently beautiful, artistic, hygienic, economical, and are forever free from cracks.

THE PLYING SYSTEM IN WOODS.
The plying system in wood gives the maximum of strength. The boards are thinner, lighter, and easier to handle, yet they are much stronger. Three-Ply Woods are more durable and are not liable to crack, bend, or bulge.
You can run up Screens, Partitions, and Walls in no time, and transfer old-fashioned interiors and off corners into beautiful effects with less labour and less cost. Especially effective for Panelling. No paint or varnish required. We hold big stocks, and lowest prices will be quoted for any quantity. Write for Booklet.

PAIGE, USED CAR DEPOT,
WORKSHOPS AND GARAGE.

A new depreciates from 30 to 50 per cent. the first year. A good, guaranteed, rebuilt Car or Lorry, with a written guarantee, bought at the right price, is better than a cheap new car, and is a profitable investment, that after years of service only shows a low rate of depreciation. We have a number of the leading makes of cars that we have taken as part payment for new cars, at very reasonable prices. These cars include some of the leading European and American makes. Your small car taken as part payment. Write to us and we will send you full particulars.
We have one of the busiest workshops in Sydney, manned by a select and experienced staff.

AS A TROUBLE-FINDER,
THE SPARK PLUG ENERGISER
is worthy of a place in every Owner-driver's, Chauffeur's, or Motor Mechanic's kit.

This aspect of the usefulness of THE SPARK PLUG ENERGISER so appealed to a customer that he bought one. In a couple of days he returned and equipped all his plugs with the ENERGISER.

THE SPARK PLUG ENERGISER not only directs you to the cause of the Electrical trouble, but an engine so equipped means
BETTER IGNITION,
A SMOOTHER-RUNNING MOTOR,
MORE POWER,
MORE MILES,
and
LESS CARBON.

Demonstrations gladly given to those interested or Merely Curious or Sceptical.

COMMONWEALTH OF AUSTRALIA.
DEPARTMENT OF DEFENCE.

NOTICE.

War Precautions Act, 1914-1916.

REQUISITIONING OF RABBITSKINS.

1. It is notified for public information that the Commonwealth Government has decided to requisition rabbitskins suitable for military requirements, and has appointed authorised Agents for such purpose.

2. The authorised Agents are Wm. Haughton and Co., of—255A George-street, Sydney;
545 Little Collins-street, Melbourne;
Currie-street, Adelaide;
C.o. A. G. Webster and Sons, Ltd., Hobart;
C.o. Allan Stewart, Ltd., 15 St. John-street, Launceston.

3. The maximum prices which the authorised agents will pay for rabbitskins requisitioned for military purposes will be, until further notice:—

First Winter Skins, "Sleeved"	1/8 per lb.
First Winter Skins, "Butchered" or "Slippered"	1/6 per lb.
Second Winter and First Incoming "Sleeved"	1/6 per lb.
Second Winter and First Incoming "Butchered" or "Slippered"	1/4 per lb.

The sum of 2/6 per cwt. will be allowed in addition to above prices for packing, etc.

The above prices are for skins delivered at such places in Sydney, Melbourne, Adelaide, Hobart, and Launceston as the authorised agent orders, in thoroughly dry condition, free from ears, meat, leg bones, and tail bones. For skins not complying with the foregoing specification an allowance in price must be made to render them equal thereto. Typical samples of the skins required will be available for inspection at the offices of the authorised agents.

4. Terms of payment—Cash on delivery.

5. Every owner or person in possession of rabbitskins is required to deliver them up, when called upon so to do, at such time and place as the authorised agents appoint, and any owner or person in possession of rabbitskins who refuses or fails to comply with any requirement of the authorised agents in connection with the requisitioning of rabbitskins shall be guilty of an offence.

6. Owners or persons in possession of rabbitskins are called upon to classify them and notify the authorised agents that they are ready for inspection. It is not proposed to requisition all rabbitskins, but only such skins as are selected by the authorised agents or their duly accredited representative, as being required for military purposes. The classes of skin required are those mentioned in para. 3 of this notice. All skins not requisitioned by the authorised agents after inspection will be immediately released to the owners and will be entirely at their disposal.

7. (1) Every authorised agent or his duly accredited representative is empowered to—
(a) Ask questions and require the production of documents in relation to the purchase, sale, disposal, or origin of any rabbitskins, or the actual or probable supply of rabbitskins; and
(b) To enter at any reasonable hour in the daytime upon any premises or place in which there are, or are believed by him to be, any rabbitskins, and inspect any rabbitskins therein.

(2) Any person who refuses or fails to answer questions or produce documents asked for or required in connection with the requisitioning of rabbitskins, or who resists, obstructs, or in any way interferes with an authorised agent or his duly accredited representative in the exercise of his duty in the requisitioning of rabbitskins, shall be guilty of an offence.

PENALTIES.

Section 6 of the War Precautions Act, 1914-1916, provides that any person who contravenes or fails to comply with an order made in pursuance of the Act is guilty of an offence, which may be punishable either summarily or upon indictment.
The maximum penalties are:—
Upon summary conviction, a fine not exceeding one hundred pounds or imprisonment for six months; or both;
Upon conviction on indictment, a fine of any amount or imprisonment for any term, or both.
G. F. PEARCE,
19th June, 1918. Minister of State for Defence.

Postmaster-General's Department.
TENDERS will be received by the Deputy Postmaster-General, Sydney, up to 2.30 p.m. on JULY 31, 1918, for Conveyance of Mails over the Western, Southern, Northern, and Suburban Roads. See "Commonwealth Gazette" of June 14, 1918.

ITALY AND OURSELVES.

Really very beautiful were the tableaux at the matinee given for Italy's Day at the Palace Theatre on Thursday, and the representation of Italian pictures held a double interest, both for their intrinsic beauty and because they revealed an aptness for picturesque posing, which showed the girls taking part to be not unworthy of the associations called forth by the tableaux. The great names of Titian, del Sarto, Carpaccio, and others were taken not in vain by Mrs. T. H. Kelly and her assistant dames and damsels.

The whole affair was artistic, without any jarring note, and recalled a prophecy by Marcus Clarke, who, long and long ago, when Italians first came here as immigrants, foretold the happiest results from the friendship of Italy and Australia; the forecast, too, that in course of time, Australians would become "Italianate Englishmen," because of the softness of the climate. But in appearance, we have not altogether yet fulfilled the prophecy; for the Anglo-Saxon and the Celt are still reproducing their types from Cape York to the Leeuwin. There are fair Australians and dark Australians, but the latter "throw back," as the scientific people say, to their Celtic forbears. There are dark-eyed and dark-haired colleens in the South of Ireland, indeed who are said to get their colouring from Spanish forefathers, and in that way we work around to the Latin type. But the Australian has pretty well developed his own type. We have seen that demonstrated more fully since war groups have been so freely circulated and published. It isn't the big hat, after all, that makes the Australian soldier different from his Allies. It is the look in his eyes, he sees the future, whereas the dark, velvet soft eyes of the Italian reflect the past and centuries of civilisation behind it.

The fruiterer who offers you the "Fiji banan" may have a neck and head like Julian de Medici's, as carved by Michael Angelo; and often in a "fried-a-feesh" shop you many behold a Roman general. When we see the children of Italian fathers and Australian mothers, we usually have every reason to admire their looks. They are true Australians, these, and many of them show the added grace of an Italian descent by possessing fine singing voices. Here, indeed, is one point in which Marcus Clarke was a true prophet. The Australian voice is becoming a characteristic just as is the Italian, but it would be too flattering to ourselves to assert that the gift of melody is scattered broadcast among us. Even if it be made with a hand organ, the Italian must have music; whereas, there are hundreds of mute inglorious Carusos in Australia who have never sung a note, and do not know that they possess the necessary vocal powers. [illegible] from the solemn forms of [illegible] inspired and raised to the feet against [illegible] of the golden ground behind [illegible]. This half-forgotten phrase from [illegible] in Foster through the mind as the [illegible] angels were revealed in their graceful [illegible] stage. Ruskin may [illegible] old-fashioned, but he did teach the British race much about Italy, or rather he [illegible] that she had forgotten, for you cannot think of Sir Thomas [illegible] or any of them, without being grateful to Italy, who really taught England the [illegible]. That very Venice, of which we read on yesterday's cable page with a throb of thanksgiving that it is now safe, is the treasure house of unnumbered beautiful things, not only of angels in sculpture and pictures, but of heroic human souls, of nations who seem now to be turning back the invader. It is a privilege to be asked to lend help to staunch the wounds of such people, with whom we are fighting shoulder to shoulder, and on Friday we shall show beyond doubt that we feel it a privilege.

EXIT THE OLD MAID.

One of the most pathetic figures in literature, from Horace right down to the present day, is the spinster of uncertain age, whose "raison d' etre" is to provide the comic element in love affairs. We are all familiar with the conventional types. There is the gaunt, angular, shrill-voiced, hard-featured maiden-aunt type, with admonitory skirts and pince-nez to match—a chronic sufferer from anthrophobia. Then there is the buxom maiden of the fair, fat, and forty variety, with a languishing eye, a sentimental smile, and a perennial affectation of coquettishness. The one affects to hold the opposite sex in supreme disdain, while the appearance of a man has the same effect on her as the sight of a donkey had on David Copperfield's aunt. The other, like in "A Midsummer Night's Dream," falls in love on the slightest provocation, and often with no provocation at all. It is difficult to say which is the more pathetic character.

Is there any justification in fact for either of these feminine types? Are they met with in real life, or are they merely caricatures serving as foils for the more serious love-making of the piece. It may be asserted that the majority of such characters are undoubtedly caricatures, but have their counterparts in everyday life.

Few of us do not number among our acquaintances the girl who declares with unnecessary emphasis that she does not intend to marry for divers sufficient reasons. Men are vain, selfish brutes who think every woman they meet is in love with them. Married life is one long martyrdom, punctuated by quarrels and ending in separation by mutual consent. Women know when they are well-off, and would not exchange their freedom and independence for all the husbands in Cathay.

Thus reasons poor Priscilla, carrying little conviction to her own heart, and less to those of her hearers.

Gladys pursues a different line of argument, with which she easily convinces herself of the justice of her cause. Why be a burden on parents or relatives when a handsome young husband will carry it all on his manly shoulders and carry it without a murmur? (Some of her married friends look a little incredulous at this, but observe a discreet silence).

Look at Phyllis, who has just become engaged, and is very proud of the fact. Her fiance loads her with presents, and takes her to theatres, balls and suppers galore.

Then there is Mavis, who is aldeary married; lives in a flat, keeps a maid and has very little to do except to buy dresses and put them on. As for children they are neither seen nor heard. Matrimony, she concludes, is a single girl's main objective, and every eligible she meets is a problem in strategy.

Of recent years a third type of single girl is appearing on the stage, in fiction and in real life. She is neither too angular nor too plump. She dresses well and looks well. Men call her, with just a touch of regret—or is it envy—the bachelor girl. She goes to business, just like a man, spends her evenings at her club in true masculine fashion, and attends the theatres with her girl friends. She has men friends as well, and treats them with easy camaraderie, and without a trace of sex consciousness or man worship. She is a good companion, a good friend, a good sport, and her ranks are being steadily recruited both from the man-hating and man-loving sections of her sisterhood. This change synchronizes with a change in economical and social conditions, due in part to the war, whereby woman is being regarded more as a citizen with equal rights, less as a female whose only goal is matrimony. The spinster who used to excite ridicule and contempt is becoming a thing of the past. And in the coming reconstitution of society there will be room, not only for the dutiful wife and the good mother, but also for the bachelor-girl, who is a full-fledged citizen in her own right.

FASHION AS SHE IS.

THE WINTER HAT.

Although we are threatened (according to rumour) with a shortage of wearing material, we still are supplied with fascinating and charmingly becoming headgear. Even if economy must be practised where our hats are concerned, that is far from saying that our war-time hat need be lacking in any smartness. There are hardly any hard and fast rules about winter millinery. Sailor, Tam-o'-shanter, close fitting shapes, helmet-crowned toques, military types; in fact, all sorts of modes are in the running. It is difficult to particularise the favourite. One hears of the high-crowned and narrow-brimmed affairs as first choice. Then, again, the wide-brimmed hat with a soft folded crown, finds many admirers. Of course, there are crowns and crowns; some are bewitchingly becoming folded crowns, finished with a tassel, others are high with a draped summit. A present-day hat shows a scarcity of trimming, very often possessing an untrimmed appearance, but in doing so it must uphold the saying, that beauty is best when unadorned; on other hats originality in decoration is a feature. A veil or a veil scarf is the latest novelty as a trimming, and it is undeniably effective. It may be varied at will, as veiling may be had in different designs and colourings. Some of these veil scarves are beautifully meshed. A delightful little tricorne shape of beaver in a rich tone of black was greatly improved by the addition of a veil, showing fascinating grape designs in a glowing copper colour. Another veil showed an uncommon grey surface, adorned artistically with a trellis of Egyptian blue flowers and a Greek pattern worked in a dull silver thread. The effect was very new and helped the hat to assert its triumph, being quite a small soft affair fitting close to the head and composed of stripe of grey plaited felt, suitable for wearing with a tailor-made costume. A long-haired plush hat in a becoming shade of mole, trimmed with a narrow ribbon round the crown, depended for success on a grey-tinted veil, embroidered with chenille, draped about the crown, and carried round the throat.

Chic is no bar to usefulness in the latest designs. A very good example showed a "bullrush" brown velvet high crown, stabbed with a dagger of amber colour. The effect was most uncommon and smart. Hatter's plush is a likeable felt—an idea which would suit most women—and was carried out in black hatter's plush on a small shape, and soft mouse-grey quills rose in front. Wings, wool work, or oval wooden beads dyed different shades add to the attractiveness of the hats. Wool trimming, indeed, is still playing a conspicuous part. Velour velvet is favoured by many women. It imparts a softness of appearance to the skin. Velvet trimmed with a contrasting tone of silk on the under-brim was decorated with a small feather mount in the centre of the front of the crown. This was the only trimming. A "coal beaver" type was finished with a stitched rim, gaily decorated with a nosegay wreath, fashioned in hand-worked silk embroidery. This tight-fitting little hat would prove a great boon on a windy day.

For matrons' wear, there is quite a collection of types. The high-crowned and rather broad-brimmed hat of black velvet, and the toque alike prove most becoming to elder women. A black and white scheme strikes always a note of distinction. Fur and plush combined are effective. A new model took the form of a large turban toque. The wide, upturned brim of fur was allied to a softly-gathered velvet crown of a becoming ivory tone. Quite a new touch appearing on either side were large hanging jet earring balls. This sounds rather odd; but the word "Parisian" attached to the label guaranteed the attractiveness of the novel idea. Ermine and black panne in combination always produce a smart and elegant effect. Another scheme was in white beaver on a sailor shape. Another model was in white, with a brim of rolled navy. The new high-crowned sailor shows the "American" indent; in this instance a rich tone of blue velvet formed the brim, and the crown was of beaver; the only decoration being an oxidised ornament, with touches of jet.

A chic looking hat was in a quilted black satin, showing a turned down small brim; and a becoming mass of velvet flowers was set in a glowing bunch in the front of the high black crown. The velour felt hats seem to carry all before them. They are in lovely shades, carried out in the "men's" shapes, which are quite the vogue, especially worn with well-cut tailor costumes, or the becoming and smart-looking "overcoats" of the moment. A dainty hat was carried out in a black peau-de-sole, with the new high draped crown and sailor brim; that quaint shade, known as Egyptian blue, served as the base for another likeable hat, the crown was rather high, and the draped summit was fashioned of plain felt, emerging from a band of panne velvet. The new shapes lend themselves to the sombre colours, and it is not astonishing to find black playing the main part. The present-day hats show a refinement of taste—at the same time individuality and originality is studied.

The new neck scarves form such a striking feature this month that a reference to them must find its way into an up-to-date dress description. Considering their flimsy appearance, the prices which range from 17s 6d to 3gs, would seem excessive, but the scarves are very warm, and the knitted silk of which they are made cannot be bought for a little money. In every shade these scarves come; some are grey with blue stripes, others shell pink with no stripes, or white or creme. Both plain and striped scarves are liked, and the gaily striped ones have a "lolly-stick" appearance, which suits young wearers and brightens up a sombre costume. It is the fashion to wear the scarf spread out over the shoulders, and in that way a maximum of warmth is obtained. Fledgling scarves are much seen just now; they are more utilitarian but not nearly so pretty as the silk or silk-substitute affairs. But a scarf of one kind or another must be worn upon the shoulders of every woman who wishes to be "in the fashion."

MAISIE.

NOT WANT OF HEART.

We were talking—as people talk nowadays—in a railway carriage, a well-dressed girl, with a great box of chocolates on her lap, two other girls and I, about so little knitting being done in the tram and trains. The only person who did not speak at first was a thoughtful-looking old woman, who listened and knitted.

"I had to give up knitting because wool is so dear," said the well-dressed girl.

"But you can get wool to knit," I said; "there are several societies which supply knitters with wool."

"Oh, but my dad won't let me. He says if I can't buy wool out of my allowance, I'm not to knit. I've had to give up sending parcels; everything is so dear; these boots cost £3," and she extended her exquisitely shod feet.

"And why don't you knit?" I asked one of the other girls.

"Oh, I got sick of knitting, the needles got on my nerves," she replied, carelessly.

"And you," I asked the third girl. "I'm afraid I grew lazy," she said; "but I feel ashamed when I see you and the other lady knitting."

The old woman smiled. "That's a good sign," she remarked, "get to work as soon as you are home; remember our brave soldiers don't get lazy." Then to the well-dressed girl she went on: "I have been wondering about those chocolates. Couldn't you buy wool instead of sweets? Those must have cost five shillings at least."—"Seven and sixpence," said the girl, smilingly, "but I didn't buy them; my fiance gives me a box every week."

"Couldn't you get him to buy plain chocolate and send it to some soldier, as I daresay, most girls have men friends who would buy wool for them to knit?"

The girl looked pleased. "I'll get John to do that; he can't go himself. Seven and six would buy a lot of plain chocolate. Have you anyone fighting?"

"Yes, my only grandson; the last of his name is there. These socks are for him."

When the well-dressed girl got out a little later she dropped her box of sweets on to the old woman's lap, with, "Send them with the socks, please."

WOMEN'S ANTI-DRINK CRUSADE.

Women were urged from several church pulpits on Sunday to rally to the meeting on "Drink and racing during war time" in the Domain to-morrow afternoon. The Acting Prime Minister has been asked to receive representatives from the meeting for a short interview.

PENELOPE'S WEEKLY NOTES.

THINGS THROWN AWAY.

It was mentioned in this column last week that the sound outside leaves of green vegetables were, amongst other items, upon Penelope's list of things usually thrown away.

The cook with a sharp knife and business-like air, attacks, let us say, a cauliflower, or a homely bunch of carrots. Her main idea apparently is to subject the vegetable to severe surgical treatment in order to improve its appearnce for the vegetable dish and the table; the secondary thought in her mind being to economise with even a penny bunch of carrots; and the last and most fugitive one of all, that here, in the very heap of discarded material, she is throwing away that which would yield her precious juices particularly good for the health of her family.

One of the best dishes that can be sent to table may be made from the tops of certain vegetables, especially beets and carrots. When spinach is dear or scarce, one has here at hand a healthful vegetable which may be cooked exactly as spinach is, then chopped finely and put through a sieve, placed in a hot dish, and rubbed over with butter. In any case, that is to say, if spinach is cheap, the cook, by thus treating her carrots or turnips or beets, has the satisfaction of knowing that the one vegetable has served a double purpose. Many people hold that such root vegetables as carrots and beet are indigestible. Be that as it may, and one has to remember that what is one man's meat is another man's poison—the tops of these vegetables have a veritable advantage over their roots, in that they have been grown in the sun and air and have thus acquired certain virtues which the roots have not. We most of us know they are rich in salts—the salts of soda, iron, magnesia, and lime.

A word of warning before passing from this subject. The leaves of rhubarb are not fit for food. Indeed, it has been stated that they contain a certain amount of oxalic acid, and are, consequently, poisonous.

Next on our list of things usually thrown away come apple peelings.

The French cook, to whom we have so often to pay homage for kitchen lore, treats these parings, as she does the giblets from her fowls and ducks. She washes them well, and then gently stews them (and their cores) to obtain their essential juices. And afterwards, and well afterwards, she strains and sweetens the resultant juice, and pours it into pie, pudding, or sauce, as the case may be.

The juice can also be used as a fruit syrup, with which to make a healthful and refreshing drink. And, again, it can be turned into a delicious jelly. Many times a housewife will hesitate with a handful of these peelings. They are so few, perhaps—do they deserve treatment? If too few, they can be saved, and this cold weather they will keep quite fit for use, for several days. Later on, perhaps, it will be necessary to peel more apples, whence will come more parings, and these, with those other ones, shrivelled, maybe by this time, may be all used together.

Next upon our list, we come to small quantities of milk—sweet and sour. There are so many uses for the former variety, that it is perhaps unnecessary to name any. And, yet, Penelope has known cooks to heedlessly throw even as much as a cupful away, because it was too small a quantity to be worth saving, in her eyes. Yet, even a tablespoonful has its uses. Let us consider the very small quantity, looking at it with the sternly frugal eye. A cupful will make a one-egg custard; it will make fritters, or a small milk loaf, or a steamed pudding; white sauce for rissoles (the thick variety that binds the meat together); frying batter for fish, meat, etc. It will enrich your soup; be a help in the making of a fondu. Oh, there are a hundred of uses to which one may put a spare cup of milk. And a half cup of it—one or two tablespoons. Drop a lump of butter into it and heat it, then use it in mashing potatoes, parsnips, etc. Add a very little water to it, some jam and sugar; thicken it with arrowroot, and you have a sauce for the pudding. Or thicken it with flour or cornflour, and you have a sauce for the vegetables.

Now the weather is so cold, milk, if boiled, will keep good for quite two days. If you have no other use for the small portion left over, and are not thinking of having sauces or batters; and are having your potatoes fried or baked, pour it into the porridge when it is cooking, instead of its quantity of water. Any way, and by every means, take care that not one tablespoonful of sweet milk follows the vegetable water down the kitchen sink. By any means, divert it to the food of the family to increase its nourishment. But you need not feel wasteful and sorry if when you go to your milk safe you discover therein quite a large quantity of absolutely sour milk. On no account regard it as a waste product. Just look upon it as a nourishing food; an ingredient with which you may make a great many things.

Every cook knows that excellent scones may be made by mixing the flour with sour instead of with sweet milk. But not many scones are not good for the family digestion, and one cannot serve them perhaps with each lot of milk that "turns." What then? Strain it through a cheese cloth, and with the whey (which contains valuable mineral salts) make one of the various breads—currant, sultana, raisin, or date—in the mixing of which would ordinarily go merely plain water. And the curd? Beat it with a fork, add to it favouring, sugar, sultanas, and the beaten yolk of an egg or merely a portion of the yolk (if the quantity of curd is small) then make a little pastry, line a patty tin or two, and make curd cheese cakes. The school-going party at all events will appreciate them.

Lemons are very sound and good at present, their price running from 9d to 1s a dozen. It appears to be a good time in which to make lemon jam and marmalade. Indeed, all citrus fruit is worth buying, particularly the large navel oranges at 2d and 3d each. Although the price of these latter seems high it must be remembered that there is a minimum of waste with them, and that their flavour and juiciness make their purchase well worth while. Pineapples at 9d and 1s and 1s 3d are good; but our best and most generally useful fruit to-day is the apple. Many varieties are on the market, including thin-skinned Granny Smiths at 1s and 1s 6d a dozen. Strawberries are offering at 2s a punnet, and guavas are 6d, 7d, and 1s a basket.

To-day one may buy a good cauliflower of a size to yield a satisfactory foundation for soup—and a sufficient vegetable course for a family of six for the sum of 5d or 6d. French beans are with us, and good peas (6d a lb). Cabbages cost from 4d to 8d each. All the root vegetables are good, and of temptingly fresh appearance. New potatoes (they should always be cooked with a sprig of mint) are 2d a lb, old ones 1½d. Good, small onions for pickling may be bought for 3d a lb.

THE SHIRKERS.

Come, let your needles scintillate,
And let the worsted fly;
To plain and purl your best attention bend;
For once again, insistently,
Rings out the War Chest's cry,
How many socks do you intend to send?

"A hundred thousand pairs, and more;
To help the boys in France;"
To help them face another winter through;
To cheer their weary spirits, and
Their comfort to enhance,
Again there comes its strong appeal to you.

Will you answer it completely,
And its urgent call obey?
Proving worthy of the men who need your aid.
There's a mighty debt you owe them,
One you ne'er can quite repay,
But now may some small recompense be made.

Won't you think of those who ask you,
For your work and for your thought,
And recognise that all-compelling claim?
'Tis your privilege to save the men
Who gallantly have fought
To save you from dishonour and from shame.

Then let the needles scintillate,
And let the worsted fly,
In token that your hearts will not forget;
Every stitch a grateful tribute;
Every row a memory;
To the men who bear the onus of your debt.

HOME AFFAIRS.

TO COOK VEGETABLES.

A correspondent writes to ask for some hints on the proper way to cook vegetables, and the why and wherefore of the methods employed. Scientific cookery may be said to be quite a craze with the well-informed at present. Indeed, there is so much amateur science scattered broadcast in every magazine devoted to household affairs, that it fairly turns old-fashioned folks off their food. These forbidding terms, which are all very well in their proper place in the text book, remind one of the highly elaborate explanation given by the little boy to his grandmother about the right way to extract the nutriment from an egg. The result is surprisingly simple, and just exactly the same as the result obtained by the same method described in homely phrase.

Vegetables are nearly always the worst treated part of the daily meal. They depend so much upon their treatment for their popularity that they one and all deserve much more consideration than is usually given them. I have always noticed that the average servant, be she cook or merely the general, gives them too little time to cook, and hastens the process with a pinch of soda, nearly always an unnecessary mistake. The mushy and slimy taste which results from an overdose of soda is almost certainly the cause of the dislike which many children show for vegetables. If more care were taken in the cooking of the vegetables, especially greens, much money might be saved in doctors' bills, also in butchers' bills. Without going to the extreme of the vegetarian, it may safely be asserted that a well-cooked, well-served vegetable course might occasionally replace, in a simple dinner, the monotonous milk pudding or "black cap." French dinners often find place for a vegetable served by itself, and if the objection be made that this means too much washing up such vanishes if either the soup or the pudding be eliminated. Asparagus is served this way in Australian households, but stewed celery with melted butter, leeks (in season), artichokes, and spinach, with poached eggs are all alike very tempting as a separate course.

Spaghetti has become quite established here as a standard dish, but I think most Australian housewives find that their families tire of this dish sooner than of almost any other. Our palates are not accustomed to it, and although now and then it goes well, yet the attempt that is made in many quarters to substitute macaroni for meat will not be altogether successful. To give vegetables their due, they should be well boiled, old potatoes being the only one that is not placed in boiling water. Old roots, carrots, parsnips, and turnips will sometimes need an hour's steady cooking to make them fit. Then they should be well drained and served very hot. Young carrots are delicious served with either a sharp or a parsley sauce. A tough old cabbage will require 45 minutes' fast boiling, and then perhaps a pinch of soda as a last resort will be absolutely necessary; but a young cabbage should only need 25 minutes. Well drained and chopped with butter, pepper, and salt, it may, if sent to table quite hot, pride itself on being really as delicate fare as green peas. French beans should on no account receive the soda treatment. Give them a generous half-hour in quickly boiling water, and the oldest of them will be surprisingly tasty. Once again the secret is to drain well and season deftly. Cauliflowers also requires quick cooking. The knack with this vegetable consits in taking it off at the right moment, when it is quite soft, and just before it has become squashy. The hard stem should be cut out, as it seldom softens with the rest.

SMART MILLINERY MODES.

WAR CHEST FUND.

During June and July the War Chest branches in the Newcastle and Hunter River district are making special efforts in order to keep up the supply of comforts to the fighting men. Making 5000 pairs of socks their objective for the sock appeal, there seems every reason to believe that this number will be exceeded, for already some 3000 pairs have been received, and there are still many more to come. Newcastle will send 5000 Christmas-boxes to France and 1000 to Egypt. Maitland will send 500, and Scone 200. Jerry's Plains has forwarded £30 to Newcastle H.Q. from the branch, and Oakhampton has sent £12. The last mail brought letters of acknowledgment to Rouchel and Kurri Kurri for donations of £55 and £50 respectively, forwarded through the Newcastle centre to the A.C.F. Commissioner in England. This money was expended in comforts for the firing line during the recent fighting. Muswellbrook has raised another £50 for the War Chest Club in London. Among recent efforts in Newcastle in aid of the fund was a revue produced by Dix and Baker; this added £269 to the Christmas cheer fund. The Mayfield Girls' League has donated £50, and the Broadwater Coo-ee Girls £25 for this purpose. Other entertainments to be given shortly for the fund include a children's pantomime (produced by Miss Compton, of Maitland, at the King's Hall, Newcastle), a children's fancy dress ball, promoted by Mrs. Sidney Croudace, and a market day on July 19.

SKELETON LEAVES.

A group of skeleton leaves painted with the help of a little dye looks very pretty. The skeletons are easy to make, and they may be used for hat trimming, breast sprays, or in many other ways. This method is very simple and quick: In two pints of water dissolve 3oz of washing soda; let it boil, and add 2oz of slaked quicklime; boil again for 10 minutes, then remove from the fire and let it settle, and pour off the clear liquid. This is what you use for the leaves. In choosing the leaves you wish to skeletonise, do not pick them too young—as a rule soft leaves take the treatment best, but with this process almost any leaves will do. Some of the bush scrub leaves are excellent for the purpose. Put the prepared liquor on to boil, and then throw in your leaves; boil for a good hour with the lid kept close, only lifting it now and then to add a little water as it boils away. To see if done, remove a leaf into cold water, and rub gently between finger and thumb. If the pulp separates easily it is ready. When rubbing the skin and pulp off be very gentle, or you will break the veins. The great thing is to keep the leaves under water while you are rubbing, so that the pulp is washed off; to bleach the leaves make a solution of chloride of lime and clean water, and let them lie in it for several hours; then rinse, after bleaching, in strong vinegar and water. Directly the leaves are removed they must be pressed between sheets of blotting paper, and then they are ready to be treated with the dye. Mix gold and silver paint according to the directions, and with a small brush gild the leaves; anyone with taste can arrange a group. For mounting, the finest copper wire should be used.

HALCYONE.

The committee of the No. 2 A.S.C. Comforts Fund have arranged a gift afternoon at Sargents' rooms, 260 George-street (by kind permission of Mrs. Sargent), on Wednesday, July 3. Contributions will be acceptable.

FROM NEAR AND FAR.

Lady Helen Munro Ferguson, attended by Captain Haskett-Smith, A.D.C., paid an official visit to Melbourne Hospital last week. Lady Helen was received by the president and Lady Grice, and was shown round the hospital and grounds. Before departing, Sir John and Lady Grice and members of the hospital committee, entertained Lady Helen at afternoon tea.

At Honitongilst, Waverley, on Saturday evening, a large number of friends assembled, at the invitation of Mrs. A. Watkins, to welcome home her eldest son, Private Raymond Watkins, 17th Battalion, A.I.F., who has spent a year in various hospitals, after being blown up by a gas shell at the front, and having a thrilling escape. Mrs. Watkins, who has been a widow for some years, sent all her three sons to the war. Two have been invalided home, and the other son, Corporal Milton Watkins, is now in the firing line, as well as a son-in-law, several nephews, and other relations.

A pleasant evening was spent at the residence of Mrs. A. J. Hare, Booloroo, Woolwich, when the returned soldiers at the Woolwich Convalescent Home presented her with an illuminated address, as a token of their gratitude and affection for her three years' work at the home. The evening passed in games and music, organised by the men, and assisted by the Lane Cove River V.A.'s. The address was presented by Private Gabriel, who was the first patient at the home, and has recently returned from his second turn at the front.

Spinning, weaving, singing, and drama will be only a few of the inducements offered to the fortunate owners of a spare shilling to come to the Seven Days Highmarket, to be held in St. James' Hall, from July 5 to 12, in aid of the W. R. L. Battleplane Funds. The model biplane, now on view in one of Messrs. Grace Bros.' windows, is the gift and work of Mr. Ogilvie and his brother; it will be sold by auction on the last night of the Highmarket.

The society photo-play, "Cupid Camouflaged," will be screened for the last time in the city, at a matinee at King's Cross Theatre, next Tuesday afternoon. The entire proceeds will go to the Red Cross Fund.

The 18th Battalion Comforts Funds are having the gift afternoon at the Soldiers' Club on July 4, in order to assist the sending of special Christmas parcels. Subscription lists are now open at the depot. Boxes to the number of 1050, have to be packed by July 14. The stall on Violet Day realised nearly £80.

Mrs. Woolcott, hon. secretary, has received the following letter of thanks from the front:—"The socks are coming along now at regular intervals, and they are worth much to us. The men appreciate them, I can assure you, and had we been so well off in the winter of 1916-17, many men would have been saved the awful agony of 'trench feet.' We haven't had a case for months now, the men are able to get dry and clean socks, that is more than half the battle. We have had some fairly stiff fighting of late, the lads covered themselves with glory. We have lost a fair number of our old boys, both officers and men, dear, brave fellows each and all. We have a splendid band now, whenever we get a chance, the band turns out with a really first-class programme. Will you please tell one and all how very grateful we all are for their many kindnesses, and will you also add from one who has watched the men that the lads here are worthy of the best Australia can give. Yours very sincerely (Colonel)."

Sixty juvenile artists will appear at the juvenile variety entertainment in King's Cross Theatre to-morrow afternoon in aid of Italy's Day. The performance, which is organised by Nurse Connor, is under distinguished patronage, and the audience will include the baby Prince of Pudukota, by permission of the Rajah, who is keenly interested in the success of the fund.

SERICULTURE IN VICTORIA.

On behalf of Lady Hennessy, president of the Sericulture Association, Sir David Hennessy and Mr. T. G. Horobin (secretary) asked Mr. J. M. Reed, Secretary for Lands, to grant land facilities for giving effect to the scheme of Mr. H. A. Khyat, a Syrian, and Melbourne manufacturer, for extending the production of raw silk in Victoria.

Sir David Hennessy explained that the main object in view was to establish in Victoria on a comparatively large scale an industry hitherto carried on on a small scale. Mr. Khyat proposed to spend a substantial sum in settling families, including returned soldiers, on 1000 acres, divided into 25-acre blocks. In addition to mulberry trees, walnuts, olives, and almonds would be grown. It would be necessary to improve each small block to the extent of £500. Mr. Khyat had carried on successfuly in Syria the industries he proposed to establish here, and it was suggested that his idea deserved favourable consideration. Mr. Reed, in reply, asked that a concrete proposal should be put in writing, and the district in which land was desired should be indicated. Silk culture was a subject in which many women were interested, and no doubt we have much to learn in regard to the industry.

The 1st and 53rd Battalions Comforts Fund still continue their weekly jumble sale, and ask for any description of articles of clothing and boots. Any donations of parcels will be thankfully received at the depot, Eastway's, 330 George-street.

MELBOURNE NOTES.

The board of managemnt of the Lady Northcote Permanent Orchestra Trust Fund decided at its last meeting to invite Professor Verbrugghen to conduct the first of this season's orchestral concert in Melbourne Town Hall on July 27.

• • • • •

Mrs. F. G. Hughes, president of the Australian Women's National League, accompanied by her daughter, left here for a brief holiday in Sydney.

• • • • •

Miss Leila Doubleday, a young Melbourne musician, who left here to study the violin under the celebrated teacher Sevcik, recently announced her intention of returning to Melbourne. She cabled acceptance of an offer to give a series of concerts in the Auditorium towards the end of August, under the management of J. and N. Tait.

• • • • •

Sister H. R. Lawrence, of Hawthorn, who enlisted in the Army Nursing Service about three years ago, is about to return to Melbourne with a contingent of wounded soldiers. Sister Lawrence saw service on Lemnos Island, and has since served in Egypt, England, and France. Her brother, Captain B. E. Lawrence, is also due to arrive at an early date. He has had over three years' service at the front, including campaigns in Egypt, Gallipoli, and Palestine.

Three lads at Moonambel School contracted with the local authorities for attending to the street lighting of the small township, and during the past five months received £10 10s. After deducting expenses, £8 will go to the Education Department's War Relief fund.

Everyone of prominence in the musical world was on the platform to meet and greet Dame Melba. As soon as she emerged from the train she was besieged by hosts of friends, and flowers were showered upon her. The greetings occupied considerable time, but eventually Dame Melba and her party got away to Scott's Hotel for lunch, and afterwards motored to Lilydale.

Prahran is about to establish a children's library in the Free Lending Library rooms. The council is acting on the advice of Miss Enid Joske, a Melbourne school teacher. Though this will be an innovation here, Sydney and Adelaide have already furnished a progressive idea well worth following. When Miss Madeline Murray, of the Neglected Children's Department, returned from America she was very keen on this subject, and spoke publicly in support of the project. Mrs. D. Avery, hon. secretary of the Parents' Educational Union, is also much interested in the scheme.

• • • • •

Mrs. G. H. James, who left Melbourne in September, 1916, expects to return in August. One of her sons, invalided to Australia some weeks ago, will return to England shortly; another son is returning to Australia with his mother. He has been in hospital in England for some time, suffering from nerves, after a strenuous time with the Royal Flying Corps. For some months Mrs. James held the position of Unit Administrator at the Women's Auxiliary Army Corps' Hostel in Boulogne.

The Victorian section of the Victoria League looks well after the comfort of military nurses, and to celebrate the first anniversary of the club, an informal party was given last week at the Grand Hotel. Lady Stanley was present to accept a cheque of £500 from the Commercial Travellers' Club. Miss L. Crocker, secretary of the Royal Victorian Trained Nurses' Association, made a neat speech in acknowledging a gift of £1000 from the Commercial Travellers' Club for the Edith Cavell Fund. Military nurses present included Miss E. T. Richardson, matron-in-chief of Commonwealth; Miss L. Hill, principal matron for Victoria; and Miss Margaret Graham, principal matron for South Australia.

Members of the Melbourne Music Club were so pleased with a recent lecture on Neglected Songs of Schubert and Schumann, that a second lecture was requested. In response, Mr. Frit. Hart and Miss Mary Campbell presented a programme at the Victorian Artists' Society's Galleries last week.

Mrs. George Nicholas, the well-known artist, who returned to Australia recently, was the guest of honour at the Austral Salon last week. Mrs. Nicholas' mother, the late Mrs. Henry Finch Rix, was a committee member of the salon for many years. Guests who attended the at home brought gifts of jams, sweets, and cigarettes for the salon's kiosk in the street compaign for the comforts fund.

Miss Nancye Vaughan, daughter of the late Mr. Thomas Vaughan and Mrs. Vaughan, of Adelaide, was married to Mr. Ernest Martyn Smith, an Anzac soldier, and a nephew of Sir Charles and Lady Goode, of South Australia, at St. Paul's Cathedral on June 15. Though it was meant to be a quiet wedding, returned soldiers crowded into the Cathedral, and members of the Women's Auxiliary Army Corps formed a guard of honour in compliment to the bride, who for a time worked on an experimental farm in Wales. The crowd of well-wishers was so dense that the bridal couple had difficulty in getting away. The bride is well known in musical and art circles in South Australia.

At the beginning of its career the "Geelong Patriots" entertainment company was presented with a flag having streamers attached to indicate the various performances given for patriotic objects. The company has raised a large sum by charging £1 1s each for autographs on these streamers.

VERONICA.

PARLOUR TRICKS.

"I don't do any parlour tricks," announces the modern young lady, and looks around for applause. Unfortunately American slang has dubbed all accomplishments with which we entertain our friends by this title, and the name has stuck.

Now, when a girl is asked to let us hear some of the accomplishments which she has been accumulating during her years at school—and for which, by the way, her parents have paid large fees—she denies all capability on these lines, and somewhat contemptuously labels them "parlour tricks." As everything has changed so completely during the war, one may hope that the pendulum will again swing in the direction of "parlour tricks." Our parties are very different things from the ante-bellum entertainments, and it would be a fine idea if the girls would set to work and try to make them as charming as possible, not waiting to be entertained by their hostess or her paid assistants. Let the guests be the entertainers for a change, and try to make the evening enjoyable for the hostess, who in her turn will of a certainty make her entertainments more frequent.

Of course we miss the men, and we all feel sorry for the girls of the coming-out age. They have had a bad time as far as gaieties are concerned. All the same, they are playing the game, and it is the mothers and elder sisters who deplore the dull times for them. Never a word do we hear from the girls themselves, as they put their fresh young efforts into patriotic work, and the boys at the front bless them for it. But the girls must have some fun, even though our parties be practically manless, and if the girls feel that they are helping with the entertainments they will enjoy them very much more than they otherwise would do. I heard of one party given a week or so ago at which there were 18 girls and absolutely no men. The hostess apologised, saying she had tried to get a few men, but had been unsuccessful. One of the gay spirits of the group jumped to her feet, crying "Are we downhearted?" and she was answered by a very decisive "No!"

"Do we want the men?"

Again came the united cry of "No!"

"Then," the fresh young voice went on, "let's give three cheers for the boys at the front." And 18 voices were lifted to give three most unladylike cheers. It was one of the jolliest evenings they had ever spent, so some of the girls said afterwards; and one of the jolliest parts of it was that each girl was called upon to contribute her share to the entertainment. Some sang, some played, one danced, and several recited. Those who could do nothing more told an amusing anecdote or gave a quotation. The hostess was delighted, and has promised a party every month, if everybody will help to entertain. The girls are keenly looking forward to it and getting their contributions ready, and the affectation about "parlour tricks" has been completely forgotten by them.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

J.G.—Bush browny may be made of good mutton or beef dripping, just as well as of butter. You are right in saying "The Chinaman cook on a station has a horror of answering questions on cookery." Browny can be made of the risen bread dough; put it in to a bowl, add brown sugar, 1 cup to 1 quart of dough, 2 tablespoonfuls dripping, half a nutmeg grated, currants, and spice, if liked. Beat to a batter, pour into a well-greased tin, cook in a good, brisk oven. Another browny is made of self-raising flour and water, instead of the dough, or of flour, with baking powder in it.

French.—Winifred: You are to be pitied indeed, not being able to understand your husband's French friends, but why not determine at once to learn the language? You would find it easy, as you could speak it with your friends. It is only the first plunge you dread. The reason you, like most Australians, have "only a smattering of French," probably is because you only learned it in school, and had not the habit of talking in it. Never mind how badly you speak at first. You will soon improve. If you could manage to join a French conversation class you would soon be astonished at your own fluency.

At Macdonell House a very successful "smoke welcome" was organised by Miss Bessie Campbell in connection with the Returned Sailors' and Soldiers' Imperial League. About 20 were present on furlough. During the evening refreshments, sweets, and cigarettes were served, and several musical items rendered. Each soldier received a souvenir in the shape of a gilded match-box.

NO. 1 JURY COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice Sly and jury.)

MANNING RIVER STOREKEEPERS' DISPUTE.

Lyndon v Alley.

The plaintiff in this action, Frederick Lyndon, storekeeper, of Wingham, sued Percy Underwood Alley, storekeeper, of Taree, claiming £400 for an alleged breach of contract in connection with the sale of a business by the defendant to plaintiff. Plaintiff stated that in January of this year he contracted with the defendant to purchase the latter's goodwill, plant, and general store business in Taree, at a sum equivalent to a valuation of the stock, at 20s in the £, based upon actual landed cost, the value to be determined by an independent assessor to be appointed by the agent who had brought the vendor and purchaser together. A deposit of £100 was to be paid forthwith, and the balance of the purchase money was to pass when the stock-taking was completed. A special clause in the contract stated that a sum of £300 should be paid by either party making default. A valuer was duly appointed by the vendor's agent and proceeded to take stock. During his investigation, in checking certain stock values, he called for the production of the invoices, and upon comparing them pointed out that the freight charged on to the goods was twice what it should have been. The defendant admitted that an error had been made, but when the valuer insisted upon checking the prices of the remainder of the stock with the invoices, he declined to produce them, insisting upon the assessor leaving the premises. Negotiations followed, the defendant finally refusing to accept the advice of the appointed agent to allow the valuer to continue and complete his work. Plaintiff accordingly charged a breach of the agreement, and sued for a return of the £100 deposit and the £300 indemnity for default agreed upon. Defendant denied that he agreed as alleged, or that he prevented the valuer from proceeding; also pleaded that he had been ready and willing, and entered a cross action claiming £300, alleging that the default was the plaintiff's.

Mr. Halse Rogers (instructed by Messrs. Sly and Russell) appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Shand, K.C., and Mr. Cowan (instructed by Mr. David Cowan, of Taree, by his Sydney agents, Messrs. F. C. Petrie and Son), for the defendant.

The case is part heard.

NO. 2 JURY COURT.

PALMER AND OTHERS v THOMSON.

This case remains part heard.

IN EQUITY.

(Before Mr. Justice Street.)

FINN v PUGLIESE.

The plaintiff's case has closed, and evidence for the defendant has begun.

(Before Mr. Justice Harvey.)

INTERIM INJUNCTION.

Mr. Claude Weston, instructed by Messrs. Kershaw, Matthews, and Lane, made an ex parte application on behalf of William Patchet Denton to restrain Francis Arthur Edgar Payne from dealing with papers affecting a contract for the supply of 100 tons of American black steel sheets. It was stated that the parties had been partners as engineers in Sydney and Melbourne.

His Honor granted an interim injunction, as asked, till Friday next.

IN DIVORCE.

(Before Mr. Justice Gordon.)

DECREES ABSOLUTE.

His Honor made absolute the decrees nisi granted in the following suits:—Charlotte Wilhelmine Malavey v Thomas Malavey, Elsie Anderson v James Anderson, Alice Margaret Trenwith v Edward James Trenwith, Thomas George Davies v Harriet Williamena Mary Davies, Dorothy (or Dorothey) Leathem v Ernest Leatham (known as Ernest Evans), Emily Hutchings v Richard Hutchings, Minnie Maud Harriott v Thomas Whalan Harriott, Alexander Skinner v Elizabeth Marshall Skinner, Charlotte Ellen Jackson v Frederick James Jackson, Ellen Cowley v Arthur George Cowley, Emile Henri Guiot v Ruth Florence Guiot.

COE v COE.

Jessie Olive Coe (formerly Roberts) petitioned for a dissolution of her marriage with Robert David Coe, on the ground of desertion. The parties were married on April 11, 1908, in Sydney, according to the rites of the Congregational Church. Mr. Emil E. J. Ford appeared for the petitioner, who was granted a degree nisi, returnable in six months.

WILLSHER v WILLSHER.

On the ground of desertion, Catherine Willsher (formerly Daley) sought a divorce from William Willsher, to whom she was married on May 30, 1908, at the Roman Catholic Church, Wollongong. Mr. Emil E. J. Ford appeared for the petitioner. A decree nisi was granted, returnable in six months.

McDONALD v McDONALD.

Emma Prudence McDonald (formerly Roberts) applied for the dissolution, on the ground of desertion, of her marriage with Leslie James McDonald, to whom she was married on June 1, 1907, at St. Ives, according to the rites of the Presbyterian Church. Mr. Emil E. J. Ford appeared for the petitioner. A decree nisi was granted, returnable in six months.

ABEL v ABEL.

Frederick Henry Abel petitioned for a dissolution of his marriage with Maura Pearl Daisy Abel (formerly Aichin), on the ground of her alleged misconduct with William Thompson, who was joined as co-respondent. The petitioner was married to the respondent on April 26, 1913, at Summer Hill, according to the Anglican rites. His Honor found in favour of the petitioner, and granted him a decree nisi, returnable in six months. Mr. Emil E. J. Ford appeared for the petitioner.

FARRELL v FARRELL.

Ruby May Maude Farrell (formerly Pontifex), on the ground of desertion, petitioned for a divorce from Edwin Clement Martineer Farrell, to whom she was married on February 1, 1911, at the Baptist Church, Burwood. Mr. G. W. Connah appeared for the petitioner, who was granted a decree nisi, returnable in six months.

SHARP v SHARP.

Florence Jane Sharp (formerly Steinau) petitioned for a dissolution of her marriage with Bertram George Sharp, to whom she was married on July 20, 1912, at Woollahra. The issues for trial were alleged habitual drunkenness and alleged habitual cruelty. Mr. G. W. Connah appeared for the petitioner. His Honor allowed the suit to stand over so that additional evidence might be obtained as to the second issue.

IN PROBATE.

(Before Mr. Justice Harvey.)

JOINT EXECUTOR'S SUPPOSED DEATH.

Ex parte Ortlipp.

An application was made on behalf of Walter Balthasar Ortlipp, farmer, of Bungowannah, near Albury, for leave to swear to the death of his brother, Phillip Ortlipp. The evidence in the affidavits was to the effect that Phillip Ortlipp left Sydney by the steamer Miowera on February 19, 1906, for Vancouver. The last letter received from him bore date November 18, 1909, and the last communication of any kind from him was a postcard addressed to his niece from Bridgetown, Barbadoes, received by her in December, 1910. Since that date, despite inquiries and newspaper advertisements in various parts of America and elsewhere, no tidings of his whereabouts had been received by any member of his family. It was believed that he took away with him £1000. George Peter Ortlipp, jun., who died in 1913, devised his estate, consisting of 1963 acres of land in the Riverina district, valued at about £16,000, to applicant and his absent brother, and appointed them joint trustees and executors, but had not disclosed the contents of the document, so that the absentee could have had no knowledge of the joint devise. He was on friendly terms with the members of the family when he left Australia.

Mr. Maxwell (instructed by Mr. J. Wilkinson, of Albury, by his agents, Messrs. G. M. Laurence and Son) appeared in support of the application.

The matter was ordered to stand over generally to await the result of further inquiries.

CENTRAL CRIMINAL COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice Pring.)

Mr. Herbert Harris, Crown prosecutor.

Maurice Maxwell and Madeline Deery were charged with having, on April 24, at Marrickville, unlawfully used a certain instrument on Josepha Anne Corbett, a young married woman. Mr. J. W. Abigail appeared for Maxwell, Mr. E. R. Abigail for Deery, both of whom pleaded not guilty. The jury found Madeline Deery not guilty, and she was discharged. Maxwell, who was found guilty, was sentenced to 18 months' imprisonment with hard labour.

QUARTER SESSIONS APPEALS.

(Before Judge Backhouse.)

With one exception the appeals yesterday against magistrates' convictions and orders were unsuccessful.

Frederick Dunkley was convicted by Mr. McKensey, S.M., at the Canterbury Police Court on May 10, for a breach of the Meat Industry Act. The charge against Dunkley was that he exposed for sale meat which had not been slaughtered according to the Act. He was fined £25, with 6s costs, in default 10 weeks' imprisonment with hard labour. Mr. P. L. Nolan appeared for the appellant; Mr. C. A. White for the Crown. His Honor, in quashing the conviction, said that he did so on the purely technical ground that there was no evidence of exposure for sale.

LAND APPEAL COURT.

(Mr. H. A. G. Curry, president, Mr. W. Houston, C.M.G., and Mr. C. E. Rennie.)

In the reference for return to the Tenterfield Land Board of Patrick James Donoghan's application in connection with an additional conditional purchase application, Mr. Fleming appeared for the Minister for Lands. The Court sustained the Minister's reference, and remitted the case back to the local land board for re-hearing.

STATE ABATTOIRS.

Mr. Wilfred Blacket, K.C., the Royal Commissioner appointed to conduct the inquiry regarding the State Abattoirs at Homebush, heard further evidence at Parliament House yesterday.

Mr. Albert W. Clifton, managing director of the Clifton Smallgoods Company, Ltd., quoted figures showing the cost of slaughtering at his own yards, compared with the cost at Homebush. He stated that to kill pigs at his own slaughter-house cost approximately 4/3 per head. There was a return of 3/ per head for by-products, leaving a net cost of 1/3 per head. The price paid at Homebush was 9/ per head. The Meat Board took the by-products, which represented another 3/. Pigs were slaughtered much quicker at Mascot than at Homebush.

John Fraser M'Eachern, acting chief veterinary officer of the Meat Board, said that it was the custom in all parts of the world to put carcases into the chilling rooms with the animal heat in them. It would not have any detrimental effect to put hot meat into the chilling rooms amongst meat already chilled. He considered Monday's meat the best of the whole week, because it had been in the chilling rooms longer than that of any other day.

Robert Parker Allen, veterinary inspector of the Meat Export Branch of the Customs Department, New South Wales, referred to the statement made by a previous witness that the retailers were not inclined to touch the meat on Monday morning, and that meat the retailers would not touch went to the canning works. Witness stated that no more meat went to the canning works on Monday than on any other day.

DOMAIN SPEECHES.

A case arising out of the meetings held in the Domain on Sunday week was heard at the Central Police Court yesterday, when Frank Milburn, 29, a seaman, was charged with having, on June 16, made statements likely to cause disaffection to his Majesty, by calling out in a loud voice at a large public meeting, "Three cheers for the I.W.W., and God damn the King of England."

The case was remanded until Thursday next. Bail was fixed at £50.

BUILDINGS AND WORKS.

HIGH COST OF MATERIAL.

At a recent meeting of the Master Builders' Association an interesting debate took place, in which a little warmth was shown, in reference to the question of the high cost of building material. At a previous meeting, Mr. W. Stuart, whose firm is a very large user of building material, complained of the continued increase in the cost, and he doubted if all such increases were justified. He complained also that some master builders were more interested in the supply of materials than they were in contracting. After dealing further with the subject behind closed doors, the association decided to call a special meeting, and according to a statement made by Mr. Stuart at the last general meeting the special meeting decided to ask the Government to make a full investigation, by commission or otherwise, into the high cost of materials now prevailing. He asked why the executive had not carried out the wish of the members by conveying to the Government the request of the association. The president, in reply, stated that while he was ill in hospital two or three members got together and urged the committee not to proceed with the decision of the special meeting, but to take advantage of the rules and call another special meeting, at which there would probably be a larger attendance, so that before the Government was approached full consideration might be given to the question. The committee was favourable to such a course being followed, and acted accordingly; and he, as president, decided that the rules provided that such a course could be followed. Hence, another special meeting had been called. Mr. Stuart challenged the right of the committee to overrule a decision of the main body, and offered to pay for legal advice on the subject out of his own pocket. The president maintained that, despite any legal opinion, his ruling was final unless challenged by the association. Mr. Stuart said he had no objection to another special meeting, but he thought a very dangerous precedent had been established. Any three members might upset the decision of the main body, and there would thus be no finality to anything the association did in a duly constituted meeting.

It was decided to obtain the legal opinion asked for.

GENERAL NOTES.

The Municipal Council of Prospect and Sherwood is calling for tenders for the purchase and removal of the buildings of the old council chambers, at May's Hill, Parramatta.

Messrs. Morrow and De Putron, architects, have plans in hand for alterations to a residence at Bondi, alterations to a residence at Killara, the conversion of a residence into flats, and for the erection of a block of buildings in the city.

In the office of Mr. D. Esplin, architect, tenders are invited for a large residence at Springwood. In the same office plans are complete for a residence at Coogee, and for the conversion of a residence into flats at Cremorne.

Messrs. T. W. Hodgson and Son, architects, have plans in hand for the erection of a large tannery at Waterloo, for which tenders are being called. In the same office a contract has been let to Mr. E. C. Donnelly, builder, for extensive alterations and repairs to three shops at Parramatta.

A State fish depot is to be erected at Eden. Tenders are called to put up the building.

The Government Architect has completed drawings for additional wards at the mental hospital at Stockton, and also for the completion of the operating block at the District Hospital at Goulburn.

A police station and courthouse are to be erected at Finley from plans by the Government Architect. Tenders are called to carry out the work.

For the conversion of residential premises at Darlinghurst into flats the plans of Mr. Cruickshank, master builder, were selected in a competition against some of Sydney's leading architects. The work is now well in hand, and a feature in the line of construction adopted in the design is the great power of concrete as used in these building operations. For instance, the hood over the front entrance, measuring 12 feet by 3 feet, by 3 inches in thickness, was reinforced on the ground, and lifted into position, carrying its own weight, without creating any flaw or crack in same. Another girder 12 feet long, 9 inches by 9 inches, was also treated in the same way. Further, a girder was reinforced in position 9 inches by 9 inches, with a span of 16 feet, and all supports removed in two days, and no flaw or crack was showing. The rough cast of the building is a particularly fine example of this artistic method of treating exterior walls. Mr. Cruickshank personally supervised the whole of the operations.

HEREFORD HOUSE REUNION CLUB.

The mid-winter re-union of the Hereford House Club was begun yesterday morning at Hereford House, Glebe Point. The proceedings were of the greatest pleasure to the students in training, and were distinctly enjoyable.

At a business meeting, held at 10.30, with the president, Mr. C. H. Murphy, in the chair, the work of the last quarter was discussed. Much interest was taken in the new hostel for women students, Llangollan, Glebe Point, having been secured for the purpose. The idea throughout has had the warmest approval of the Minister for Public Instruction, and the liveliest satisfaction was expressed at the happy culmination of the efforts of those concerned. The committee responsible for placing the urgency of the matter before the department received hearty congratulations. The hostel will accommodate about 40 students. The re-union club now consists of approximately 300 members.

Mr. G. Fraser, M.A., entertained those present with extracts from "The Sentimental Bloke." In the afternoon the students met for a garden party in the grounds. In the evening theatre parties were arranged. To-day tennis parties will be held on the Marrickville Park, the courts having been kindly put at the disposal of the club. In the evening the June re-union will be brought to a termination by a dance in Christchurch Hall.

CITY MEAT PRICES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In your issue of the 22nd inst appears a letter from Mr. J. Finney, under the above heading. Mr. Finney points out that Mr. John Morrissey's statement that "the pastoral industry is carried on by those engaged in it without combine, corner, or any scheme that betters unrestricted meat supply for the public from the pastures to the saleyards," was palpably wrong, and proceeds to quote the subsidising of a company by the pastoralists. Might I point out to Mr. Finney, who is evidently quite out of touch with pastoral and meat matters, that the company he refers to ceased to receive any subsidy as far back as July, 1916.

I am, etc,
G. M. BADGERY.

SCARHAVEN KEEP.

BY J. S. FLETCHER.

[ALL RIGHTS RESERVED.]

CHAPTER XX.—Continued.

But in spite of these assurances, Copplestone slept little. He was up, dressed, and on deck by sunrise, staring around him in a fresh autumn morning to get some notion of the yacht's whereabouts, and he had just managed to make out a mere filmy line of land far to the westward when Audrey appeared at his elbow. There was no one of any importance near them, and Copplestone impulsively seized her hands.

"I've scarcely slept!" he blurted out, gazing intently at her. "Couldn't! Blaming myself for letting you get into this confounded mess! You're all right?"

Audrey responded a little to the pressure of his hands before she disengaged her own.

"It wasn't your fault," she said. "It's nobody's fault. Don't blame Mr. Vickers—he couldn't forsee this. Yes, I'm all right—and I slept like a top. What's the use of worrying? Do you know," she went on, lowering her voice and drawing nearer to him, "I believe something's going to come of all this—something that'll clear matters up once and for all."

"Why?" asked Copplestone, wonderingly. "What makes you think that?"

"Don't know—instinct, intuitiveness, perhaps," she answered. "Besides—I'm dead certain we're not the only people—I don't mean crew and captain—aboard the Pike. I believe there's somebody else. There's some mystery, anyway. Keep that to yourself," she said as Andrius and Vickers appeared from below. "Don't show any sign—wait to see how things turn out."

She turned away from him to greet the other two as unconcernedly as if there were nothing unusual in the situation, and Copplestone marvelled at her coolness. He himself, not so well equipped with patience, was feverishly anxious to know how things would turn out, and when. But the day went by and nothing happened, except that Captain Andrius was very polite to his guests, and that the yacht, a particularly fast sailer, continued to make headway through the grey seas, sometimes in bare sight of land and sometimes out of it. To one or two inquiries as to the fulfilment of his promise, Andrius made no more answer than a reassuring nod. Once when Vickers pressed him, he replied curtly that the day was not yet over. Vickers drew Copplestone aside on hearing that.

"Look here!" he said. "I've been reckoning things up as near as I can. I make out that we've been running due north, or north-east, ever since we left Scarhaven last night; I reckon, too, that this vessel makes quite twenty-two or three knots an hour. We must be off the extreme north-east coast of Scotland. And night's coming on!"

"There are ports there that he can put into," said Copplestone. "The thing is—will he keep his promise? Remember!—he must know very well that if we once land anywhere within reach of a telegraph office we can wire particulars about him to every port in the world if we like—and he's got to go somewhere, eventually, you know."

Vickers shook his head as if this were a problem he would give up. It was beyond him, he said, to even guess at what Andrius was after, or what was going to happen. And nothing did happen until, as the three prisoners sat at dinner with their polite gaoler, the Pike came to a sudden stop and hung gently on a quiet sea. Andrius looked up and smiled.

"A pleasant night for your landing," he remarked. "Don't hurry—but there will be a boat ready for you as soon as dinner is over."

"And where are we?" asked Vickers.

"That, my dear sir, you will see when you land," replied Andrius. "You will, at any rate, be quite comfortable for the night, and in the morning, I think, you will be able to journey—wherever you wish to go to."

There was something in the smile which accompanied the last words which made Copplestone uneasy. But the prospect of regaining their liberty was too good—he kept his own counsel. And half-an-hour later he, Audrey, and Vickers stood on deck, looking down on a boat alongside, in which were two or three of the crew and a man holding a lanthorn. In front was the dark sea, and ahead a darker mass which they took to be land.

"You won't tell us what this place is?" said Vickers, as he was about to follow the others into the boat. "It's on the mainland, of course?"

"The morning light, my good sir, will show you everything," replied Andrius. "Be content that I have kept my promise—you have come off luckily," he added, with a significant look.

Vickers felt a strange sense of alarm as the boat left the yacht. He noticed two or three suspicious circumstances. As soon as they got away he saw that all the yacht's lights had been or were being darkened or entirely obscured; at a dozen boats' lengths they could see her no more. Then a boat, swiftly pulled, passed them in the darkness, evidently coming from the shore to which they were being taken; it, too, carried no light. Nor were there any lights on the shore itself; all there was in utter blackness. They were on the shingle within a quarter of an hour; within a minute or two the yachtsmen had helped all three on to the beach, had carried up certain boxes and packages which had been placed in the boat, had set down the lighted lanthorn, jumped into the boat again, and vanished in the darkness. And in the silence, broken only by the drip of water from the retreating oars, and by the scarcely-noticed ripple of the waves, Audrey voiced exactly what her two companions felt.

"Andrius has kept his word—and cheated us! We're stranded!"

From somewhere out of the darkness came a groan—deep and heartfelt, as if in entire agreement with Audrey's declaration. That it proceeded from a human being was evident enough, and Vickers hastily snatched up the lanthorn and strode in the direction from which it came. And there, seated on the shingle, his whole attitude one of utter dejection and misery, the three castaways found a sharer of their sorrows—Peter Chatfield!

CHAPTER XXI.

MAROONED.

To each of these three young people this was the most surpriseful moment which life had yet afforded. It was an astonishing thing to find a fellow mortal there at all, but to find that mortal was the Scarhaven estate agent was literally short of marvellous. What was also astounding was to see Chatfield's only too evident distress. Swathed in a heavy, old-fashioned ulster, with a plaid shawl round his shoulders, and a deerstalker hat tied over head and ears with a bandanna handkerchief, he sat on the beach nursing his knees, slightly rocking his fleshy figure to and fro and moaning softly with the regularity of a minute bell. His eyes were fixed on the dark expanse of waters at his feet; his lips, when he was not moaning, worked incessantly; as he rocked his body he beat his toes on the shingle. Clearly, Chatfield was in a bad way, mentally. That he was not so badly off materially was made evident by the presence of a half-open kit bag, which obviously contained food and a bottle of spirits.

For any notice that he took of them, Audrey, Vickers, and Copplestone might have been no more than the pebbles on which they stood. In spite of the fact that Vickers shone the light on his fat face, and that three inquisitive pairs of eyes were trained on it, Chatfield continued to stare moodily and disgustedly out to sea, and to take no notice of his gratuitous company. And so utterly extraordinary was his behaviour and his attitude that Audrey suddenly and almost involuntarily stepped forward, and laid a hand on his shoulder.

"Mr. Chatfield!" she exclaimed. "What's the matter? Are you ill?"

The emphasis which she gave to the last word roused some quality of Chatfield's subtle intellect. He flashed a swift look at his questioner—a look of mingled contempt and derision, spiced with a dash of sneering humour. And he found his tongue.

"Ill!" he snorted. "Ill? She asks if I'm ill—me, a respectable man what's maltreated and robbed before his own eyes by them as ought to fall in humble gratitude at his feet! Ill?—aye, ill with something that's worse nor any bodily aches and pains—let me tell you that! But not done for, neither!"

"He's all right," said Copplestone. "That's a flash of his old spirit. You're all right, Chatfield, aren't you? And who's robbed and maltreated you—and how and when—especially when—did you come here?"

Chatfield looked up at his old assailant with a glare of dislike.

"You keep your tongue to yourself, young feller!" he growled. "I shouldn't never ha' been here at all if it hadn't been for the likes of you—a pokin' your nose where it isn't wanted. It's 'cause o' you three comin' aboard o' that there yacht last night as I am here—a castaway!"

"Well, we're castaways, too, Mr. Chatfield," said Audrey. "And we can't help believing that it's all your naughty conduct that's made us so. Why don't you tell the truth?"

Chatfield uttered a few grumpy and inarticulate sounds.

"It'll be a bad day for more than one when I do that—as I will," he muttered presently. "Oh aye, I'll tell the truth—when it suits me! But I'll be out o' this first."

THE "BEALE" PLAYER PIANO HAS EIGHT EXPRESSION DEVICES. There's the automatic tracker for making faulty rolls play correctly. The expression lever controls the "rise and fall" of tone in both treble and bass. Then there are two soft pedal buttons—one for bass—one for treble. Two auto-sustainers give the correct pedalling automatically—but the same effect can be secured at the player's will—merely by using the loud pedal buttons. The tempo lever affords all movements from largo to presto. Add to this wonderful control the tone quality of the Piano and the faultless technique of the mechanism and the instrument stands the most soulful of all self-playing Pianos. When required for hand playing the change from Player to "Straight" can be accomplished in less than ten seconds. Call and hear a favourite composition interpreted the "Beale" Player way.

ON THE LAND.

DAIRY CONFERENCE.

The record attendance at the annual conference of the Co-operative Dairy Factory Managers and Secretaries' Association is a reflex both of the prosperous position of the industry and the important part played by the co-operative concerns. A pleasing feature of the conference is the indication of a better appreciation of the work of the Department of Agriculture. Factory managers and others have come to learn that the Dairy Industry Act, which involved compulsory grading, and which at the time it was under consideration was most bitterly assailed, has proved one of the best friends they have got, and that their fears were, in the main, groundless. Naturally, Mr. Ashford, who as Minister for Agriculture was responsible for the Act, yesterday emphasised this fact, and also the steady increase shown in the production of choicest butter, which is now 80.4 per cent. It is to be hoped that the assurance he has received that Queensland and other States will fall into line shortly—in accordance with an old agreement—will be followed by legislation along the same lines as embodied in our Dairy Industry Bill. We agree with Mr. Ashford that this country has suffered, in comparison with New Zealand, in regard to the price obtained for its butter from the British Government, owing to the other States not having kept pace with this State in steps to improve the quality of the butter produced, but not to the extent that we could have hoped to secure entirely the 6/ per cwt additional price obtained by the Dominion producers. In that respect New Zealand is securing the great benefit of a sound policy, firmly established for many years. In this State we were fortunate that we adopted progressive legislation in time to benefit as much as we have. Had the opposition to compulsory grading not have been so vigorous and sustained in the past we would have benefited more. It is, however, a happy indication of changed feeling to find the conference applauding one of its members when he expressed appreciation of the manner in which the department had carried out the working of the Act, and stated they were much indebted to the department. When compulsory grading was a matter of keen controversy, and we were compelled to criticise the attitude of many members of the association in common with other anti-graders, we repeatedly gave the opinion that much of the opposition would prove groundless by practical test, and it is gratifying to find such a comparatively short period proving the correctness of that view. Once the managers and the department can co-operate in full confidence, the industry must benefit very considerably.

WHITE SCOURS.

In the course of a most interesting address at the dairy factory managers' conference, Mr. W. H. Potts, principal of the Hawkesbury Agricultural College, stated that a bulletin would be issued shortly by the Department of Agriculture giving information as to a new system of guarding against the great damage caused by "white scours" amongst calves. While in America some three years ago he had found the Parke-Davis Company had just concluded exhaustive research work into this disease. It had been found by Dr. King that it was due to an organism originating in the bowels of the cow finding its way into the milk consumed by the calf, and causing this disease. The remedy was to keep the milking yards clean, and thus prevent the disease. A serum to combat the disease had been discovered, and, in conjunction with the officers of the Stock Department, experiments had been made with this serum at the college, and the information obtained would be made available.

THE MAN ON THE LAND.

Mr. M'Rae, president Primary Producers' Union, speaking of the loyalty of the man on the land at the dairy factory managers' conference, said:—"The man in the country can be relied upon to stand for good and stable government in a time of national emergency. We live in our distant homes, but follow with interest what is going on through the Press. One of the great ideals of the Primary Producers' Union was to get them to come together and make themselves heard, and achieve their ambitions."

HANDLING CREAM.

In some progressive centres in the United States the cream is brought to the butter factory from the farm in a glass-lined cylinder attached to a motor waggon, Mr. W. H. Potts told the conference of dairy factory managers. The motor is driven by "a nigger with a cigarette in his mouth," who, on arriving at the factory, simply had to turn on a cock and let the cream out into a receiving receptacle, where it is weighed. The motor then goes back to the farm, and the cylinder is cleaned by using a hose. There is no trouble with damaged or dirty milk cans."

THE SHEEP SHOW.

At the sheep show which will begin next Thursday at the Sydney Showground there will be 1000 sheep in competition, and a number of other interesting non-competitive exhibits. Many of the principal stud flocks of New South Wales will be represented, and there are some interesting sheep from South Australia, Tasmania, Western Australia, and New Zealand. About twelve new exhibitors have come into this show.

The sheep dog trials will run as usual throughout the show, and there are to be some very good ring events also on Saturday afternoon. A programme for that day comprises the final of the sheep dog trials, a hunting contest, a high jump, Gretna Green and flag races, and chariot races, and a trotting event, for which there are 17 entries.

His Excellency the Governor is to open the show officially on Friday, at noon, and there will be a representative gathering of public men at the luncheon. An address will be delivered by Mr. J. Kidd, president of the N.S.W. Sheepbreeders' Association. Mr. S. Hordern, president of the Royal Agricultural Society, will preside at the luncheon.

LINSEED.

W. S. writes:—The report of a shortage of linseed for treatment opens up a question whether there is not a good opening for farmers living in places suitable for growing flax. During my service in France and Belgium I had a good opportunity of seeing the way it is grown, and the land on which it is grown, and during a recent visit to the Newcastle-Maitland district I saw a good deal of land that appears to be similar to that used for growing linseed in the countries named—low, swampy, with apparently the same kind of rushes, and as this land appears to be little used except for grazing, it would be very easy to have it tried for growing linseed crops. I feel quite certain that a success could be made if a trial was made.

BONUS FOR FALLOW.

WAGGA.—The decision of the State Minister for Agriculture to make an advance of 5/ an acre on fallowed land for the ensuing year on conditional security was not favourably received by the F. and A. Association, which ultimately adopted a motion to inform the Minister that a lien on one bag per acre would be sufficient cover for the advance, and would give the producer an opportunity of financing the balance of the crop.

AMALGAMATION OF DAIRY COMPANIES.

MARYBOROUGH.—Through the initial action of the Maryborough Co-operative Dairy Company, an effort is being made in the Wide Bay and Burnet District to press for the amalgamation of the dairy companies throughout Queensland. At a meeting of representatives from Maryborough, Bundaberg, Gayndah, and Port Curtis dairy companies, resolutions affirming the principles of amalgamation were carried unanimously, and notice of motion that the question of the amalgamation of the various co-operative dairy companies of Queensland be placed on the business sheet of the annual meeting, to be held at Brisbane in August, and that the subject be made part of the business of that meeting, was agreed to.

BUTTER BOXES.

CASINO.—A matter of considerable importance to the Casino district, and also to the butter factory business, is the establishment of a box-making concern at Doubtful Creek, which takes its rise slightly north-west of Casino, and about 22 miles out. Owing to the difficulty of getting suitable pine from New Zealand, the necessity of obtaining the pine within the State has been enforced upon the various butter companies, particularly those on the North Coast, and as a consequence a sawmill, which has been running at the foot of the Richmond Range, has been purchased by a co-operative company. The mill is situated practically in the centre of a large belt of pine country, and the result should be an increased demand for pine suitable for butter-box making.

SPORTING.

THE TURF.

The Gosford Racing Club's June meeting takes place this afternoon.

Now that the spring handicap weights are out, the horses at Randwick will begin to be sent along on the track. The outer half of the course proper was open yesterday morning. Prince Viridis moved freely over a circle at half pace. Biplane was not out of a strong canter, but was looking fresh and well. Westcourt was restricted to a steady pacing, and is ready to do good work. A useful round was done by Cagou, who is in great heart again. Kandos is back after a spell, and looks well. Pacolet spurted a short trip. Quinn's Post went freely over six furlongs, as did Tarpeian. Uraey disposed of a mile in 1m 57s; George Graves went at a steady pace. Poitrel spurted after strong work. Thana did steady pacing, and Prince Kendal spurted a sharp half mile. Wirrilla got over a mile in 1m 50s. Giru finished steady work with a sharp spurt. Kennaquhair, looking strong and well, did steady work on the tan. Lord Bardolph was not fully extended. Satin Bird went freely, but not at his top, over a mile. Redfern looks the picture of health, and did pace work. A useful task was done by Lingle. France was not fully extended. Capricious, De Lyssa, and Parmen schooled over hurdles.

J.B. (Darlinghurst): The starting price of Lady Lillian in the Maiden Stakes at Rosehill on Saturday was 11 to 1 against.

LATEST SCRATCHINGS.

The following scratchings were recorded yesterday:—

GARRYOWEN RACE CLUB.

DUBBO, Tuesday.

The second day of the Garryowen Race Club's June meeting was more successful than the first, the racing was good, and the fields large. Mr. A. W. Cleaver sold by auction a Servian flag for the Italian Red Cross Fund. The sale realised about £35. Mr. P. M. McGirr, M.L.A., bought the flag for £10, and handed it back for sale. The flag was presented by Mrs. A. W. Cleaver. The results of the racing are subjoined:—

President's Handicap, 5f.—A. J. Papworth's Diamond Rock, by Scotland—Rockdell, 7st 12lb (Reid), 1; J. Foran's Paal Budgery, 8st 3lb (Foley), 2; F. Boney's Prince Ruenalf, 9st 2lb (Heffernan), 3. DE CEAN.—In loving memory of my dear husband and our father, William, who passed away June 26, 1916, aged 58 years.

My sorrow was great, my loss hard to bear—
God knows I have lost my fond husband's care.
I mourn for him and miss him in silence unseen,
And dwell on the memory of days that have been.
Friends may think I have forgotten him
When at times they see me smile;
But they little know what a broken heart
These smiles hide all the while.
For I have lost my soul's companion,
A life linked with my own—
One in hope, in love, and feeling,
Death has parted us, now I am alone.

Inserted by his loving wife and sons, Charlie and Willie De Cean.

DIXON.—In loving memory of my darling husband, William A. Dixon, who was accidentally killed going to work at No. 1 Wharf, Dawes Point, June 26, 1917, aged 30 years and 11 months.

One of the best that God could send,
A loving husband, true and kind;
Beloved by all, a faithful friend,
Called home from one who deeply loved,
To gain a glorious life above.
With aching heart, with tearful eyes,
I linger where my dear one lies,
And breathe those sacred words:
Not lost, but only gone before.
Darling Will, I pray that when life's cares are o'er
Your loving smile may greet
The broken heart that leaves you now
At sweet Jesus's sacred feet.

Inserted by his loving wife, Leonora Dixon.

DIXON.—In loving memory of my dear son, William Dixon, who departed this life June 26, 1917.

A better son never lived,
Nor one so true and kind,
His equal in this weary world
You very rarely find.
His heart was always in his home,
He toiled and did his best,
Until he met his sudden death,
When God called him home to rest.

Inserted by his loving mother.

DIXON.—In loving memory of our dear brother, Will (Wallie), who departed this life June 26, 1917. Inserted by his loving sister and brother-in-law, Ethel and Ted Dunn.

DIXON.—In loving memory of my dear brother, Will, who was accidentally killed June 26, 1917.

The end was sudden, the shock severe,
We little thought your death was near.
Only those who have lost are able to tell
The pain that is felt in not saying farewell.

Inserted by his loving sister, father, niece, nephew, Florrie, Edna, and Willie Jevers.

DIXON.—In loving memory of our dear brother, Will, who was accidentally killed June 26, 1917.

No one he loved was by his side,
To hear his last faint sigh,
Or whisper just one loving word
Before he closed his eyes.

Inserted by his loving sister and brother-in-law, Genia and Ted Brennan, also niece and nephew, Kitty and Tom.

DIXON.—In loving memory of my dear brother, Will, who was accidentally killed June 26, 1917.

The flower of the family taken
By God, who thought it best,
In joy and strife, our all in life,
We only had one brother.

Inserted by his loving sister, Lizzie.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 26, 1918.

THE ITALIAN VICTORY.

Beyond question the events of the past week will rank with the most memorable in Italian history. On her own soil Italy has inflicted a staggering defeat on an enemy whose insolence and cruelty have been impressed on the whole course of her history. In France her sons have been fighting beside the British, helping them to regain tactical positions and thus prepare to resist the next German attack. Men's minds will go back to the time when Cavour was seeking permission to send a few hundred soldiers to the Crimea so that he might have a status at the peace conference, or a few years further to the time when Austrian soldiers used to strut round the fortifications of Milan hoping to find some renegades in Italian society, or to the day when Austria had gained her last decisive victory at Novara, when Charles Albert had been defeated and all hope of liberation seemed to be at an end. The successive interventions of France and Great Britain made it possible to follow the expulsion of Austrian troops and Bourbon princes by the establishment of the Kingdom of Italy. But neither Louis Napoleon nor the three Liberal statesmen, Gladstone, Palmerston, and Russell, could have accomplished anything if Italy at this epoch had not possessed a political leader of the first order of ability, a soldier of genius and a prophet who could inspire men with a devoted and far-sighted patriotism. In the succeeding fifty years Italy has never lacked some men capable of retaining the ideal shared by these leaders of divers gifts and methods. While France was treated as a jealous enemy, and while every speech and pamphlet was censored in deference to the Triple Alliance, either in existence or in contemplation, the hope still persisted that Austria would be finally defeated, and all Italians included in one kingdom from the Alps to the Mediterranean. From the day of her defeat until the outbreak of this war Austria has kept her remaining predominance before the minds of the Italian people. They have never been allowed to forget that many thousands of their kinsmen are Austrian subjects, and that their frontier keeps them at the mercy of an attack. Whenever they sought to carry on an independent policy of their own, in expansion, in commercial development, or in political alliances, they have found themselves checked and questioned by the Austrian Foreign Minister. This war gave Italy her first chance of freedom since 1866, when Bismarck broke his promises so that a victim might be turned into an ally. Italy, for the first time since the war of Liberation, found allies who would help her to bring about the security of her own frontier and the union of her whole people. A nation less conscious of its own strength, and of the necessity of victory, would have been driven by the disappointments of three years to abandon its allies in return for something less than its original hopes. Italy has still much to do before she can count on the rewards of decisive victory—Trieste, the Trentino, and some portions of the Adriatic coast. But she has now inflicted a blow on her inveterate enemy which marks a permanent change in the relations of the Austrian and Italian people. The Austrians and Hungarians can no longer pretend to a tolerant contempt for their former subjects. They, the people who began the war, have failed through exhaustion, and have confessed their failure after a vain attempt to overwhelm the defence of Italy.

The mention of Trieste suggests one of the reasons which Germany has for sustaining her ally. Trieste and Genoa were the two German outlets to the Mediterranean and the East in the years immediately preceding the war. Trieste must remain in German hands, as it is connected with the northern railway systems, if Germany is to be able to carry out her exclusive commercial policy when the war is over. The war was necessary, according to German statesmen, because German prestige would have been diminished if Austria had not been supported in her attack on Servia. German prestige will be destroyed if Austria is not resuscitated, so that nominally she may again represent the dominant force in the Near East. The Central Powers will be faced with the possibility of seeing the Balkan peoples managing their own affairs without the protection or instigation of Germany and Austria, or of seeing the chief place fall to Italy, an unexpected candidate. The cablegrams remind us this morning that the proposals of the Allies consequent on an Austrian defeat are of a constructive character. They will not be satisfied unless the non-German subjects of Austria are given the opportunity of independence and of combining with their own kinsmen beyond the Austrian borders. Austria has a social and economic problem which might be settled if a genius were to take over her administration and a racial problem which cannot be satisfied while the boundaries of States remain what they are. Germany must, therefore, intervene unless her grandiose schemes of military and economic development are to be broken through the failure of the first link in her chain. In the treaties with Russia and the Ukraine Germany has defined a frontier which would make her independent of her ally. But she cannot leave that ally either a chaotic mass of defeated peoples or a series of States friendly to the Allies. She must therefore, send her divisions to prevent the Italian victory from becoming complete. General Diaz is evidently determined not to risk his troops against reserves or reinforcements while there is a possibility of the Piave being again flooded by the snows melted by a very late spring on the Alps. The Austrian losses in retreat and in unsuccessful attacks have been terribly heavy, and the Italians, besides nobly vindicating themselves from the stigma of defeat, have already begun their revenge for the devastation inflicted on their occupied provinces.

A SPURIOUS PEACE.

The State Premier at the unveiling of a roll of honour at the Sports Club yesterday put the case against present-day pacificists in a cogent manner. In a very real sense we all desire peace. It is because we hate war that we entered into this war, because we knew that if we did not enter into it when we did, to uphold our honour and preserve our fair fame, we should eventually have been compelled to fight for our very life, as we are now fighting for our existence and all that life holds dear to us, not as we are now fighting, knowing that our record is clean, but with a dishonoured name and all the loss of moral that would accrue from that dishonour. But the peace that would come if those who demand that we should at once enter into negotiation with the enemy were to succeed would not be a peace at all. A peace entered into now would simply be an armistice preparatory to another war. As the Premier pointed out, those who cry for peace by negotiation now do not, or will not, recognise the psychology of the German people. The Prussian State, as its history shows, has attained its present pre-eminent position by militarism. Hence it believes that militarism alone will enable it to survive, and if it finds a people who do not believe in militarism, who wish to live without militarism, the Prussian believes that such a people is unfitted to occupy a place in the sun. Prussia has succeeded in so impregnating the other German peoples with her spirit that they are as much devoted to militarism as she is herself. It is all very well to say that it is only the German leaders who are imbued with this spirit, and that once freed from their leaders the German people would disown the principle. We know that Germany is suffering privations, and that her people have suffered tremendous losses. Would they be as patient as they are to-day, would they be so disciplined, if they were not imbued with the same spirit which urges their leaders on—the spirit of conquest? We have seen how they have appropriated some of the fairest regions of Russia. That is what peace by negotiation has meant for Russia. That is what Germany's policy of no annexations has come to. It is always the other party who has to suffer: not Germany.

The whole German position is that if she has the power to annex why should she not annex? It is to prevent her having that power again that we are fighting on. The world has been deluged in blood such as has never been known in time of which history has record. It is that it shall not be so deluged again that we fight on, that America comes into the fight, and is developing all her immense latent resources. Surely those who would bow the knee to Germany now can never for a moment pause to think why all the world is at war with Germany and her allies, all the world except those small nations into which Germany could pour her troops if they dared to be independent, those small nations which have the fate of Belgium and Servia and Roumania ever before their eyes. The nations whom Germany cannot yet reach with her troops know that if they do not come in and help crush the monster the chances are that the monster will triumph and that their own ruin will soon come. Better, they think, that some of the nation should die now on the field of battle, than that the whole nation should in the near future be ravaged and enslaved. It is almost like primitive man fighting against the savage beasts of the primeval jungle. Primitive man survived because by the strength of his mind he was able to outwit and overcome the ferocity of the horrible beasts contemporary with him. We are fighting out the ferocity which still lives in human life. Unless we exterminate that ferocity as shown in German ruthlessness, unless reason triumphs over might, the present civilisation of the world, with all its hopes of evolution into a richer and fuller life, will be destroyed. After a German victory we would have a civilisation, but it would be a material civilisation, a civilisation which might increase the comforts of the body for those who were its rulers, but which would leave the mass of the people mere hewers of wood.

IMPERIAL WAR CONFERENCE.

OFFICIAL REPORT.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

The following cablegram has been received by the Governor-General from the Secretary of State for the Colonies, and is issued by the Acting Prime Minister (Mr. Watt):—

The Imperial War Conference held its first meeting on June 12, under the chairmanship of the Secretary of State for the Colonies (Mr. Walter Long). The Secretaries of State for Foreign Affairs (Mr. Balfour) and India (Mr. Montagu) were also present, with representatives of Canada, New Zealand, South Africa, and Newfoundland.

The chairman in his opening address described briefly the important work done on the resolutions passed by last year's conference, and reviewed the work likely to come before the conference this year, particularly in the economic sphere. Representatives of the oversea dominions and the Secretary of State for India replied, emphasising in particular the resourcefulness of the British navy in securing the attendance of representatives from all parts of the world without a hitch and in security. A loyal resolution was passed to the King, and much emphasis was laid on the courage, devotion, and unremitting work of the Royal Family during the strain of the war.

The Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs also addressed the conference. He emphasised the unique spectacle presented to the world by the self-governing parts of the British Empire standing together and successfully co-operating, in spite of immense strain of four years of war, and laid special stress on the immense possibilities arising through the entry of the United States into the war for the promotion of the future happiness and freedom of mankind.

The second meeting was held on June 17, when the delegates from Australia and India were also present, thus making the conference completely representative for the first time of all parts of the Empire. The conference proceeded to deal with the work of the Imperial War Graves Commission. This commission was established under the presidency of the Prince of Wales, as a result of a resolution passed by the conference last year. Much emphasis was laid by dominion representatives on the need for all possible pressure on Turkey to safeguard graves in Gallipoli, and great interest was shown in the question of headstones and badges for the graves of dominion troops. There was a strong feeling also in favour of the decision of the commission to give a common form of memorial for all ranks. A resolution was passed commending the labours of the commission since its establishment, and in favour of the cost of carrying out its decisions being borne by the respective Governments of the Empire in proportion to the numbers of graves of their dead. This cost is estimated, according to the information at present available, at an average of £10 per officer or man. The cost of erecting memorials to those whose graves have not been identified was not yet estimated, but it is thought likely to be considerably less in proportion.

The conference next discussed the question of the establishment of a central authority in the United Kingdom to supervise the emigration of ex-service men and others after the war.

The Under-Secretary of State for the Colonies explained the provisions of the Emigration Bill now before the Imperial Parliament, and a discussion ensued. The question chiefly arising was whether the representatives of the oversea dominions in the United Kingdom should be associated with the executive work of the new body proposed under the bill, or should assist in an advisory capacity. The debate was adjourned.

The third meeting of the conference was held on June 19. At this various phases of Imperial economic policy after the war were raised, and the proceedings were necessarily of a confidential character. No conclusion was reached, and the discussion will be continued at subsequent meetings.

MR. WATT.

FORTHCOMING ADDRESS TO PARLIAMENT.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

The Acting Prime Minister, Mr. Watt, and the Assistant Minister for the Navy, Mr. Poynton, have arranged to leave for Sydney to-morrow. Mr. Watt will address the Legislative Assembly from within the Bar on the war position as affecting the Commonwealth, and it is considered likely that he will refer in his address to the Labour point of view, as expressed at the conference of the Australian Labour party in Perth.

Several important questions will engage the attention of both Ministers during their visit, which is likely to be of at least a week's duration. There will be a conference on the question of providing a bonus to seamen for war risks. Several interviews will take place on questions affecting the coal industry, and Mr. Poynton will visit Newcastle, where he will receive a deputation concerning the distribution of coal.

Mr. Watt, who has been suffering from the effects of a cold for some time past, was compelled to leave his office early this afternoon, and it was stated to-night that if his condition did not improve he might not be able to leave to-morrow.

CONCRETE VESSELS.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

The Assistant Minister for the Navy, Mr. Poynton, announced to-day that he had received an offer from Mr. Edward G. Stone, of South Australia, to build concrete vessels for the Federal Government. Mr. Stone was prepared to build either three or six vessels of 5540 tons each at prices slightly higher than those for the construction of wooden vessels.

GIFT OF BATTLEPLANE.

BRISBANE, Tuesday.

Mr. J. Shannon, of Wyalla, Toowoomba, handed to the committee of the Queensland Patriotic Fund yesterday, on behalf of Messrs. J. Shannon and Sons, a cheque for £2750, to be immediately cabled to London to purchase a battleplane, to be named "Saltbush." Mr. Shannon recently gave £1000, and a further sum of £4000, to be paid in yearly instalments, to assist the dependents of soldiers.

ITALY'S DAY.

ROMAN PROCESSION.

Arrangements have been made for an elaborate procession through the streets of Sydney on Italy's Red Cross Day.

Alderman Hagon and Mr. Walter Bentley, on behalf of the committee, explained last night that the procession would strictly be of a Roman character.

Mr. Mitchell, Inspector-General of Police, has given permission for the mounted police to head the procession, which will leave the Agricultural Ground at 10 o'clock on Friday morning.

The Firemen's Band will then follow. The flag of Italy will be carried by a mounted marshall, Mr. Jushau. The Citizens' chariot will be driven by Mr. Johnston, of Randwick. He will be attired as a senator. The chariot will be drawn by four white horses, and the attendants will also be attired in white. The Caesar chariot will be surrounded by Roman soldiers, attired in costumes similar to those worn 200 B.C. The tableau of women and children captives will be a feature. The third and fourth chariots will contain generals, surrounded by soldiers. A tableau of ordinary Roman ladies will follow. The fifth and sixth chariots will be driven by centurions, and in between the chariots will be a mob of captives, surrounded by soldiers. Another of the features of the procession will be the Italian residents of Sydney marching behind the flag of Italy, carried by Signor Pulla.

The State Commandant, Brigadier-General Lee, has granted permission for the procession to be guarded throughout the route by mounted troopers. There will also be V.A.D. ladies with collecting boxes.

The route of the procession will be as follows:—Starting point, Agricultural Grounds, Anzac-avenue, Flinders-street, Oxford-street, College-street, past the Queen's Statue, along Macquarie-street. A halt will be made in front of the Italian Consul's residence in Macquarie-street, when Italy's National Anthem will be played. The procession will then proceed down Bridge-street to George-street, along the last named thoroughfare to the Town Hall. From there it will go along Park-street, Elizabeth-street, Liverpool-street, and Oxford-street, to the Agricultural Grounds.

ART AND "LUCKY ENVELOPES."

Signora Dattilo-Rubbo has formed a collection of half a hundred oil and water-colour paintings and black and white drawings, generously contributed by many of the leading artists of Sydney, in aid of Italy's Red Cross Fund. These pictures, as Signor Dattilo-Rubbo explained at a meeting presided over by the Lord Mayor (Alderman Joynton-Smith) yesterday afternoon, are not for sale, but are included in the "Lucky Envelope" scheme.

Mr. T. H. Kelly further explained the scheme to be applied to the disposal of these works of art. The committee had decided to make all these pictures prizes in the distribution of 20,000 lucky envelopes, by Mrs. Barry, and the many people assisting her. Miss Gladys Owen had further collected enough jewellery to supply 100 prizes more, and every envelope would contain something to enable every person who paid a shilling to carry home some little trinket. As regards the collection of pictures, they would hang in that room at the Town Hall on the ground floor, overlooking the Cathedral, in which that meeting was held; and would be exhibited there daily until Saturday. (Applause.)

The Lord Mayor, in declaring the exhibition open to the public, reminded those present that that function was at a time when enthusiasm was at its height by reason of the gallant fight and the glorious victory achieved by Italy during the past few hours on the Piave to secure the liberty of the world from Austro-German domination. Italy through the ages had stood for art, a fact which gave added point to the generosity of the Sydney painters, and now she was standing beside French and British troops, not only on her own frontiers, but also on the fields of France and Flanders. (Cheers.)

The exhibition in its charm and variety, ranging from Rubbo's dramatic battle-piece, "The Last Cartridge," to the peaceful landscape of Henri Tebbitt, and the famous engraving of Julian Ashton's "The Prodigal," should undoubtedly cause an overwhelming rush for the shilling envelopes.

A quarterly ticket for the Milson's Point and Neutral Bay ferry service will be raffled by Mrs. W. Hotten, Mrs. W. Wright, and Miss K. Carney, who are holding a stall at the Milson's Point wharf, North Sydney.

Tea, prepared according to the customs of the country, will be served by attendants dressed in Coolie costume, at Mrs. Macphail's Chinese tea house, at the Town Hall Festa. Donations of cakes for this stall will be much appreciated if left at 60 King-street.

Miss Ada Reeve, who will be on her farewell visit to Sydney, has promised to assist in the sale of home-made jams, pickles, and sweets at the Mesdames M. Deery and C. Mueller's stall, outside the Civic Club, Pitt-street.

At Farmer's corner the Vaucluse Red Cross branch are making a speciality of inexpensive aprons of all varieties, which will be disposed of under the direction of the president, Mrs. Gray.

Mrs. Wagg, who has charge of the Piccaninnies' Paradise stall, would be pleased to receive any donations of articles suitable for children, which may be left at Dalton House.

There are at present on view at Challis House some magnificent photographs taken by the Italian War Photography Department, showing the stupendous nature of the country in which the Italians are fighting on the Carso Plateau, Trentino, Dolomite Mountains, and Isonzo front.

Mr. Ernest Hillier has had his salon, 162 Pitt-street, very tastefully decorated for the dance, which will take place to-night.

The Clifton and Scarborough branch of the Australian Comforts Fund will hold a market day on the 29th. The arrangements are under the supervision of the hon. secretary, Mrs. Sam. Harris, who will be pleased to receive any donations.

The Turramurra V.A.D. is having a stall on Italy's Day outside the Milson's Point Wharf at Circular Quay. A specialty is to be made of home-made sweets and cakes, the latter being displayed in a "dust-free" glass case.

A concert, in which over sixty juvenile artists will take part, will be held at the King's Cross Theatre, which has been lent by Mr. Barrington Miller, to-morrow afternoon, commencing at 2.30 o'clock. The concert is under the direction of Mr. Harry Leston, Nurse Connor being the hon. secretary. The plan is at Paling's.

The Scone local branch of the Red Cross Society is arranging for street collections and sales on Italy's Day, and also for the sale of buttons. Mrs. G. A. Stevenson is honorary secretary.

A successful plain and fancy dress ball was held at Bundanoon on Friday night, in aid of the Italian Day Fund.

AUSTRALIAN PRESS.

DELEGATION TO ENGLAND.

The members of the Australian Press delegation will leave for London, via America, by the Ventura to-day.

The party consists of the following:—Mr. J. O. Fairfax, part proprietor "Sydney Morning Herald"; Mr. S. Pryor, editor of the "Bulletin"; Mr. Campbell Jones, managing editor of the "Sun"; Mr. Geoffrey Syme, part proprietor and managing editor of the Melbourne "Age"; Mr. J. C. Mackintosh, editor of the "Australasian" and relieving editor of the Melbourne "Argus"; Mr. J. J. Knight, managing editor of the Brisbane "Courier"; Sir William Sowden, editor of the Adelaide "Register"; Mr. A. Carson, editor of the "Western Mail" and associate editor of the "West Australian"; Mr. W. H. Simmonds, editor of the Hobart "Mercury"; Mr. T. W. Heney (editor of the "Sydney Morning Herald"), representing Australian journalism generally; and Major W. A. Whitehead, president of the Victorian Provincial Press Association.

A VOICE FROM BELGIUM.

The Rev. Father Vandamme, Belgian priest, who is visiting Australia in the interests of Cardinal Mercier's Belgian Relief Fund, said yesterday to a member of the "Herald" staff:—

"Belgium will never fail.

"I am always in touch with home. I get news every month. All the letters I get from home say the same thing. Our sufferings are great; our sufferings are awful. We long for peace, but we will never accept an unjust peace. We will suffer to the end. Do not think our courage will fail us. Is it possible that people suffering so much can remain calm and confident in final victory? Yes, we will never fail. We want a just peace, we want our independence. We do not want, we will not accept, an unjust German peace. Until we get a just peace we will suffer in patience. We will suffer to the end."

"That is the spirit of the people of Belgium," said Father Vandamme.

"Why not negotiate with the Germans?" he was asked, the object of the question being merely to ascertain his views, not to suggest that that means was practicable.

"I am not a judge," he replied, "but how can you trust a nation that one day says 'We do not want indemnities,' and the next day says 'We want crushing indemnities'; that one day says 'We do not want annexations,' and the next day takes half of Russia? Germany breaks her word every day. We cannot have any respect for a man who breaks his word; we cannot trust a nation that breaks its word."

"It is not only to-day," Father Vandamme continued, "that Germany is breaking her word. She has been doing it from the beginning. She commenced the war by breaking her word. She was pledged to defend Belgium. She started by despoiling her. After the fall of Antwerp the Belgian people, to avoid the outrages, fled to Holland. The Germans induced Cardinal Mercier to persuade them to come back. The Germans promised that if they came back they would have freedom. Their civil rights would not be taken away. They could follow their peaceful avocations. The Cardinal did persuade the people to return. He trusted the German promises. The world knows the outrages that followed. Even the priest was taken from his people and imprisoned. The youths were deported, and a reign of tyranny and oppression began.

"No," added Father Vandamme, "Belgium will suffer to the end—confident then in a lasting peace."

PERSONAL.

Sir Lauchlan Mackinnon arrived in Sydney from Melbourne yesterday.

M. Chayet, who has been appointed Charge d'Affaires for Central America, with residence at Guatemala, will leave by the Manuka to-morrow for Wellington, en route to San Francisco. M. Chayet will remain in New Zealand for about a fortnight.

Cavaliere Eles, Consul-General for Italy in Australasia, will be the guest of the Millions Club at luncheon at Farmer's to-morrow.

Lieutenant Walter Marks, R.N.V.R., commodore of the Royal Prince Alfred Yacht Club, leaves by the Ventura to-day en route for England to resume his naval duties in the North Sea, after several months' furlough.

Lieutenant A. H. Davey will be a passenger for America by the Ventura to-day.

When the newly-constituted Board of Trade met at the Queen's-square Courthouse yesterday, Mr. J. Stuart Thom, on behalf of the solicitors present, congratulated Mr. Justice Heydon and the four commissioners on their appointment. Mr. Justice Heydon, in acknowledging the felicitations, said the Board would do its best, looking forward with confidence to those appearing before it giving their assistance.

Dr. J. W. T. Duvel, visiting wheat expert from the United States, will leave on his return to Washington by the Ventura to-day.

The Rev. G. D. Hilder, of Coopernook, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Vickery, Mr. F. B. Vickery, and the Misses Vickery and Captain Newton are among the passengers booked for [illegible] by the Wyreema next week.

The Rev. Edward Moore, who for the last 26 years has occupied the position of secretary of the Sydney City Mission, has been granted six months' leave of absence, and will sail to-day by the Ventura on a holiday trip to America and Canada. He was entertained by the Mission staff and hall workers last evening at the headquarters of the Mission.

Mr. H. J. Vozin, B.E., holder of the Walter and Eliza Hall Fellowship in Engineering, entitling him to two years' practical experience abroad, has sailed for England, where he proposes to take up munition work.

Mr. Malcolm M'Intyre, of Scots' College, Sydney University, was formally presented by the Minister for Education (Mr. James), at the meeting of the Australian Historical Society last night, with the Brendan Lane Mullins Memorial Medal, awarded for the best Honours paper on Australian history, written in connection with the leaving certificate examinations. The medal, which will be awarded annually, was provided by Mr. John Lane Mullins, in memory of his son Brendan, who was killed at the front.

At the opening of the sitting of the Board of Trade yesterday, the president, Mr. Justice Heydon, said that though not then in the jurisdiction in which he particularly knew him, he wished to pay a tribute to the memory of Mr. A. E. Dengate, organiser in New South Wales for the Amalgamated Society of Engineers, who died on Saturday night. Mr. Dengate, his Honor said, showed plenty of ability, and always presented his case to the Industrial Arbitration Court thoroughly and fairly.

WAR INSURANCE RATES.

The following amended schedule of current war insurance rates, other than interstate and coastal, was issued by the Sydney Marine Underwriters and Salvage Association yesterday. The amended rates show a slight reduction for the Atlantic coast of North America of 1 per cent.; via the Cape and for Fiji and New Caledonia, via Panama, ½ per cent. The rate for the Atlantic coast of the United States and Canada, via Panama, however, shows a slight increase of ½ per cent.

THE "SYDNEY MAIL."

The title page of this week's "Mail" bears a fine portrait of Lieutenant-General Sir John Monash, the distinguished Victorian, who is the first civilian to attain that rank—he left for the front as a colonel—and who is now in command of an Australian army corps. Prominence is given the forthcoming celebration of Italy's Day, and there are many interesting pictures in connection with the recent matinee of art. Sydney's farewell to Carmichael's Thousand is illustrated; and there is a well-varied budget from the front. Of especial interest is a striking set of photographs showing H.M.S. Vindictive after figuring prominently in the attack on Zeebrugge—described as the most dramatic naval achievement of the war. A large group picture shows the delegates at the recent poultry conference at Hawkesbury College, this and other illustrations being accompanied by a special article describing the proceedings. Mr. Sorenson continues his account of the game birds of scrub and forest in New South Wales; and Sir Joseph Carruthers contributes an article entitled "A plea for the farmer, and some criticism of his methods." The visit of Anzacs to New York to help in the Liberty Loan campaign is illustrated and described. Among other features is an account of the war savings campaign in New South Wales.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

MEMORIES OF EARLY SYDNEY.

"Some Recollections of old Sydney"—a paper compiled by Sir James Fairfax and read last night by Judge Backhouse at the monthly meeting of the Australian Historical Society—had all the fascination of a romance, with the interest that attaches to the intimate history of one's own city superadded. The long life and clear memory of Sir James Fairfax bridged the gap between the vigorous little colonial town of the 'Forties and the great Sydney of to-day, the fifth city of the British Empire.

The newcomer, walking now in Lower Pitt-street and Circular Quay, would find it hard to believe that, within the memory of a living man, a little river flowed where Pitt-street now is, that high bridges here and there spanned this Tank Stream, that boys fished from the rocks on which the Custom House now is, that a journey out beyond Redfern absorbed the greater part of a busy day, that itinerant water-carriers, filling their carts from the Tank Stream, supplied the needs of the Sydney householder (at twopence per bucket). Yet it was these scenes of 1840-1850 that Sir James, in simple and attractive language, placed before a 1918 audience. Sir James was obviously handicapped by the wealth of his memories. There was so much of interest that he could tell—so much that would not go within the limits of a paper intended to be read at one meeting.

OLD SYDNEY COVE.

Sir James said that when he was a child there stood upon the site of the present Lands Building a house which had the Australian Museum on its ground floor and the Australian Subscription Library on the first floor. Between the house and Bridge-street was a garden. From the Library windows there was a clear view over Sydney Cove. The water came up to the primitive rocks along the eastern side of the cove, from the mouth of the Tank Stream to Fort Macquarie. The Government jetty ran out into the Cove where the ferry wharfs now are, and the Tank Stream was crossed by the Bon Accord Bridge, which gave communication with the buildings on the western side of the cove, some of which, like the ancient edifice now occupied by the Commissioners of Taxation, but then used by the military, are still standing. Holes, or "tanks," were cut along the bed of the Tank Stream between Hunter and Bridge streets, partly for water supply purposes, and occasionally for wool washing. There was another bridge over the stream about the present corner of Hunter and Pitt streets.

Sir James sees amazing changes along the water front, where great modern liners now lie. "Before Circular Quay was built, the big ships lay moored to the rocks, and substantial stages, extending from the primitive wharfs, connected the ship with the shore. The vessels remained for probably three months while the process of loading and re-loading went on. Many of these regular traders made the trip to England and back, with the time in ports included, in 12 months. . . . It was quite an event when the loading of a ship was complete, hatches closed and covered with tarpaulin, and everything ready to unship the ponderous gangway or stage. The full-rigged ship moved from Sydney Cove to the stream, in charge of, say, Captain Cook or some other harbour pilot, and often days elapsed before the sea pilot came on board, waiting for a favourable wind. With the anchor weighed and a light westerly wind, and sails gradually unfurled, it was a fine sight to see the good ship passing down Port Jackson, past Bradley's Head, past South Reef, and through the Heads."

THE WESTERN HARBOUR.

The first conveyance by water up the Parramatta River, carrying passengers to Kissing Point, was said to be a paddle boat, propelled by a horse treadmill, and a very distinguished politician, a Minister for Lands, used to tell how he rode the horse on the treadwheel, and kept the animal going by coaxing and whipping.

"Pyrmont, Ultimo, Redfern, and parts of Botany were grants from the Crown, the last-named to D'Arcy Wentworth and Simeon Lord. The Harris family, in addition to the Ultimo Estate, inherited lands in the neighbourhood of Parramatta. Ultimo, being a strange name for an estate, has given rise to some curiosity. It is said that the Dr. Harris to whom the grant was made was subpoenaed as a witness in connection with some law proceedings relating to the grant. As he did not appear he was sent for and questioned. He replied that he could not appear on the day named because it was past when the summons was served, the date given being the —— day of —— ultimo. And so the grant in question came to be named."

Sir James had much that was interesting to say of the early days of art in Sydney, from the first artist—a Mr. Peacock, Government meteorologist, who lived near the signal station at South Head, in the middle 'Forties—to the establishment of the present Art Gallery.

Naturally, Sir James has many interesting memories of the early "Sydney Morning Herald." When Mr. Charles Kemp and Mr. John Fairfax purchased the paper from Messrs. Stephens and Stokes, in 1841, the office was in George-street, opposite the site of the present "Bulletin" office. The neighbourhood at the back of the office, not far from The Rocks, was of a somewhat questionable character, and the employees, after being paid on Saturday nights, carefully avoided the back exit. Later, the "Herald" Office was moved to a site opposite, on the eastern side of the street. Some of the principal business houses were then found in Lower George-street. George-street, between Bridge-street and Campbell's wharf, saw many a disreputable scene, and drunken fighting went on to such an extent that shop doors had to be closed. It was not an unusual thing for the clerk on duty at the "Herald" Office between 8 and 11 p.m. to have to close the doors till the fight was over or the crowd dispersed by the police.

BULLOCK DRAYS FROM OUTBACK.

"What a change in the mode of conveying wool and produce from the large stations since the days when the bullock teams made their annual trip! Great drays might then have been seen coming into Sydney by way of Brickfield Hill, drawn by teams of from 18 to [illegible] bullocks. The bales would be deposited, perhaps, in a store near one of the wharfs. . . . The teams would find their way, say, to Flower Salting's yard, now occupied by a part of the Union Bank in Hunter-street; or the Waterloo stores, at the corner of Market and George streets (now Hunter's boot warehouse), or some other place; and the bullocks and drays would remain there for days and gradually load up with supplies for the big stations many miles away in distant parts of the country."

At the corner of George-street and Church Hill, as it was then called, was Samuel Lyons' auction room, later demolished. The old house had a history. Lyons built it and there sold everything that might be sold under an auctioneer's hammer. It was the birthplace of many enterprises. It was there that the first Agricultural Society in the country was formed, William and James Macarthur and other well-known men being the promoters.

VOLUNTEERS OF 1860.

A reference to the old police office and the old markets reminded the narrator of the market stalls kept by Baptist for vegetables and Kippax for poultry, Linsley for bacon and produce, and Herrod for fruit. "Old volunteers took their first lessons in the 'goose step' in the markets, for that and other old buildings were used as drill sheds. This [illegible] one in mind of the volunteer movement of 1860 or thereabouts, when there was a Russian 'scare,' and we enlisted under the trees opposite the guard house at the entrance to the Government House, Inner Domain. The guard house has been removed and the trees cut down. Sir William Denison was Governor at this time. In the starting of the volunteer movement the late Sir William Windeyer, Allister M'Lean, secretary of the Lands Department, W. St. Harbettle, and the writer of these 'memories' and others took an active part. The Sydney and suburban battalions were formed; and so originated the volunteer force, which was succeeded by the permanent military force on the withdrawal of H.M. 12th Regiment from the colony. These battalions were of some use in relieving the military during the Lambing Flat riots, as they then had to do garrison duty in and around the Government offices and departments. At another time there was an indication of trouble through the Chinese in Sydney; and the Sydney battalion was kept in Hyde Park barracks for one or two days and nights in case of emergency."

Sir James then went on to give reminiscences of early writers, scholars, clergymen, public men, and politics; and concluded with a brief description of Melbourne as he first saw it in 1852.

Mr. H. Wright, president of the Society, occupied the chair, and the Minister for Education (Mr. James) was present.

Mr. R. J. Black, M.L.C., said he had never listened to a more interesting or more charming paper. (Hear, hear.) Sir James had told his stories of old Sydney at first hand, having himself witnessed the scenes he had described. Sir James had set a noble example by his public spirit. (Hear, hear.) He moved a hearty vote of thanks.

The vote was carried by acclamation.

THE AUSTRIAN DEFEAT

PIAVE PROVES RIVER OF DEATH

BIG ITALIAN CAPTURES

LONDON, June 24.

The full extent of the Austrian defeat cannot yet be calculated, but thousands of prisoners and many guns have been taken.

The recrossing of the Piave cost the enemy serious losses in men and guns.

The Italians have taken 45,000 prisoners and enormous booty. In Sunday's fighting, according to an official report, 4000 prisoners were taken.

Italian cavalry are now east of the Piave, but it is considered impossible for the Italian infantry to cross in pursuit of the Austrians without full preparation.

HOW RETREAT BECAME A ROUT.

The latest telegrams from the front say one cannot yet calculate the extent of the Austrian disaster. The Italians in advancing showed magnificent elan, the victory exalting the courage of the troops. Directly General Diaz learnt that the Austrian commander had given the order to retreat from Montello the counter-attack was increased in intensity.

The Austrian retreat commenced early on Sunday. By 11 o'clock on Monday morning the retreat had become a rout, the Italian airmen continually bombing and machine-gunning. The Austrian masses crowding the bridges, which one by one were destroyed, until only a single bridge was not destroyed in the Montello section. The Austrians escaped by wading. The total Austrian casualties are at least 180,000, the Italian losses being 80,000.

It is expected that the Austrian casualties will be immensely increased by the present fighting. Already it is known that the recrossing of the Piave resulted in very serious losses. There were horrible scenes of carnage at the water's edge, where masses of bewildered Austrians were awaiting a chance of using the hastily improvised bridges, which the Italian artillery and aeroplanes continually were destroying. The Pioneer American Aviation Corps rendered particularly brilliant service in attacking the bridges until the passage ways finally were blocked with the dead and wounded of the retreating enemy.

The Italians, after a violent bombardment, recaptured Nervesa by a brilliant bayonet charge on Sunday afternoon.

Washington advices state that the Italians have broken the Austrian line at Cella Bella. They have captured 45,000 prisoners.

Many Austrians were drowned in the flooded Piave.

The Italian Embassy in London confirms the report that the prisoners already counted number 45,000, and that enormous booty has been taken.

A semi-official communique anticipates that the enemy will attribute his retirement to a spontaneous decision because the Piave is flooded, but the retreat was precipitous. The enemy massed 20 divisions on the right bank of the river, and brought up artillery in great numbers. The Italians responded to the concentrations with extremely violent artillery fire. The Italians are proud of their success in beating all the Austrian army, which, deprived of its initial advantages, defeated in the mountains and on the plains, and worn-out with enormous losses, was compelled to retreat.

OFFICIAL REPORTS.

An Italian official report on Monday afternoon stated: Yesterday gave us the crowning results of our victory. Pushed up against the bank of the Piave in an ever-narrowing strip of ground, and unceasingly bombarded by artillery and aeroplanes, the enemy, after maintaining himself desperately on the right bank for eight days at the cost of enormous sacrifices, began on Saturday night his withdrawal to the left bank. The crossing of the river, under the deadly fire of our artillery, was continued on Sunday, protected by a strong array of machine-guns and covering troops, who, after stubborn resistance, were driven back by our troops.

Montello and all the right bank of the Piave, excepting a small portion at Musile, where the struggle continues, have been recaptured. We took over 4000 prisoners with a great quantity of arms and material. An extraordinary number of Austrian dead covers the ground, proving the enemy's valour and his great defeat.

FOE SAYS EVACUATION WAS UNOBSERVED.

(Admiralty- per Wireless Press.)

An Austrian official message states: The height of the river and the bad weather caused us to evacuate Montello and other positions on the right bank of the Piave. The order was given four days ago. Our evacuation was unobserved by the enemy.

ITALIAN CAVALRY CROSS RIVER.

The newspapers at Rome, Milan, and elsewhere are jubilant over General Diaz's announcement of the Austrian defeat, especially after the German Emperor's telegram to the Emperor Charles congratulating the Austrians and his bombastic speech to the German troops at headquarters in France announcing that the Piave position was forced. While the Austrians in the Trentino told of a great [illegible] won on the Piave, the Austrians on [illegible] told of a splendid success in the [illegible] attack.

The Italians advancing to and over the Piave not only captured thousands of prisoners and a number of Austrian guns, but recaptured 72 Italian guns and vast ammunition dumps and stores. Italian cavalry are now east of the Piave between Montello and the Zenson Bend. The Austrians in the Zenson Bend are fighting a stubborn rearguard action to cover the retreat of the main body. The Austrians are in a most difficult position, owing to the poor state of their lateral communications. The situation abounds in possibilities, but Diaz is unlikely to take risks, as he has already scored a great success. It is estimated that the Austrians have twenty divisions in general reserve, so it is impossible for Diaz to throw infantry across the Piave without full preparation.

The Austrians thus far have used seventy divisions in the battle, each one-half more numerous than the German divisions. Prisoners state that eight divisions initiated the storming of Asiago Plateau, yet it was necessary to put in seven divisions of the reserve the very first day. The Austrian losses were tremendous.

It is now clear that the grandiose scheme for crushing Italy in order to enable a final Austro-German advance in France has collapsed. The Emperor Charles, realising that the situation was hopeless on the battle-front, hurried back to Vienna to deal with civilian disorders. There is grave anxiety in Berlin regarding Austria. The German Emperor has sent Ludendorff on a special mission to Vienna.

General Diaz on Sunday issued a proclamation explaining the deep importance of the effort about to be made, and exhorting the troops to show the enemy their full force. The armies at night continued to advance.

A Washington message says the Germans are hurrying troops from France to Italy.

RUSSIA'S PLIGHT.

CAN THE ALLIES HELP?

BRITAIN'S GOODWILL.

The newspapers drew attention to Mr. Lloyd George's reference to Russia in the course of his statement in the House of Commons. He did not give much information, but indicated that Russia's disintegration was complete, and that Britain, although actuated by goodwill, was puzzled regarding the best methods of assisting to end the chaos. The Russians are beginning to realise what German militarism means, and their hatred of the Central Powers is deepening. Russia is readier now than ever to drive out the Germans. The difficulty is one of access. The only Power having access is Japan. Regarding the latter, Mr. Lloyd George was markedly non-committal, speaking with the greatest circumspection. M. Litvinoff (the Bolshevik representative in England) listened to the speech in the distinguished strangers' gallery.

A New York message says that Herman Bernstein, an American editor and correspondent, has arrived from Russia, where he studied the conditions. When interviewed he said: "Unless the Allies interfere in Russia and save her from Germany, the Allies may lose the war. Nine-tenths of the population of Russia are in favour of Allied intervention—military and economic. A few divisions of troops arriving in Russia this summer would enable the nation to re-organise and resist Germany. The conditions are worst in Moscow and Petrograd. Men are shot down by Bolshevik agents in order to terrorise the masses. The courts of justice have been discontinued, and prisoners are executed without trial."

JAPAN MAY ACT.

A Tokio report says there are indications that a special session of the Japanese Diet probably will be summoned to consider the sending of an expeditionary force to Siberia, owing to recent developments.

GERMANY'S MEAT RATION.

Herr Muller informed the Reichstag Food Committee that it was impossible to increase the meat ration. It might even be necessary to lower it or introduce meatless weeks throughout Germany.

TRANSPORT SUNK.

SIXTY-SEVEN MEN MISSING.

NEW YORK, June 24.

A Washington message says a transport with no troops on board has been torpedoed off the coast.

Sixty-seven of the crew are missing.

GERMAN USE OF DUTCH RAILWAY.

In the House of Commons Lord Robert Cecil said the Government repeatedly had pressed the Netherlands for precise information regarding Germany's use of the Limburg railways. Thus far they had received no satisfactory reply, though Britain was assured that the traffic was confined to civilian goods.

EPIDEMIC IN LONDON.

Spanish influenza is spreading in London. It is extremely contagious, and immediate isolation for five days is essential directly the lassitude, aching limbs, headache, catarrh, and higher temperature commence. Huts are being erected in some districts where the hospitals are crowded.

AUSTRALIANS RELEASED.

Three Australians who have been repatriated are Privates R. A. Dodd, 28th Battalion (of Subiaco), who was captured at Pozieres; C. F. Williams, 48th Battalion, captured at Bullecourt; and T. Driscoll, 8th Machine-gunners (of Botany), who was captured at Fleurbaix.

GERMANS' PAPER CLOTHES.

An American woman, who has been a resident of Germany since the beginning of the war, has arrived at an Atlantic port. She wore paper clothes up to the time she left Germany. She and her family were emaciated because of malnutrition. She had to leave Germany because the conditions were very bad. She said that the morals of the German people were getting low. Wounded soldiers in hospitals were poorly nourished.

ZINC CORPORATION.

In the House of Commons, Sir Albert Stanley (president of the Board of Trade) informed Mr. Holt that no agreement had been made between the Government and the Zinc Corporation regarding the smelting of zinc in Britain.

WESTERN FRONT.

MINOR OPERATIONS.

LONDON, June 24.

Sir Douglas Haig on Monday evening reported: A minor operation on Sunday night in the neighbourhood of Meteren was completely successful. All our objectives were gained and our line advanced. We captured ten machine guns.

The French took a few prisoners in a successful raid at Locre.

Despite strong winds and low clouds on Sunday our aeroplanes carried out reconnaissances. There was little air-fighting. We destroyed one aeroplane. Two of ours are missing. We dropped five tons of bombs in the day time and 15 tons at night, of which six fell on Cambrai sidings and stations with good effect. One of our night-flyers is missing.

A French communique issued on Monday afternoon stated: We repulsed an enemy attempt in the region of Antheuil. The Germans, at 11 o'clock at night, re-attacked the Italian position at Mount Bligny, between the Marne and Reims. After lively fighting the enemy was completely repulsed with serious loss. The Italians took prisoners. There is a fairly lively artillery duel in the Woevre and the Vosges.

A French communique on Monday night stated: On the plateau to the north of Leport we improved our position, and, by a local operation, took 170 prisoners. A counter-attack was immediately repulsed. There has been fairly lively artillery fire between the Aisne and the Marne.

During Sunday five enemy aeroplanes were brought down. Fifteen tons of bombs were dropped on enemy aerodromes in Picardy and on the Aisne sector; also on bivouacs in the regions of Chaulnes and Montdidier.

An American official report states: On Monday in local operations in the Chateau Thierry region we further advanced, capturing five machine-guns. An hostile counter-attack southward of Torcy broke down with heavy losses.

BRITISH OFFICIAL WAR REVIEW.

GERMANY AND PEACE.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

The following cablegram, under Saturday's date, has been received by the Governor-General from the Secretary of State for the Colonies, and is issued by the Acting Prime Minister (Mr. Watt):—

A discussion in the German Press on the peace offensive shows the anxiety of the military and conservative parties to pledge the Government and nation to a German peace. Even the Liberal papers, which still profess to desire peace by agreement, demand terms irreconcilable with the famous July resolution of the Reichstag. Prince Alexander Hohenloe declares that the object of the Pan-German party is to force a declaration of an annexationist policy, which the Entente is unable to accept, and to cause the war to continue till a German peace is secured.

Internal disorganisation and demoralisation are increasing. The "Frankfurter Zeitung" confesses that rations are insufficient to support a healthy existence. Crimes are increasing, including food frauds, burglary, wholesale robbery, and extortionate profiteering. Insurance payment against burglaries increased from £80,000 in 1911 to £220,000 in 1917. Compensation for stolen goods paid by the Prussian railways from £210,000 to nearly £3,000,000. The vaunted incorruptibility of the German petty officials has vanished. Supplies from Ukraine are quite insufficient, though the Moscow official journal states that "Germany is removing everything and bringing nothing." The German Press shows with increasing frankness that there are serious apprehensions of the impossibility of restoring the prosperity of German commerce.

The Citizen Council of Hamburg passed a resolution on May 16, that the future peace treaties should provide a sufficient war indemnity, preferably in raw materials, the protection against the boycott of German enterprise, and the safeguard of German shipping. Similar forebodings reappear in a resolution recently adopted by the German Associated Chambers of Commerce.

The German plan remains avowedly one of military conquest and commercial subjugation. The public opinion in Allied countries increasingly favours the establishment of a league of free nations, the security of which to be mutually guaranteed, and the danger of a new war to be avoided. The publication of Viscount Grey's pamphlet will concentrate attention upon the vital necessity of a scheme, and the best method of meeting the difficulties involved.

The Russian Press proves by German official documents that Russian prisoners have been treated as slaves, and were compelled to work for the Government or private capitalists for 5d a day, clothing themselves and finding tools. General Falkenhayn has forbidden the holding of any labour meetings at Minsk, and compels men and women to work in the fields. Thirty thousand Poles at Minsk have been sent to forced labour in Germany.

In France, the Crown Prince's offensive on the Aisne and the Oise had reached definite stability last Thursday. Throughout the week-end the artillery on both sides was very active all along the British front, and the aerial activity had increased markedly; otherwise, the last few days have been ominously quiet in this sector. There are many signs, supported by strategical reasoning, that a German attack on a very great scale may be expected before long.

Referring to the Austrian offensive, the message adds:—With one exception no German unit has been identified assisting the Austrians. The exception is a German "requisitioning battalion," whose duty was to secure for the Germans portion of any loot available. This fact is typical of the whole attitude of the German master towards the Austrian servant. Everything suggests that the Austrian offensive was launched at the order of Berlin, and is attributable as much to internal politics as to the idea of assisting German operations in France. In contrast to the German attitude towards her so-called Allies, it is pleasing to find an important and successful share in the Italian success taken by British troops in a sector of greatest importance to our Allies.

In the Adriatic, British seaplanes and aeroplanes are co-operating with naval craft against enemy submarines, and their bombing attacks on Cattaro kept the port authorities in continuous suspense. In long-distance bombing operations into Germany our squadrons twice raided Metzsablon. They also raided Treves, Hagendingen, and Dillingen, our machines returning safely. At Ostend, Bruges, and Zeebrugge high-power bombs were frequently dropped.

In British air fighting on the Western front 85 enemy machines were brought down and 29 driven down out of control. Thirty-two of our machines failed to return.

AMERICAN OFFICIAL NEWS.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

The following American news is issued per the American Consul:—

Washington.—A Paris paper interviewed Lord Northcliffe, who said: "I believe America alone could beat the Germans. I have absolute confidence in President Wilson. Last month America sent 250,000 soldiers to Europe. She had promised only half that number. Germany is beginning to weaken. The British-American-French blockade is firmer, and is slowly strangling the enemy."

The two billion dollar war saving stamp campaign for the week has opened enthusiastically throughout the United States.

The American Alliance of the Labour Democracy has announced that 15 Socialists of the French Chamber of Deputies have joined the pro-war element of the party in the United States, in repudiation of the proposed negotiations with the Socialists of enemy countries.

Nemesio Menacho, the new Bolivian Consul, has arrived at Seattle. He said: "Bolivia has an army of 100,000 of the best trained men in South America at the disposal of the Allies when necessary."

WOMEN'S DOMAIN MEETING.

Chaplain Cranston, late 8th Brigade, A.I.F., will speak at the women's meeting on Thursday afternoon in the Domain against drink and racing in war-time. The Acting Prime Minister, Mr. W. A. Watt, will receive a deputation on the subject. Women's organisations are being invited to bring their banners. A band will play selections on the ground.

ALLIES CONFIDENT.

GREAT BLOW COMING.

LLOYD GEORGE REVIEWS WAR POSITION.

LONDON, June 24.

In the House of Commons on Monday, Mr. Pringle asked the Premier (Mr. Lloyd George) what effect unity of command was having on the distribution of the British forces, and what was the present strength of the army.

Mr. Lloyd George, in replying, made a general statement on the war position. He said that by an amazing piece of organisation a great number of American troops were now in France. They were of the best type. He could not give the number, but if it was known it would encourage the Allies and disappoint the enemy. General Maurice had rightly said the opposing forces were as nearly matched as could be. Mr. Lloyd George added that he would not be surprised if our forces were greater than those of the Germans in a short time.

Without boasting, he could say that the Allied Generals were confident regarding the issue. The enemy would have no further reserves to call upon after another offensive, except by the most drastic combing out of men from essential industries. Evidence proved that the Germans already were resorting to this, which proved that the Allies had inflicted the heaviest losses in the course of the campaign. The position would be most anxious in the next couple of months, but was gradually improving from all points of view.

We were on the eve of very great events. There might be a great blow coming in the next few hours, certainly it was coming within the next few days. The issue of the campaign might depend upon it. The Allies had never felt better prepared to meet it.

The last German attack on the French was a failure. Our Third Army also severely defeated the Germans, who had been beaten twice, if not thrice, by the Fourth and Second armies with very great slaughter, which was much more severe than the British and French had sustained. Taking the whole campaign, the Germans had not secured their objectives.

CHAOS IN RUSSIA.

The position in Russia was chaotic. There were de facto Governments all over the country. The situation changed every hour. It would be in our interest to stand by Russia if Russia wanted us. Germany had treated Russia brutally, and dismembered her. Treaties had not been respected the day after they were made. These facts were sinking into the Russian mind. The feeling that all the Allies were great nations trying to satisfy their own greed was disappearing. As it was realised what militarism meant the hatred of Germany deepened. The only Power with access to Russia was Japan.

THE AUSTRIAN DEFEAT.

The position in Italy was full of promise. What had happened there was the most portentous event of the year. It was a defeat inflicted on a Power which was not in the best condition to sustain it. The Austrians put their whole strength into the offensive, and after gaining considerable success their armies were in full retreat. It was now a question of whether they would be able to retreat. The Italians at Montello had captured the whole position, driven the enemy across the Piave, and crossed it themselves. Cavalry lower down were pursuing the enemy. The Italians already had recaptured half the guns the Austrians had previously captured.

There was very serious discontent in Austria. Half the population were out of sympathy with the war, and had far more sympathy with the aims of the Allies than those of their own leaders. An Allied victory was their only chance of freedom. It was highly significant that Austrian prisoners in Siberia were pledged to fight on behalf of the Allies.

DANGER NOT YET OVER.

"The danger is not over on the Western front," he added. "We must not pretend it is; but whatever the difficulties may be those of the Central Powers are infinitely greater. I do not point out these things in order to raise false hopes, but in order to emphasise that all we need do is to be steady, to be enduring, and I have not the faintest doubt, looking at all the facts, that our victory will be complete." (Loud cheers.)

Mr. Asquith (leader of the Liberal party) joined in congratulating the Italians on their marvellous gallantry and steadfastness in confronting a most formidable attack, and then meeting it with brilliant dash and initiative, resulting in such splendid success. It was one of the most remarkable performances of the war, and filled us with the greatest possible hope for the future. We should let the Russian people know that they had more to gain by an Allied victory and more to lose by a German victory than any other people.

AUSTRALIA'S PART.

MR. HUGHES AND MR. COOK IN LONDON.

Mr. Andrew Fisher (High Commissioner for Australia) presided at the Australian and New Zealand Club's luncheon to Mr. Hughes and Mr. Cook at the Savoy Hotel. There were 250 present.

Mr. Hughes, in responding, referred to the cheering news from the Italian front.

"While the internal condition of Austria may pave the way to a separate peace," he went on, "nevertheless, with the great enemy unshattered, anxious days are still before us. But we shall meet them with calm confidence."

Mr. Hughes dealt at length with the part the Australians had played in the war. He said that our children's children would read with glorious pride the history of the Anzacs, and would recall memories of the men whose imperishable deeds had made Australia a nation. The new spirit of Australian nationhood born of the Anzac had permeated every atom of our being.

"Since then the names Mouquet Farm, Bullecourt, Bapaume, Messines, Paschendaele, and Gaza have been inscribed on Australia's banners. Australia owes everything to her soldiers, and the duty devolves upon us of preparing a place for them in Australia. I am glad to meet my fellow-citizens in London, and tell them Australia's war spirit is as keen as ever."

Mr. Cook congratulated the club upon its inauguration. Australia and New Zealand were one in the Southern seas, and would take an important part in the destinies of the Pacific. Time was when cricket and football served to advertise Australia in the Homeland. These Australian sportsmen had rallied to the colours and played in a greater game, as Englishmen should. To-day we had an advertisement of another kind. Our boys had written their names deep in the history of the world. Their glory would not fade. Australia would some day be as big as the United States. She wanted population, for the time might come when she would have to put up a big defence in the Pacific, although he hoped that the occasion would never arise. He paid a tribute to Mr. Havelock Wilson's attitude in preventing pacificists coming to England. One of the most brilliant chapters in the war would be that recording the work of the men of the mercantile marine. Who, he asked, had a better right to say what should be done with these peace babblers than those representing the men who had been murdered on the high seas?

BIG BUSH FIRE.

ST. GEORGE (Q.), Monday.

A big bush fire is raging on the western side of the Ballone towards Bollon. A large area of country is being burnt.

LATE WAR NEWS.

ITALIAN SUCCESS.

AUSTRIAN RETREAT OBSERVED.

LONDON, June 25.

The "Daily Telegraph's" Milan correspondent telegraphs that the constant pressure by the Italians, and the uninterrupted bombardment of the bridges and footbridges, rendered the situation of the enemy troops on the right bank of the Piave tragically hopeless from the outset. Some divisions in the Montello region were seven days without supplies from the other side of the river. The enemy hoped to execute their retreat unobserved; but patrols on Saturday night penetrated the lines and noticed the preparations. Immediately the guns opened an intense fire on the river passages. The infantry attacked in the morning, and soon smashed in the Montello front. According to prisoners, some of the divisions already have lost 5000.

The Italian advance in the Montello sector was splendidly carried out. Some crossed the Piave northward of the mountain, taking the enemy in the rear. Others smashed the line at Collesella-del-la-Madonna and drove the Austrians pell-mell into the river; while the right wing occupied Nervesa. The ground of the lower Piave is literally strewn with dead. Since the third day of the Austrian offensive the enemy here has realised he had been caught in a trap. Day and night shells were poured into the passages. The bridges were only charred posts. A wooden bridge near Musile, which remained, was wiped out by shellfire. Engineers who made desperate efforts to repair the bridges at Saigareda and Grisolera suffered similarly. The whole of the convoys and supplies drawn up on the opposite bank became an easy mark for the Italian guns.

The Exchange Telegraph's Rome correspondent confirms that the prisoners are estimated at 45,000.

Signor Orlando informed Senators and Deputies this morning that the success continues. The Austrians are suffering enormous losses.

The "Giornale D'Italia" says the troops of the Archduke Joseph and General Wurm were practically surrounded and must surrender or be annihilated.

BATTLE DYING DOWN.

The Piave battle is apparently dying down to local actions.

AUSTRIA.

POLITICAL UNREST.

In view of the Austrian setback on the Piave, there is a strong demand in London for exploiting the situation politically.

The "Daily Chronicle's" diplomatic correspondents urges Mr. Lloyd George, M. Clemenceau, and Signor Orlando to sign a manifesto containing a decisive utterance, expressing sympathy with the oppressed nationalities. Such action would produce a climax. Hunger, social unrest, political crisis, and military disaster exist, as the Allies' instruments. Such a manifesto, like a charge of dynamite, would shake the frail fabric of Austrian hegemony.

The "Daily Telegraph" opines that Dr. Seidler, the Premier, will attempt to patch up a Ministry in consequence of the Emperor's refusal to immediately accept his resignation, but anticipates the effort will end in failure. The Emperor, meanwhile, has charged Dr. Seidler with the responsibility of the conduct of affairs until he has considered his decision.

The "Daily Telegraph" adds:—"The letter clearly shows the Emperor was determined to continue to refuse justice to the Jugo-Slavs, Czechs, Poles, and other nationalities, and would not allow them any voice in the Government."

The "Daily Telegraph's" Rotterdam correspondent excludes the possibility of Dr. Seidler securing a parliamentary majority, owing to his failure to obtain Polish support, and adds: "Therefore the Emperor's attitude generally is regarded as indicating he intends to challenge dissentient subjects and take advantage of the famous article 14 of the Constitution, enabling him to govern without Parliament. It is quite likely, however, that Emperor Karl's policy is largely stage play in attempting to break down German resistance to the Austro-Polish policy by showing its adoption to be necessary to the maintenance of the dual monarchy."

FOOD SITUATION SERIOUS.

The arrival of 500 waggons of grain from Berlin has only slightly relieved the food situation. The greater part of the grain is earmarked for the army. Altogether, Germany has promised 1000 waggons, of which 400 will be available to the civilians, merely assuring Vienna of its half bread ration for a fortnight. Although Germany has also foregone a share of Hungary's potato crop, the outlook until the harvest is most critical.

Geneva messages state it is difficult to learn the progress of the strike movement in Austria. The frontier is practically closed. The Extremists are still advocating a general strike, which the workmen's council hesitates to proclaim. The moderate Socialists, in urging the immediate convocation of Parliament, declare it is the only way of averting a catastrophe.

BRITISH FRONT.

Sir Douglas Haig in his noon report of Tuesday says:—The Canadians, in a raid on the night of the 24th, at Neuville Vitesse, brought back 22 prisoners and six machine-guns.

We took a few prisoners in a successful raid southward of the Scarpe.

Hostile artillery was active last night between Villers Bretonneux and Morlancourt, southward of Avion, and westward of Merville. Gas shells were freely employed.

IRELAND.

The Chief Secretary for Ireland has declared Tralee a special military area.

Mr. Lynch, a member of the House of Commons, has accepted a commission as colonel, and has proceeded to Ireland to participate in the recruiting campaign.

The discovery of 50,000 rounds of ammunition, concealed in 122 sacks of corn, in Dublin has created a sensation. The sacks belonged to a cargo which is believed to have been distributed throughout the country. Police engaged in a systematic search discovered 3000 rounds in sacks at Portadown railway station.

The absence of the Nationalist members robs to-day's Irish debate of its importance. Mr. J. Dillon, in an interview, said the party would shortly be returning to Westminster. He admitted the events in Ireland had enormously weakened the power of the Irish party.

SOCIALIST CONFERENCE

A Paris message states that M. Albert Thomas has joined the group of 40 Socialist Deputies who are opposed to the international conference to which Germany would be admitted.

PRICE OF GAS.

Although no details of the report or recommendations of Mr. Justice Ferguson with regard to the price of gas are yet available, it was learned yesterday that there is a prospect of the cost to the consumers going up from 4s 1½d per 1000 cubic feet to 4s 8d.

It is the rule that when Parliament is sitting reports of Royal Commissions are made available first to the Houses of the Legislature. Mr. Justice Ferguson's report will probably be laid on the table of the Legislative Assembly this afternoon. It will probably be found that his Honor has recommended that since the standard price of gas was fixed at 3s 6d per 1000 cubic feet the cost of production has risen by about 1s 3d per 1000. This will mean an extra 6½d per 1000 cubic feet to be added on to the present price to consumers of 4s 1½d per 1000.

WAR NOTES.

EXPECTANCY REGARDING THE WEST.

The news received from the Western front up to the time of writing contains nothing which might safely be accepted as an indication of the great German blow which Mr. Lloyd George states might be delivered there "in a few hours, but certainly within the next few days." This announcement would suggest that the Prime Minister possesses special information regarding the enemy's intentions. No doubt he is basing his remarks upon information which is not available to the general public. The results of observation and the reports of British airmen may indicate a revival of activity, and the intelligence department of the British army may possess a knowledge of facts which support such a conclusion as that at which the Prime Minister has arrived. For our part, however, we have only the knowledge that the enemy is determined to seek a decision on the West during the present year. He must, therefore, make full use of the remaining months during which the weather is likely to be suitable for offensive operations. It is now close on a fortnight since the enemy's attacks along the Noyon-Montdidier front began to ease off, and, as the Austrian offensive gave early proof of probable failure, the Germans may be expected to lose little time in renewing their attacks on the West. Germany is not likely to send any assistance to Austria, as there is no immediate danger to the latter's defensive line. All her available forces will be required for the work which awaits her on the West, and it is not likely that her troops there will remain idle very much longer.

THE AUSTRIAN WITHDRAWAL.

The Italian communique published this morning must be accepted as proof that the Austrians succeeded in withdrawing the greater portion of their forces across the Piave in a more or less orderly manner. They were undoubtedly closely pressed by the Italians, and sustained very heavy casualties. There does not, however, appear to be any confirmation of the report received from Washington that the Austrian line was broken, and that the Italians captured 45,000 prisoners. The unofficial account of the battle mentions that the Italian Embassy in London received similar information to this, but it is possible that the figures refer to the captures effected during the whole of the offensive. We cannot get away from the fact that the Italian communique distinctly states that the whole right bank of the Piave, including Montello, is clear of the enemy with the exception of a bridge-head opposite Musile. This leaves no doubt that the withdrawal had been practically completed when this communique was issued. The same message makes mention of only 4000 prisoners, which cannot be regarded as excessive when the difficult nature of the operation is taken into account. The stubborn resistance offered by the covering troops is also specially mentioned in this communique, and this, combined with the statement that the withdrawal was protected by a strong array of machine-guns, does not suggest that there was anything of the nature of a rout about the Austrian retirement. If this 4000 prisoners represents the total number of Austrians who were cut off during the difficult operation of recrossing the stream, the enemy appears to have prevented the conversion of his severe defeat into serious disaster. At the same time the enemy's statement that the evacuation was unobserved will not be taken seriously. He has undoubtedly suffered very heavy losses in extricating his troops from the difficult position in which they found themselves after their failure to force the whole line of the Piave.

EASTWARD OF THE PIAVE

An unofficial review of the position along the Piave states that the Italian cavalry is now eastward of the stream, between Montello and the Zenson Bend, but adds that it is unlikely that General Diaz will throw infantry across the river. It is natural to expect a belligerent to follow up a retreating opponent, and thus develop a success to the fullest extent. Such a course is the correct one to adopt in most cases, but those who expect the Italians to follow it in the present instance are likely to be disappointed. The nature of their line is such as to render an advance along the plain beyond the Piave almost out of the question. We have only to throw our minds back to the latter end of last year to recall the circumstances under which the retirement following on the collapse at Caporetta was carried out. On that occasion the enemy broke through the Italian line in the mountains on the Julian front, and, debouching on to the plain, threatened the rear of the armies farther southward, and compelled them to retire. Ever since that retirement ceased the enemy has, with the exception of one long interval of inactivity, been endeavouring to renew the Italian retreat by again breaking through to the plain from the Trentino front. An extension of the Italian line eastward of the Piave would immediately expose it to such a turning movement from the mountains to the northward. It is true that the Italians during the retreat after Caporetta made an effort to hold the line of the Tagliamento, and it may be surmised that an advance to that stream would be advantageous. It must be remembered, however, that at the time the Italians resisted the enemy's crossing of the Tagliamento they were still in possession of the mountainous region immediately to the northward. They now hold no portion of the mountain barrier eastward of the Piave, and, even if the Austrians did not possess sufficient reserves to render the forcing of the river line as difficult a matter for the Italians as they themselves found it, our Allies would only be exposing their front on the plain to that danger which appeared after Caporetta, and which the enemy has been trying to renew by his attacks along the mountain front between the Astico and the Piave.

P.P. BOARDS CONVENTION.

At the annual convention of the P.P. Boards, held at the Highland Society's Club Rooms yesterday, a new council for the ensuing year was elected as follows:—Western Division, Messrs. G. N. Magill, L. Leake, and J. A. Thompson; Central Division, Messrs. J. G. Fletcher, J. Bell, and C. Sinclair; Eastern Division, Messrs. F. A. Mackenzie, P. E. Stirton, and J. Ross.

On the motion of the Wagga board, it was resolved that the Government be asked to give prompt effect to legislation foreshadowed by the Minister for Lands giving control of travelling stock routes and camping reserves to p.p. boards.

Albury board submitted a motion to the effect that a deputation wait on the Minister to urge the cessation of dealing with applications for the alienation or reduction of areas of reserves until the commission appointed has dealt fully with the matter, especially in the more populous districts, and this was agreed to after debate.

Long discussion ensued on a motion by Wagga board:—"That the bill to give effect to increased powers for p.p. boards include a provision for the transfer from shire councils and the Public Works Department of all public watering places, excepting such as are at present used for domestic supply in townships." In the end the motion was carried.

Some suggested alterations in the P.P. Act were agreed to after debate.

Armidale board secured the passage of a motion asking that the definition of a boundary of a P.P. district given in the Act of 1906, and left out of the Act of 1912, be inserted in any amending Act.

At the instance of Urana board the convention agreed to a motion reciting that an addition be made to sub-section 2 of section 140 of the Act, to the effect that any person having sheep with defaced or altered brands should give notice at once to the district stock inspector and the nearest police constable, and that an omission to do so be an offence; also that sheep with cropped ears be debarred from entering the State.

Support was given by several delegates to a motion by the Milparinka board that the Western Lands Commissioners should be reappointed for a term of seven years. The motion also set out that the commission is necessary to carry out the Act to the advantage of the lessees and the country generally. It was carried unanimously, as was a further motion by the same board to the effect that in the reappraisement of western land leases the fact that some of the lessees have contributed about £10,000 to the erection of a dog-proof fence along the Queensland border should be considered.

It was unanimously carried "That this convention, representing the entire stockowners of the State of New South Wales, emphatically protests against the proposed price fixing of meat."

RECRUITING.

On Sunday last five men were accepted at the Central Enlisting Depot and three in the country. On Monday 33 men were accepted at the central depot and 16 in the country. The total for last week was 312.

Lieut. Walter Marks, R.N.V.R., who will shortly leave for England, called on the chairman of the State Recruiting Committee, Mr. Ross Gore, yesterday.

The Martin-place meeting to-day at 1 o'clock will be addressed by Sergt. Browne, Sergt. Kelly, Private Taylor, Sergt. Barry.

At the locomotive workshops, Redfern, at 12.15 p.m., Lieut. Ross and Private M'Parland will speak.

The meetings arranged for to-morrow are:—

Murray Bros., Alexandria, 12.30 p.m., Lieut. Ross and Private M'Parland.

Langdon and Langdon, timber yards, Annandale, noon, Sergt. Geoghan and Sergt. Skinner.

The mass meeting of returned sailors and soldiers in the Town Hall next Sunday afternoon will be addressed by Chaplain Wilson and Lieut. Thomson.

SUBURBAN MARCHES.

To-morrow fifty members of the A.I.F., with a band, will start a series of suburban route marches. The column will embark at Circular Quay at 4.42 on that afternoon, entraining at Milson's Point at 4.52 for Roseville, arriving there at 10 minutes past 5. In this suburb the men will be entertained at tea and music by the residents.

On Friday the column will visit Epping; on Saturday afternoon, Gladesville; and Ryde on Saturday night. On Sunday the day will be put in at the Hawkesbury. On Tuesday of next week Hunter's Hill will be visited; Wednesday, Turramurra; and on Thursday the troops will march through Pymble and Gordon to Killara.

NO PEACE WITHOUT VICTORY.

Lord Leverhulme, in a recent speech, said:—"I can contemplate anything rather than the knuckling-down of the Anglo-Saxon race to the German. That would be eternal disgrace. We should never survive it. It would be our ruin. Any peace made with an undefeated Germany would undermine our Anglo-Saxon mentality for centuries. We should never be the same race again. We should have accepted dishonour—on what grounds? On the grounds of convenience. Dishonour rather than sacrifice. Do you think our children would survive that? Isn't there a time when a nation must say, and mean, death rather than dishonour? This war isn't for territory. It isn't a commercial war. It's a conflict between two spirits that are eternally antagonistic, two spirits that nothing on earth or in heaven can ever reconcile. It's a war between freedom and slavery. It's a war between justice and injustice. It's a war between truth and falsehood. It's a war between good and evil. My confidence in our victory is the measure of my confidence in Anglo-Saxon manhood. And something even greater than that. I believe in the progress of humanity. We shall outlast the German. Right will triumph. Freedom will be saved."

A SLIGHT INCREASE.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

Recruiting figures for four States which were made available to-day show a slight increase over those in the previous week, but they are still much below the required total. The details are:—

Victoria, last week 205, quota required 330; Queensland, 87, 184; South Australia, 42, 101; Tasmania, 24, 47. Totals, 358, 662.

WOOL-TOP INDUSTRY.

400 EMPLOYEES IDLE.

GOVERNMENT RESCINDS AGREEMENT.

It was stated in union circles yesterday that the services of over 400 employees engaged in the wool-topping industry had been dispensed with owing to a disagreement between one firm engaged in the industry and the Federal Government in connection with the export of wool tops.

Mr. M'Kenzie, secretary to the Textile Workers' Union, said that a firm at Botany had dispensed with the services of about 300 wool and basil workers, and about 140 textile workers. The men were of the opinion that the Government should take over the industry.

EMPLOYER'S REASONS.

ALLEGED CONFISCATION OF PROFITS.

Mr. F. W. Hughes, managing director of the Colonial Combing, Spinning, and Weaving Company, Limited, and the Colonial Wholesale Meat Company, Limited, last night made the following statement:—

The dismissal of employees is owing to notice having been received by the companies that the agreement under which the industry has been carried on is to be abrogated by the Government. This agreement provides that the wool top manufacturing companies engaged in the industry would be allowed to make wool tops from wool obtained mainly from sheepskins from their own sheep, and consent was given to supply the wool tops to their own customers in foreign countries. For this consent the companies, under the agreement, had to pay a license fee, which, with wartime profits and other taxation, amounted to 70 per cent. of their earnings, the balance (30 per cent.) had to be reinvested in the extension of the business—no dividends could be paid. This license fee was imposed because the industry had in past years received a bounty to assist in its establishment. The amount of the bounty has since been paid back to the Government by the companies. No period was named in the agreement for its termination, the intention being, as understood by the companies and fully implied in the agreement itself, that it was to remain in force for the full duration of the Imperial Government wool purchase scheme.

It has now been recommended to the Government by the Central Wool Committee (and the Government has apparently approved of the recommendation), that in future the whole of the profits of the companies engaged in the industry shall be confiscated, with the exception of an interest return on the capital actually invested in the businesses. These companies have been asked to sign an agreement contracting themselves into this position. They have replied that they cannot do so, but if it is, for a sufficiently good reason, made the law of the land that everyone, including wool brokers, pastoralists, farmers, carcase butchers, frozen meat exporters, and all other businesses are to be similarly treated, they will not object if they are placed in the same position. They do object, however, to be singled out for treatment much harsher than even the wartime profit tax imposes on businesses. If such a measure is put into force generally by the Government it will mean the absolute stagnation of all industry. The wool top industry has now assumed large dimensions, the Colonial Combing, Spinning, and Weaving Company having doubled its plant and output since the war started. The output in 1914 was about 3,000,000lb of tops; this year, had there been no interruption, it would have exceeded 7,000,000lb of tops, of a value of over £2,000,000 sterling. The works cover about 13 acres, and about a quarter of a million sterling has been spent in machinery equipment. The company's works have been going day and night for the past ten years, and this is the first stoppage that has taken place, with the exception of a few weeks of strike period. The closing down of the works will have some bearing on the price of meat, as most of the raw material used is obtained from sheep purchased at the Flemington saleyards. The carcases of these sheep are sold mainly for local consumption at about cost price. This is only possible because of the complete organisation by which the wool from the skins of the sheep is converted into wool tops, the pelt into leather, and the waste into glue.

RAILWAY RATES.

INCREASES ON NORTH COAST.

The Minister for Works and Railways, Mr. Ball, stated yesterday that the Cabinet had that day approved of the Railway Commissioners' recommendation to increase the coaching and goods rates on portion of the North Coast railway.

On all the sections of this line north of Kempsey the rates are to be raised 15 per cent. all round.

The sections affected are—Casino to Kyogle, Lismore to Grafton, Lismore to Byron Bay, Byron Bay to Murwillumbah, South Grafton to Glenreagh, Coff's Harbour to Raleigh.

Mr. Ball added that the Commissioners' recommendations with regard to some other branch lines in other parts of the State have still to be considered.

It was also learned yesterday that the rates for the railway carriage of store stock are to be revised. It is proposed by the Commissioners to readjust these, so that the present rates shall only apply to stock carried at least 100 miles. It is also proposed that the present rebate allowance on store stock shall only be made after the stock carried have been depastured for three months at the place of destination.

SPORTS AT WAR.

A FINE RECORD.

PREMIER ON PACIFICISTS.

The Premier (Mr. Holman) yesterday afternoon, at the N.S.W. Sports' Club, unveiled an honour roll of upwards of 100 members who have enlisted. The large gathering of members at the same time farewelled Lieut. Marks, who is returning to his naval post in the North Sea. The president of the club (Mr. E. S. Marks), in a short introductory speech, said that the amateur sports' bodies had done well as regards the war. The Sports' Club honour roll might appear small, but it had to be remembered that it represented old-time athletes, and contained one-fifth of the members. But the sports connected with the club had contributed something like 10,000 members to the fighting forces. Some of those bodies had contributed as high as 97 per cent. of their eligible members. The Rugby Union, for instance, had 4000 members, of whom 3872 had enlisted, and 382 of them had died on active service. Of the Metropolitan Rugby Union, 97.5 per cent. of eligible members had enlisted; of the N.S.W. Rowing Association 975 members had enlisted, being nearly the total eligible strength; of the N.S.W. Amateur Cyclists' Union 1000 members had enlisted, which was nearly 70 per cent. of the eligibles; of the N.S.W. Amateur Swimming Association 851 members had enlisted, which was nearly 71 per cent. of its strength; from the N.S.W. Football League (Australian rules) 675 members enlisted; N.S.W. Baseball Association, 200 members enlisted; N.S.W. Football Association, 1000 members enlisted; N.S.W. Amateur Athletic Association, 68.4 per cent. of members enlisted. But, in addition, all bodies had reduced their sports. The Amateur Boxing Association, as an instance, now restricted its competitions to boys under 18, and no championships for greater ages would be held until the members at the front returned. (Applause.)

FACTS TO BE FACED.

The Premier, in unveiling the honour roll, said there was no doubt that those who had been sporting men in the true sense of the word—that was, those who had cultivated athletics, and devoted themselves to the full development of their physical powers—had proved that such a training contributed much towards good citizenship in the hour of national peril. A small club to which he belonged—the Fencing Club—had as good a record as any, as all its eligible members had gone to the front, and many of them had done service reflecting credit on every sporting body of New South Wales.

"It is not for me or for you to offer vain congratulations on the spirit of those who have gone to the war," Mr. Holman continued. "It is for us to consider in a spirit of sober earnestness the situation that confronts us and the duty that still lies before us.

"We are in Australia confronted with the strange phenomenon of a certain section of our citizens who believe the time has come for us to arrange to make what they call a 'peace by negotiation,' and to end the disastrous and calamitous struggle which is devastating the civilised world. Those men who are preaching peace are not more anxious to see peace restored than we are, for not one of us but would accept peace if we could secure it in any but one way. If we could secure it in that way we would quickly accept the offer." But none of those who had studied the history of Germany and the psychology of the German people imagined that any acceptable terms were at present possible. (Hear, hear.) To break off fighting now, with Germany's power left intact, and German ambitions unsatiated, meant that in the near future—how far off no one could say—at the choice of Germany, and under circumstances favourable to Germany, another war would be precipitated. Senator Gardiner had said in the Domain on Sunday that the war had so far resulted in the loss of 15,000,000 men. "I think that is exaggerated," said Mr. Holman, "but supposing it to be correct, is it not infinitely better for the world to come to end the war now than to, in the near future, have another war thrust upon us, which might cost forty or fifty million men? We are facing the problem of fighting a nation that depends on militarism for progress and national advantage. To the rest of the world war is a direful and melancholy necessity. To Germany and Austria war is the outstanding factor of national prosperity; war is the means and the methods by which they hope to make their nations powerful and prosperous. While those nations remain unchecked and unpunished the danger of future wars will be as great as the dangers of this war. Those wars will be waged with all the deviltries and barbarities which have characterised Germany throughout this war—poisonous gases, the sinking of passenger ships, outrages against women and children on land, hospitals attacked from aeroplanes, and every departure from civilisation which is characteristic of Germany's methods throughout this war. If by acceptance of peace we are to look forward to a long future warfare, carried on on the standards of ruthless barbarity, then the prolongation of this war for one, two, five, or even ten years will be cheap if it ensures the freedom of the world from the menace." (Applause.)

There was, the Premier continued, another point. Those who were preaching peace by negotiation overlooked the fact that in 1839 Great Britain, Germany, and the other European Powers made a treaty by negotiation respecting Belgium. But though it had been renewed several times, Germany had broken that treaty. "What sanction," asked the Premier, "is there for a peace by treaty or negotiation unless those who are parties to the negotiations adhere to their compact, or, having broken it, are visited with condign punishment? What sanction is there if those enemies of the human race who depart from the spirit of the negotiations and the compact they have entered into are not visited with condign punishment? The position with regard to Germany is that we cannot overlook the fact that the treaty of 1839 was broken in 1914 by the descendant of the Prussian Emperor who signed it. I beg of you to think of this when you are considering the proposal of the pacificists. It is a proposal that we should make another treaty with those who have broken the former one. What can these pacificists offer as a credential except that a treaty sanctioned for 70 years was broken, and that after four years of fighting we should make a treaty with the same people—a hollow and insincere treaty, giving no greater guarantee than did the treaty of 1839. The peaceful settlement of the future must depend on the rigorous observance of treaties and the condign punishment of those who fail to observe them. It is for us to prove that those who disturb the peace of the world shall suffer accordingly. That is the task in which we are engaged, and it is the task to which your brother members have offered to sacrifice their lives." (Applause.)

MUST CARRY ON.

Responding to a motion of farewell, proposed by Mr. J. J. Cohen, Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, Lieut. Marks, who will shortly rejoin the navy in the North Sea, said that none but those who had donned the King's uniform could appreciate the thrill of such farewells. It was something that could not be described, it could only be felt.

"I have just completed one country tour through New South Wales and Queensland," Lieut. Marks continued. "I have induced hundreds to come in, but they are only the fringe of what are wanted. It is hard to get men to enlist, yet something is required to make the 600,000 or 700,000 eligible men in the Commonwealth realise the danger in which the Empire stands. The sports have done well. Some have gone 'West,' but what better could they do than go 'West' with flags flying; it is better than dying in their beds. Carry on, I say, morning, noon, and night; and it is going to be carried on until we finish this war, and get a satisfactory peace." (Applause.)

"Australia," he continued, "is going to carry on. Australia has done well; but it must do better. I hope the day is coming when greater numbers of Australians will realise what is expected of them. Australia has done wonders, but I believe it is going to do more. The motto is 'Carry on.'" (Applause.)

INGENIOUS RADIO MESSAGES

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

The sending of a radio telegram in code from Melbourne to King Island led to the prosecution of Frank Forbes, accountant, of Collins-street, at the City Court to-day, before Mr. Cohen, P.M.

Mr. Bryant, who conducted the prosecution, said Forbes sent to one Bertram the following radio telegram: "Robinson and Ingham decided every reason accepting Bradmore's offer unless trust committee opposes any shorter term." Forbes really intended to communicate to Bertram that there was a raider about the coast as, if the first letter of each word were taken, the message "raider about coast" was spelt. Bertram replied in a similar way, his radio telegram reading: "Friends leaving Yambacoona owing violent eruption Ruapehu." The first letter of each word gave the answer "Fly over."

Mr. Cohen said that he found the defendant guilty on both charges; but he did not think that Forbes had sent this message with any ulterior motive. He would only inflict a fine of £7/10/ in each case, with £6/6/ costs.

RED CROSS SOCIETY.

The general committee of the Red Cross Society will meet at 255A George-street at 3 o'clock this afternoon, when Miss Harrison will speak of hospital handicrafts.

DAIRYING CONFERENCE.

The annual conference of the Co-operative Dairy Factory Managers and Secretaries' Association of New South Wales was opened yesterday in the council room of the Royal Agricultural Society, and was attended by delegates from different parts of the State. The president (Mr. C. W. Smith), of Alstonville, presided. Synchronising with the conference is the winter dairy show, including classes for butter, cheese, bacon, and also butter and cream grading competitions. The prize list will be announced to-day. The conference was occupied largely at the outset with the reading of papers which had been awarded prizes in a competition, of which the Principal of the Hawkesbury Agricultural College (Mr. W. H. Potts) was the judge. The first prize paper was one by Mr. Geo. Burrows, of the Dungog Co-operative Butter Factory, and took the form of a practical treatise on dairy farming. The second prize paper, by Mr. E. A. Sweeney, manager of the Co-operative Dairy Company, Inverell, dealt with the bacon industry, while the third prize paper, by Mr. T. M'Auley, secretary of the Co-operative Dairy Co., Port Macquarie, emphasised the importance of dairying for quality. Another paper, by Mr. John Zekull, of New Zealand, dealt with cheddar cheese-making.

Replying to a letter from the hon. secretary (Mr. Geo. Searl), under date November 24 last, and pointing out that the price fixed by the Federal Prices Proclamation only allowed the same price for butter grading as choicest quality under the Dairy Industry Act (93 points), as for first quality under the Commerce Act (90 points), the Under Secretary for Agriculture (Mr. Valder) stated, on December 14, that the Premier had been asked to make suitable representations to the Federal Government with a view to securing an increased price for the choicest quality referred to. It had been suggested, it was added, that the increased price should be at the rate of a half-penny per lb.

It having been reported that the matter had gone no farther, it was decided to write to the president of the Primary Producers' Union, who is on the butter committee, pointing out the position, and asking him to watch the interests of New South Wales when the matter was being dealt with.

"New South Wales," said the secretary, "has to make butter for local consumption three points higher than any of the other States, and yet get only the same price for it."

The incoming committee was recommended to consider the arranging at the next winter dairy show of a prize for the championship of Australia. In a letter to the secretary, the secretary of the New South Wales Royal Agricultural Society said it would be better to have one Commonwealth Show of butter in Sydney than to have competitions in the various States. He could not see that the "Royal" of Victoria had any moral right to style its champions "Champions of Australia."

The Minister for Lands (Mr. Ashford), in formally opening the conference in the afternoon, in the unavoidable absence of the Minister for Agriculture, said that the manufacture of the choicest butter in New South Wales had reached 80.4 per cent., there being 14.4 per cent. second-grade, and only 5.2 per cent. of third-grade butter. (Applause.) Only with the highest class of butter could they compete successfully in the world's markets in the future. It was owing to the fact that other States, such as Victoria, Queensland, and South Australia, to a limited extent, with Tasmania also, had neglected their opportunities to pass legislation such as that in New South Wales.

Those in the industry here were labouring under same disadvantages, according to the merits of the butter that they manufactured. He referred to the fixed price for export butter to Great Britain and the Allies, and said they saw the other instance where New Zealand obtained for its industry 6/ per 100lb more than Australia was receiving in respect to export butter. Had the other States passed the legislation to which he had referred, and had the dairymen there responded to the occasion, we would have been on the same level as New Zealand. The Commonwealth Government had lately thought fit to undertake the grading of butter for export purposes, and to appoint its own staff, which, incidentally, meant weakening the State administration. Whatever disadvantages they laboured under would, no doubt, be overcome by the Federal Government with the full organisation of its project, but at the present there was a definite disadvantage in the grading and in the increased cost charged by the Federal Government. One of the effects of that was to increase the charge for grading to 1d per box. The States had agreed to carry that work out for one halfpenny per box, and he considered the Federal Government should do the same. The value of production of bacon, cheese in 1906 was £2,123,000; in 1914-15 it was £6,231,000; and in 1916-17, £7,478,000, thus representing, roughly, a little over a million more in actual value received by the industry itself, taking the comparative figures. (Applause.) The Department of Lands, which was now occupied with the question, hoped, with the co-operation of those in the industry, to safeguard the State against the loss incurred by the continuous slaughter of calves, which were valuable assets. The Government had not the slightest intention of interfering with the industry.

Mr. C. J. McRae, president of the Primary Producers' Union, who is the producers' representative on the Federal Butter Advisory Board, said that the deal made last season with the British Government was the solution of a great problem. In all 30,795 tons of butter, of a value of some £5,250,000, had been exported, and New South Wales had contributed 10,907 tons, of a value of something over £2,000,000. The board had deducted 3½ per cent. to meet storage and management charges, as it was anticipated the butter would have to be stored here for some three or four months. As the butter had been got away earlier than expected, and the charges were lighter, a healthy credit balance had accumulated, and he estimated that the producers would receive for the period of export an additional 1d per lb for the whole of the output. These figures were only approximate.

Other speakers were the principal of the Hawkesbury Agricultural College (Mr. Potts), Mr. C. E. D. Meares, general manager of the Coastal Farmers' Co-operative Society, Mr. W. D. Warden, M.L.C., chairman of that body, and Mr. R. A. Price, M.L.A.

Responding to the vote of thanks, Mr. Ashford referred to the manufacture of butter boxes, and said the Forestry Commissioners were only too pleased to try to meet co-operative associations such as this. Where there might be areas of suitable hoop pine they were prepared, where it was possible, to grant concessions that would protect that industry, and thus make it possible for them to make butter boxes. (Applause.) They were prepared to enter into active co-operation with the department and the association in testing any timbers suitable for the manufacture of such boxes.

The conference will meet again to-day.

WOOLLEN GOODS.

AUSTRALIAN v. IMPORTED.

The rival merits of English and Australian woollens were dealt with yesterday before the Interstate Commission (Messrs. Piddington, K.C., and Lockyer).

Mr. A. E. Swadling, sales manager of Messrs. Hooper and Harrison, importers of woollens, said he did not desire to disparage Australian woollens. Before the war Australian and imported woollens were about on a par at their respective prices. To-day the all-wool article made in England was better than the all-wool article made in Australia. One could buy an Australian all-wool suit cheaper than an all-wool suit made in England, but the Australian article would not wear so well. To a certain extent Australian woollens had improved. He estimated that the price of imported goods had increased from 250 to 300 per cent. Material he used to import at 5/4 a yard for making into riding breeches cost him 18/ a yard last February. The cost of Australian-made goods had increased from 90 to 100 per cent. The majority of the goods in his warehouse to-day were sold at below the price at which he could replace them.

Regarding dyes, witness said that Australian dyes were to-day better than the British.

Miss Merivale, representative of the Red Cross Society, said weaving wool cost the society 8/9 a head to-day, as against 3/5 a head in 1914. The society bought on the same terms as the general public, and, so far as witness was aware, had never sought better terms. The Australian Woollen Mills had supplied them with wool at 5/6 a head. They paid 8/11 for imported wool, and 8/6 at the warehouse for wool which witness understood was made in Australia. It was her opinion that the best Australian wool was better than the imported article. The Australian Woollen Mills could not supply the society's requirements, that was why the society went to a warehouse to purchase wool.

The Commission adjourned until 10.30 a.m. to-day.

REPATRIATION.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

Delays which occurred in the establishment of repatriation machinery in Australia have been rapidly overtaken since the Ministry for Repatriation was created in June 1917, and the Repatriation Act was brought into operation on April 8 last. Since 1915 nearly 60,000 men have returned to Australia, and in respect of them and the evolution of the department about £3,000,000 has been spent. In every state the scheme is now in good working order.

SYDNEY OFFICER'S DEATH.

LIEUT. E. C. RENNIE.

Deep sympathy will be extended towards Dr. and Mrs. George E. Rennie, of Point Piper, and 159 Macquarie-street, in consequence of the news which they have received by cable that their third son, Lieutenant Edward Clement Rennie, died at Salonica on June 16. Dr. Rennie received a cable message from the Air Ministry last Wednesday, announcing that his son had been admitted to the casualty clearing station, suffering from fracture of the base of the skull, and the subsequent message, therefore, indicates that he died from this injury. This is the second son that Dr. and Mrs. Rennie have lost at the front, an elder son, Second Lieutenant Cyril T. Rennie, having been killed at Guidecourt, in France, in September, 1916. The latter, who was 22 years of age, was previously in the service of the Colonial Sugar Company, and Lieutenant Edward C. Rennie, who was 21 years of age, was in the second year of the Arts course at the University, preparatory to taking the medical course. Both were Sydney Grammar School boys. Lieutenant Edward C. Rennie was for some time before leaving Australia an officer of the Army Medical Corps, but in October, 1915, both the brothers went to England, and were there granted commissions in the Imperial forces, the elder going to France and the younger to Salonica. A few months ago Lieutenant E. C. Rennie was appointed liaison officer between the Artillery and the Flying Corps, and carried out these duties until April last, when he was appointed to the Flying Corps.

PRICE OF MEAT.

GOVERNMENT SCHEME NEAR COMPLETION.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

A large deputation representing the consumers of meat waited upon the Minister for Price Fixing (Mr. Massey Greene) this afternoon.

Mr. Massey Greene, in reply, said the Government proposed to regulate the retail prices of meat "cash on the block" throughout Australia, said the Minister, and to take as the basis of all its calculations the export value, and working from that point make due allowances for locality and quantity as far as possible. It was a difficult thing to do, but they were attempting to carry it out. He and his officers had been working day and night on the scheme. They were anxious to give the consumers some relief in the price of meat, which they regarded as very high. He did not anticipate that meat would retail to the prices of several years ago, but it was possible for the Government to make meat available at a lower level than prevailed to-day, and leave both the large and small producers with a reasonable profit. He would not hold out any promise of declaring the price of meat as was done in Queensland, for the reason that what the Queensland Government had done on a small scale was not open to the Commonwealth to do on a large scale.

A voice: What about the War Precautions Act?

Mr. Greene said that the regulations the Government intended carrying out in regard to meat would be under the War Precautions Act. He expected that the scheme would be completed in a few days.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—During the past few weeks several correspondents of the wealthy pastoral industry have protested against the price of meat being fixed by the Commonwealth Government. I notice the great majority of these gentlemen only sign their names, but do not disclose the name of the station or stations they own. Meat has risen to a price which prevents the working man supplying his family with the adequate amount necessary for their existence. In my travels over New South Wales during the last three years, I have noticed that some squatters have broken the rule of breeding regularly, and from one line of sheep. At one station (where I was over the board) lambs were coming to the shed, very irregularly grown and of totally different classes; and on inquiry from the owner I was told sheep were so valuable now that it paid to breed "any" kind.

The Australian wool clip having been purchased by the British Government for the period of the war and 12 months afterwards, at such a satisfactory price, assures the squatter and sheep farmer a very handsome return for this produce, especially as the general conditions of New South Wales at the present time are good, and we have no indications of severe droughts in the near future. In your issue of Friday last, I noticed that 3000 Berthong wethers were sold on the station for 43s per head. It would be interesting to know what price per lb the consumer had to pay for these sheep. The resolution carried at a large meeting of graziers and farmers at Muswellbrook on Friday, rightly disclosed the opinion of a selfish few belonging to this class:—"That this meeting of the graziers and farmers of Muswellbrook district, emphatically protests against the contemplated fixing of prices of meat as being inimical to the best interests of the State; and that it would entail a great financial loss to the pastoral industry, as well as seriously affecting the future success of war loans, and that it would limit the revenue from taxation."

Is the Commonwealth Government to be threatened that graziers will withhold their surplus wealth from future war loans if they are not allowed to exploit the people by keeping up the exhorbitant price of beef or mutton? The burden should be placed on the shoulders of those most able to bear it. The reduction of the price of meat will mean a slight deduction from the large incomes of men on the land, but thousands will benefit by the change and appreciate it.

You are to be congratulated on your second leader in to-day's "Herald," which defines the position honestly; it is to be hoped that the Federal Government will, without delay, announce the fixed retail price of meat under the conditions as advised by the Necessary Commodities Commission, after lengthy evidence and just consideration.

I am, etc.,
PRO BONO PUBLICO.

June 24.

SOLDIER STUDENTS.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

A cablegram was recently received from the General Officer Commanding the Australian Imperial Force stating that it is proposed to commence the organisation of educational courses to assist men, while serving as soldiers, to prepare to return to civil life. It is the intention gradually to develop the scheme, utilising at present the personnel available for the purposes. The immediate aim would be to arouse interest and to have the arrangements sufficiently advanced during the war to permit the immediate full development on the cessation of hostilities. Similar measures have already been taken by the United Kingdom and the Dominion of Canada. In the professional sphere the subjects proposed include arts, law, education, medicine, engineering, etc. Technical branches include agriculture, commerce, mechanics, and various trades. There will be a general and elementary section dealing with history, geography, literature, civics, languages, and elementary mathematics. Full details, by mail, are awaited by the Minister for Defence; but, in the meantime, at the wish of General Birdwood, he has authorised the necessary expenditure on text books and material. It is not proposed by those who have the organisation of the proposal in hand to give the soldiers much, if any, educational training while they are with their active service units in the field. The time of the men would be so broken, and the nervous and physical strain of active service so great, that anything like continuous study would be out of the question. In time, no doubt, something will be done to give the soldiers resting behind the firing line some intellectual relaxation.

BOARD OF TRADE.

COST OF LIVING INQUIRY.

PROCEDURE ARRANGED.

The State Board of Trade, constituted under the Amending Industrial Arbitration Act, held its second sitting yesterday with the object of considering the appointment of representatives of employers and employees to conduct the respective cases in the cost of living inquiry. The members present were Mr. Justice Heydon (president), Messrs. W. T. Willington, T. Routley, E. J. Kavanagh, M.L.C., and A. G. Cooper (commissioners).

Appearances were intimated to the board as follows:—Mr. J. Kirby, for the Employers' Federation of New South Wales; Mr. J. Stuart Thom, for the Chamber of Manufactures, Mr. Vere Read (Messrs. Norton, Smith, and Co.), Master Retailers' Association and Sydney Ferries, Ltd., Mr. Shrader (Sly and Russell), Wholesale Traders' Association; Mr. Smedley, Iron Trades Employers' Association, Mr. Cantor (Cecil A. Coghlan and Co.) for 104 unions. There was a large attendance of prominent union representatives.

Mr. Justice Heydon said the board had decided to ask employers and employees each to appoint one representative to appear before it—that was, all the employers' bodies and all the employees' organisations should separately combine and each present its views through one representative, instead of having several representatives from each side. The object was to facilitate the inquiry. It was further desired that each side should prepare its case, that both should exchange, each make comments on, suggest amendments to, or combat the case of the other, and that then both the cases and the replies should be placed before the board. That course would shorten proceedings. If the parties desired amplification or explanation of statistics and records the board would see to the statisticians or other officials or people who could give information being called as witnesses.

The inquiry, continued his Honor, would be as to the increase or decrease of the cost of living. There had to be a starting point, and the board had decided that the best starting point would be his Honor's decision of February, 1914, that the living wage should be £2/8, and the board asked the parties to confine themselves as far as possible to existing data—including judgments of the Industrial Arbitration Court and other Courts, so far as they appear material.

In reply to interrogations, his Honor said that whilst the inquiry would be primarily as to the increase or decrease of the cost of living, on the result would be based any fixation of the living wage. This particular inquiry could not deal with the wage for adult females, inasmuch as the cost of living connoted a family, and so it could only affect men.

It was agreed that endeavours should be made by the parties to exchange their statements by July 22, and that the statements and answers should be placed before the board on July 29, or as soon after that date as possible.

The board adjourned sine die.

LABOUR CONFERENCE.

WAR FINANCE.

GERMAN ISLANDS IN PACIFIC.

PERTH, Tuesday.

The Interstate Conference of the Official Labour party was concluded yesterday afternoon.

Following is the official report of the business dealt with in the closing stages of the conference:—It was decided that no member of the party should be required to support any Government proposal for a referendum unless it was provided therein that an Act of Parliament based on such proposal should be submitted to a referendum of the electors and approved by them before it became operative. All resolutions dealing with war finance, including those advocating repudiation of war loans, interest thereon, and the nationalisation of wealth, were referred to a special committee of the Federal Parliamentary Labour party, to be appointed by the party to inquire into and report on the moving principles which should govern the policy of the Australian Labour party in respect to national credits, such report to be submitted to the State executives for suggestions and the final drafting and ultimate adoption of the report to rest with the Federal executive, provided that a majority of the State executives do not declare against the final draft.

Resolutions dealing with repatriation and pensions for soldiers were referred to the special committee appointed to deal with national credits.

A telegram was received dealing with two deportations from the Commonwealth. It was resolved that conference enters its emphatic protest against the deportation of citizens from Australia in violation of the promises given at the Governor-General's Conference. A further resolution was carried entering an emphatic protest against the deportation of Italians and other residents of Australia for military service abroad, and it was ordered that the resolution be communicated to the Acting Prime Minister and the British Labour party.

The conference decided to ask the Commonwealth Government to repeal the Unlawful Associations Act.

The following resolution was adopted: That neither the executive nor the Parliamentary Labour party shall enter into a compact with any individual or party for the purpose of granting immunity in elections to such individual or party, and neither the executive nor the Parliamentary Labour party shall coalesce nor ally itself with any other political party at any time.

It was decided to suggest to the Commonwealth Government an increase in the present scale of old age and invalid pensions, and the extension of the pension system to widows and orphans. The resolution was referred to the special committee appointed to deal with national credits.

The Federal executive was instructed to consult with the State executives as to the best method of appointing a representative on the proposed International Labour Conference.

The next conference is to be held in Sydney, and, unless a majority of the State executives otherwise decide, will take place not later than June, 1919. The practice hitherto has been to hold the interstate conference triennially.

The Federal executive was instructed to meet prior to next conference and prepare a scheme for the establishment of the executive on a sound basis. It was further directed to prepare the conference agenda for submission to the States.

The following resolution was passed by the conference in regard to the retention of the Pacific possessions captured from Germany during the war:—That the following statement be forwarded to England: That this conference, representing the whole Australian Labour party, expresses its earnest hope that in negotiating for peace Great Britain will not be delayed or embarrassed by the statement that Australia insists on the retention of the captured Pacific possessions.

THE MAKAMBO.

DUE ON THURSDAY.

Burns, Philp, and Co., Ltd., yesterday received a wireless message from Lord Howe Island stating that the steamer Makambo, which was stranded on Ned's Beach, Lord Howe Island, left under her own steam at eight o'clock on Monday evening for Sydney. She is expected to arrive on Thursday morning.

The steamer Induna, which was despatched from Sydney last Wednesday to bring on the Makambo's passengers and mails, left the island on the same day at 3 o'clock, and is due to arrive here to-night.

COMMERCIAL.

THE MARKETS.

The price of fencing wire is again advancing. Yesterday No. 10 black was in very short supply, and holders wanted £58 a ton for small lots. The price of No. 8 was unchanged at £52. Galvanised wire met with a steady inquiry at £52 for No. 8, £59 for No. 10, and £62 for No. 12. The market was practically bare of barbed wire, and up to £55 was wanted for 12 gauge. There was no 14 gauge to be had. Kelly's axes were good property, and realised to 100/ a dozen. Bar iron changed hands at £28/10/ a ton, with the exception of certain small sizes, for which as high as £37 was asked. Shoeing iron and shoeing steel were each worth £29/10/. It was difficult to buy black hoop iron under £55, and galvanised hoop commanded £65. Sales of sheet lead in full rolls were made at £40. Lead piping in coils cleared at £45. Zinc sheets and galvanised roofing screws brought 1/6 per lb, while 100/ was paid for T.U.S. sheep shears. Holders of galvanised piping demanded 30 per cent. on list. Files cleared at 27½ per cent. on list. I.X.L. rabbit traps moved out at from 28/ to 29/, and Lane's and Vampire at 36/. Plaster was exceedingly scarce, and was nominally quoted at 70/. There was no movement in cement, which was offered at 15/9 for three bags on rail. Explosives were all firmly held. The question of obtaining future supplies was absorbing the attention of every importer. Messrs. John Dunn and Co., writing from New York on May 1, stated that all reports indicated that the iron and steel industry was getting back very close to maximum production. At any rate, while it might not be producing 100 per cent. capacity, its output was greater than ever before in the history of the country. Government requirements were reported to be steadily increasing, and it was very difficult to get any fair idea as to the proportion of the total output that was being absorbed for war requirements. The Government had stepped in in certain lines, and insisted on 100 per cent. of the output for a given period, and that sort of interference made it difficult to understand just what was going on. There was no doubt that the requirements of the Government were great, but the domestic demand outside of war work was quieting down, and there was still some surplus for ordinary export business. If the war requirements continued to increase it was, of course, only a matter of time when the entire capacity of the country would be absorbed. The fitful way in which the Government's demands were made upsets all calculations as to dates of deliveries to other buyers, but there were deliveries being made in most lines, although particular mills were sometimes unable to make deliveries when other mills making the same goods were shipping. Some mills were much more filled up with Government business than were others.

Oils were steady at last week's levels. Stocks of linseed oil are, of course, jealously guarded by holders. The quotation for raw oil varied between 8/ and 8/3 a gallon. There was more inquiry for turpentine, and sales were made at 6/. The best brands of English whitelead were worth £88 a ton, but locally manufactured lead was available at £73.

NEW FIXED PRICES.

The Commonwealth Prices Board, Sydney, yesterday received the following telegrams from the Chief Prices Commissioner:—

"Paper bags, price prevailing June 17 the State of New South Wales, comes into force to-day."

"New order, Bensdorp's cocoa, quarter-pound tins, wholesale 12/9 dozen, retail 1/3½ each; half-pound tins, wholesale 24/2 dozen, retail 2/5 each; comes into force 25th, all States."

New order, shellac, all States, price prevailing 17th inst. comes into force to-day."

"Arsenic, new price, all states, metropolitan areas, to wholesalers in containers exceeding 1cwt, £60 per ton; in containers, 1cwt or less, £63 per ton; all other buyers, £66 per ton, and £69/6/ when sold in packages containing less than 56lb, the last-named prices, plus 20 per cent.; other areas, cost transportation. Operates 25th inst."

VICTORIAN LIVE STOCK MARKET.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

In the live stock market to-day, 28,200 fat sheep were penned, the quality being about equal to last week's supply. With the exception of the opening sales, which were rather slack, the great bulk of the supply of good to prime sheep sold readily at prices about equal to the best rates of last market. Quotations: Crossbred wethers, prime 40/3 to 47/1, extra 48/3 to 53/, good 35/9 to 39/, seconds 30/ to 34/, inferior from 22/. A few pens of shorn wethers made from 25/3 to 30/3; crossbred ewes, prime 35/ to 40/6, extra to 44/11, good 28/3 to 33/, seconds 24/1 to 27/, inferior from 16/; merino wethers, prime 32/ to 39/, extra 40/ to 48/5, good 25/6 to 30/, seconds 21/ to 24/, inferior from 19/; merino ewes, good to prime 20/ to 26/, inferior and low conditioned from 8/. Fat lambs: 2750 entered, the bulk being good to prime quality. The demand was steady throughout for all good to prime sorts, and prices were quite equal to the advanced rates ruling at the close of last market. Quotations: Prime 29/ to 34/6, extra to 36/10, good 22/ to 27/, seconds 20/ to 22/, inferior from 14/6, with a few from 9/, a few shorn at 19/3.

PRODUCE.

DAIRY.

HEAVY SLUMP IN EGGS.

There was a heavy slump in eggs yesterday. Greatly increased consignments were received from all sources, and quotations had to be reduced almost 3d a dozen. Parcels of new-laid eggs from the suburbs changed hands at from 1/11 to 2/, and case-eggs were offered at from 1/9 to 1/10. Duck eggs brought the same rates as hen eggs. Butter met with a strong demand, at up to 160/8 per cwt, delivered in boxes, for the choicest brands. Pending the conferences to be held in the other principal producing States with members of the butter trade and the senior grader for the Commonwealth, the approved system of grading which was proposed in Melbourne last week will not reach finality.

Quotations were:—

Pears.—Victorian: Josephines and W.N. 16/ to 17/ a bushel-case.

VEGETABLE MARKET.

There were good sales in all classes of vegetables at the Vegetable Market yesterday. No choice cauliflowers came to hand, and medium quality commanded 8/ per dozen. Beans, peas, and pumpkins all sold well at previous rates. Among bunch stuff, beetroot, parsnips, and eschalots were slightly dearer.

Quotations were:—

Cabbages.—Local, 1/6 to 5/; cauliflowers, 5/ to 8/; lettuce, 1/ to 1/8 per dozen.

Beetroot.—1/6 to 2/; carrots, 1/; celery, 3/6 to 4/6; herbs, 1/ to 1/3; leeks, 1/ to 1/6; mint, 1/6; parsley 1/6 to 2/; parsnips, 1/3 to 1/9; rhubarb, 1/6 to 2/6; spinach, 9 to 1/; white turnips, 1/6 to 2/; eschalots, 2/ to 3/; radishes, 1/6; watercress, 3/ per dozen bunches; marrows, 3/ a dozen.

Sweet Potatoes, 5/ to 7/; onions, new Spanish, 19/ to 20/; Swede turnips, 4/6 to 7/; pumpkins, local, 5/ to 6/ per cwt.

Tomatoes, 4/ to 8/ per half bushel case.

PIG SALES.

About 2150 pigs were forward at the abattoir saleyards yesterday. These included all descriptions, but porkers preponderated. The general quality was fairly good. The showing of inland pigs was smaller than of late.

There was a larger attendance of buyers than usual. The market opened at about late rates for heavy porkers. The demand for light sorts was stronger, and rates were generally slightly in sellers' favour. Backfatters and baconers were irregular, but the market was more animated during the afternoon sales and on the day was firmer.

Prime backfatters made to £7/10/, good from £4/5/ to £5/10/, medium from £3/8/; baconers, prime to £4/10/, good from £3/8/, light from 57/6; porkers, prime heavy to £2/14/, good from 40/, prime light from 34/ to 44/; others lower.

STOCK TRUCKINGS.

The following trucks have been ordered for forthcoming Homebush stock sales:—

June 27: 254 sheep and 176 cattle waggons.

June 30: 157 sheep and 82 cattle waggons.

MINING.

Quiet but firm conditions governed dealing in mining scrip on the Stock Exchange yesterday. Barriers were solidly supported, and the Sydney market was in advance of the Melbourne and Adelaide "houses" from the beginning. Souths opened 1/6 higher at £12/16/6, but reacted to £12/15/. Norths figured 6d higher at 66/6, and British moved up 3d to 47/6. Junction was the most active stock, and rose 6d to 10/1 during the day. "Hills" and Junction North, both of which were quoted ex rights, failed to appear among the listed sales. Among tin interests Trong, Carpathia, Vegetable Creek, and Kampong were handled on a firmer basis. Copper and gold interests presented but little of note, while Mammoth Molybdenite recovered to 13/9.

STOCK EXCHANGE SALES.

The following mining sales were listed:—

Copper.—Mt. Cuthbert, 8/6; Campden, 6 weeks 20/, cash 19/9.

Gold.—Edna May Deep Levels, 15/9, 15/9.

Silver.—B.H. South, paid, £12/16/6, £12/15/, 6 weeks £12/15/; British B.H., old, 47/6, 47/6, 6 weeks 47/9; North B.H., 66/6, 66/6; B.H. Junction, con., 9/10, 9/10½, 9/11, 10/, one month 10/1, one month 10/1½, 6 weeks 10/2, cash 10/, 10/1.

Tin.—Ratrut Basin, 24/3; Trong, 18/5, 18/6, 6 weeks 18/5, 6 weeks (seller's option) 18/5, cash 18/6, 18/5; Kampong Kamunting, 50/6, odd lot 60 shares 50/6, ord., parcel, 6 weeks 51/; Tongkah Compound, 6 weeks 18/, 6 weeks 18/; Carpathia, paid, 13/9, 6 weeks 14/; Vegetable Creek, 6/2.

Miscellaneous.—Mammoth Molybdenite, paid, 13/6, 13/7½, 13/9, 13/9½, 13/9; ditto, con., 5/3, 5/2.

NOTES.

The Tongkah Harbour output for last week was 28 tons of tin oxide.

The output of the B.H. Junction Lead Mining Company for the fortnight ended June 21 was 1886 tons of ore.

The Bodangora Gold-mining Company crushed 458 tons of stone for gold, including concentrates, to a value of £1143.

A discovery of huge deposits of silica quartzite has been made in parts of the land on the sea coast in the Milton district. An Illawarra company and a Sydney syndicate (our Milton correspondent telegraphs) are interested in the matter, and are preparing to develop the deposits. Considerable areas have been taken up. The material is said to be for the manufacture of a fire-brick used in the manufacture of steel. Quantities of the material have been ordered already for the Lithgow works, and also for Newcastle. Analyses showed the stone to be of high grade.

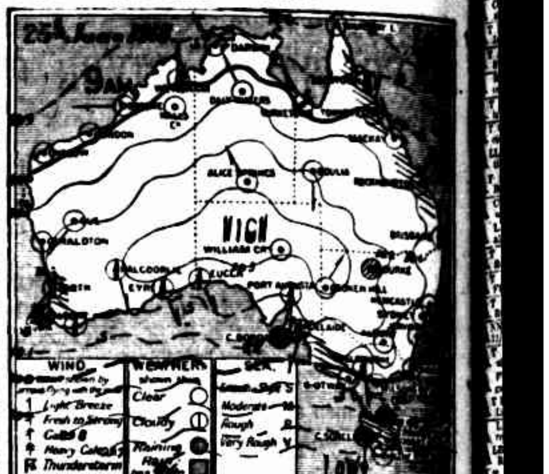
AUSTRALIAN WEATHER.

THE "HERALD" MAP.



Between Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning a combination of slight tropical and Antarctic influences has been responsible for light rainfall at scattered places in the south-western quarter of New South Wales, and at Bourke, and very light amounts on the extreme South Coast. The largest fall was 36 points at Nyngan. This change, however, was only short lived in character, for the "high" to the westward, by advancing towards the coast, interrupted the development of further rains. There is still a tendency to thunder in the extreme NE districts, and the likelihood of showers about the Murray and SW slopes, but otherwise, fine weather, generally, with cold, frosty, foggy nights, will rule. Since the occurrence of the rain, the centre of the "high" has advanced north-eastward, being shown in the heart of the Continent, where its activities favour fine, frosty conditions. However, its further easting may be interrupted by the tendency to a tropical depression off the coast of Queensland. There is also a weak "col" (or area of relatively low barometric pressure), in which thunderstorm activity usually prevails, just off the Central and North Coast of our State. Coincident with the north-easterly movement of the centre of the "high," Antarctic influences have increased along the southern shores of the Continent, but have weakened over New Zealand.

Ocean Forecast: Strong NW to SW winds to gales east from Borda; elsewhere smooth to moderate.

COLLISION IN DARLING HARBOUR.

A collision occurred yesterday morning in Darling Harbour between the Macleay River Steamship Company's steamer Kinchela and a lighter, which was loaded with sugar and was being towed by the Colonial Sugar Refining Company's tug Jessie from Pyrmont to Darling Harbour. The collision occurred as the steamer was proceeding from the foot of Pathurst-street to Careening Cove, North Sydney. The lighter was cut down to the water line by the steamer, but the Kinchela was not damaged.

TIMBER FOR SYDNEY.

After a seven-days' trip from Hokianga, the steamer John Craig arrived in port yesterday with a cargo of 750,000 feet of Kauri timber. The John Craig took up an anchorage in Annandale Bay.

The motor ship Carmen, from Gray's Harbour, with Captain Shellin in charge, entered the Heads yesterday with a cargo of 1,500,000 feet of oregon and pine, consigned to the State timber yards, and anchored in Snails Bay.

EXPERIMENTER FINED.

MACKAY (Q.), Tuesday.

In the Summons Court yesterday, the case was concluded in which the Sub-collector of Customs proceeded against John Downie, alleging that, on May 4, he was in possession of an illicit still for the purpose of manufacturing spirits.

A plea of guilty was entered, and for the defence it was explained that Downie had for a long period been experimenting in the theory that commercial spirits, such as whisky could be obtained or derived from the products of sugar cane. In the event of his theory proving successful there was a possibility that the by-products of the cane growing industry could be further utilised to advantage.

Defendant was fined £100 and costs or three months' imprisonment.

CASH REGISTERS.

Our aim is to combine the sale of our machines with the rendering of such good "service" as will cement our fourteen years' Cash Register reputation.

WE GUARANTEE to systematise the smallest business—even to the rendering of a proper "profit and loss" account.

Our Registers (from £7 upward) provide the "mechanical" service—our instructors the little necessary tuition.

Terms from 3/ weekly.

IS THIS THE HOME YOU HAVE BEEN LOOKING FOR?

Situated in absolutely the best position in Lakemba, with views which can never be shut out, and only 3 minutes from the station.

"FAIRHAVEN" IS FOR SALE.

I had the Cottage built of the very best materials, under my own personal supervision, and spared no expense in building a home to last a lifetime. Built of brick, with Bangor slate roof, big verandahs on three sides, the Cottage has 5 rooms, kitchen, laundry, bathroom, etc., a fireplace in each room, and gas and fuel stoves. It stands on a corner block of about half an acre, which is worth about £350 alone. The ground is laid out in lawns, gardens, etc., 14 fruit trees, and there is a bushhouse and large shed, suitable for stables or a motor garage.

As I am leaving the district I have to sell. The price is £975, and I can arrange terms if you have £50 deposit.

If you want to buy it, call at once to the Owner.

LOOK AT TO-DAY'S BUDGET:—

		Dep.	Mthly.
A.	Woronora River, just unlocked and ready for next hot season. Now's the time to buy, before it's too late, right on the river, and near Sutherland, beautiful surroundings. You can rest calm and peacefully here. A great block, 82ft x 210ft, for just £25	20/	10/
B.	MERRYLANDS is going ahead. We know this. Inquiries almost daily, and we're selling, too. Just a couple of good blocks left, easy distance from station. One Lot in Manchester-st, 50ft x 132ft for £30	20/	10/
	One Lot in Birmingham-st, 50ft x 132ft, for £51	40/	20/
C.	BANKSTOWN, just off the river road, on our well-known Sydney Park Estate, and close to the village of East Hills, every convenience, regular motor service, two fine poultry blocks, about ¼ acre each. For either of these we will take £15/10/. What a bargain!	15/	7/6
D.	KOGARAH.—Here's a Block to suit you, in Hillview-st, water, gas, and only two minutes from the tram. 50ft x 126ft, for only £62/10/. Surrounded by good homes. Don't let it slip ..	40/	20/
E.	INGLEBURN.—Such snug little Farms there. You may have one from 4 to 5 acres, with some of the best soil in the State, good rainfall, and ample convenience to conserve water. They're called BABY FARMS, and are about 4½ miles from the station, and just under two hours' run from Sydney. Get one, say, for £40 or £50	40/	20/
F.	BEXLEY, Regent's Park Estate, 10 minutes from Bexley tram, or 20 minutes from Carlton Station, right in the centre of Albert-street, are two Choice Residential Sites, each 80ft x 185ft. We've cut them down to £55. Surely they'll go for this?	40/	20/
G.	WENTWORTHVILLE.—There's a big building Block on the main Western-road, 66ft x 302ft, and within easy distance of the township and station. It has everything in its favour, good soil, fine position, etc. Would suit a man going to work in town. Well, he can have it for £33	20/	10/
H.	CRONULLA.—Get one of these great Blocks for the kiddy. While he is growing its value is increasing. Good soil, lovely position, just off the tram line, and one section from the beach. They face WULLAMATTA-ROAD, 66ft x 211ft. One at £40	30/	15/
	One at £35	30/	15/
I.	BLACKTOWN, soon to be the terminal of the Western Suburbs Railway. Gas and water already there. The district is scattered over with satisfied settlers. Along the Flushcombe-road we can sell you a fine fertile Block, 84ft x 250ft, for £29. (Don't lose it.)	20/	10/
J.	GRANVILLE, the workers' opportunity. A Fine Estate, within 20 minutes of the Station, suitable for moderate homes, and at prices that everyone could manage. They're selling quickly. Look, 40ft x 150ft, from £12/10/ to £20/10/ per block	10/	5/
K.	COMO.—Deep-water frontage on the river, a few minutes' pull from the station. The time is near at hand when these choice frontages will be gone for ever. See the neat week-end homes with their launches, boatsheds, and baths already there. Great Block, 75ft x 800ft, going for 45/ per ft. and very easy terms. Get one before next season.
L.	MORTLAKE. Whisper! "There's something doing there." Already large shipbuilding works established at Green Park, Mortlake, and several Big Industrial concerns moving in. Watch further developments. Take the tip and secure a block before it's too late. Prices to-day for 50ft frontages, 27/6 to 35/6 ft. Very easy terms.
M.	QUAKERS HILL, 24 miles from Sydney, adjacent to Blacktown Junction. A distinctive farming district. Close to the station we have a good little Farm of 17½ acres, fertile soil, etc. A great opportunity for an energetic man. We will take £22 per acre, and give the Easiest of Terms.
N.	BROOKVALE, close to Manly, and right on the tram line. Township making marked progress. Healthy centre, great outlook, only 15 minutes from Manly. Here's a splendid Block in McIntosh-road, 50ft x 141ft, for only £50. (Close for it to-day)	40/	20/
O.	LOVELY FIVE DOCK, facing the Marine Drive or Fairlight Estate, 20 minutes' run from the city, grassed, undulating country, splendid views. This land has great prospective value. Choice sites, 50ft x 160ft, for £100. (Great value.)	£3	30/
P.	NARRABEEN THE SUPERB.—Beautifully elevated land, with charming seascapes of ocean and lake. A popular resort for campers and week-enders, bracing atmosphere, 20 minutes from P.O., Narrabeen. Glorious blocks; a few left, 50ft x 300ft. Who wouldn't have one for £16?	10/	5/
Q.	LAWSON, on the glorious Blue Mountains, 2400ft above sea level, surrounded with picturesque mountain grandeur, an ideal health spot.—Splendid Block, ½ an hour from station, of an acre each. What, only £40? Yes.	35/	15/
R.	PORT HACKING, close to Burraneer Bay, right on the Port Hacking-road. Charming view of bush and bay. Here's a chance for the camper and lover of out-door life. Roomy Blocks, 50ft x 180ft. Who wouldn't have one for £35?	35/	15/
S.	GRANVILLE, in A'Beckett-st.—Two Fine Building Sites just come into our hands, in every way suitable for the moderate homeseeker. There need not be any pondering over these. Frontage 96ft x 132ft, in splendid position. How much? Only £50 the lot	40	20/
T.	CARLTON, in Illawarra-road.—Good Level Building Blocks, trains to Hurstville and Carlton. Easy distance of either station, 50ft x 132ft each. Ideal spots for workers' homes. £43/15/	30/	15/
U.	MANLY, on our well-known Gordon Heights Estate.—A Fine Residential Property, midway between Brookvale and The Spit. Easy access to Manly, the Queen Beach of the South. Here's Three Fine Blocks left in Gordon-st, 50ft x 161ft 6in each. Your choice, any lot, £35	30/	15/
V.	WOY WOY, the Fisherman's Paradise. Too well-known to lovers of sport for further description.—4 Choice Blocks, each 50ft x 193ft, facing the Appian Way, on our well-known Empire Bay Extension, quarter of an hour's launch run from the station. Fancy being able to get one of these great blocks for £10	10/	5/
W.	LAKEMBA. Watch progress here. A big, busy spot—the Hub of the Service, near the Government sheds, and adjacent to the New Marshalling Yard. Choice Home Sites, 50ft x 130ft. Price to-day £63/10/. Compare prices this time next year.	40/	20/
X.	BANKSTOWN, "Threebees Estate." This means "BIG BANKSTOWN BLOCKS," and they ARE beauties, too. Just under two miles from the Bankstown Station, and immediately adjoining our Wattawa Heights Estate. You will find them fertile soil, level, well drained, lightly timbered, easily cleared. 1 to 3 acres for £33/10/ per acre. Easy terms. Get a Big B-B Now.
Y.	RIVERSTONE.—My word this is cheap. Look, 4 Blocks in Edward-st, each 30ft frontage, by a depth of 200ft. That is 120ft x 200ft of earth. Something to talk about. Get your home and garden on it. Price? Oh, we'll take £9 for the lot	10/	5/
Z.	GIRRAWEEN is such a pretty place and so convenient. It's right in the heart of Toongabbie, on the Western Line, 45 minutes rail run from the city, and three miles from Parramatta. You can get a workman's ticket to the city for 3/8 weekly. Lovely Blocks, 66ft x 200ft, from only £30. GET ONE.	30/	15/

HOUSES AND LAND FOR SALE.

HABERFIELD SAVES YOU MONEY.

OUR INTEREST AT 5 PER CENT
IS THE LOWEST IN SYDNEY.

The main point in buying a House to live in is to buy the latest design, substantially built, and at the lowest price.

This we claim to do at HABERFIELD. Its 1000 Cottages give evidence of what we have done, and the uniformity and charm of the suburb assure the exclusiveness of your surroundings.

We have HABERFIELD very much at heart, and our interests are quite as much yours. Our present designs are well worth seeing.

OUR LATEST BUNGALOW OF £100 DEPOSIT

is in one of the most convenient positions on the Estate, is close to the tram, of particularly attractive design, and contains, briefly, spacious dining and drawing rooms off main entrance hall, breakfast-room, well-appointed bedrooms, bathroom, sleeping-out verandah, kitchen, laundry, and all domestic offices.

We have other types, ranging from £1195 to £1550, and on any of them we are prepared to arrange terms suitable for purchaser, who at any time may pay off any amount desired.

THE INTEREST, AT 5 PER CENT., is quite an advantage and a concession, and is quite apart from the other principal features of the Suburb.

You cannot do better, before buying elsewhere, than to take a run out to HABERFIELD. Why not do so This Afternoon? We shall be open until 6 p.m., and our car will be at your disposal. Take a city tram from George-street (Haberfield or Abbotsford), and alight at O'Connor-street.

A DENTAL STORY WITH A MORAL.
He was poor, but fully realised the value of possessing good teeth. Having lost those bestowed by Dame Nature, he had recourse to artificial ones. For a while he was happy. His artificial teeth looked well and felt comfortable. But one day a tooth broke. Back he went to his dentist, only to find that it would cost 10/6 to repair the plate. And, having no guarantee, he had to pay. Now, the obvious moral is: Get a guarantee with all dental work. Open till 6 p.m. daily, Sats. included; Until 9 p.m. Fridays. Open all day Wednesday. DENTIST PHILLIP MOSES "Does it Best." Orchard's Corner, George-street.

A PLATE REPAIRED FREE OF CHARGE.
My last five concessions, given as an advertisement, were responded to handsomely. Although directly I lost a lot of money, I charged the cost up to advertising expenses. Until June 30th I will Repair any Vulcanite Plate FREE OF CHARGE. This does not apply to a A NEW TOOTH being required; but if so, I will only charge 2/6. Consultations are Free at all hours, and Tea is served Free to patients and visitors at 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. Terms may be arranged for any class of work, from 1/ in the £ weekly.
Hours, 9 to 6; Tuesdays and Fridays, 9 to 9; Saturdays, 9 to 1 (only).

LADIES.
LIFE IS ONLY A PASSING THING,
and whatever U want to make of IT must be made RIGHT NOW. The question is, ARE U SATISFIED WITH WHAT U ARE DOING? If U are, don't waste time reading this, as U are beyond us. There is an old Turkish proverb that THE WORLD BELONGS TO THE DISSATISFIED. Robert Fulton was DISSATISFIED with the old method of moving vessels by sails. The result was the modern steam boat. Stephenson was DISSATISFIED with travelling by coach. Result—the railroad engine. Thomas Edison is NEVER SATISFIED. Note where he stands to-day. If U, madam, are SATISFIED, you're moving BACK. The woman who is hard to SATISFY moves forward. TAKE THIS TO HEART PLEASE. The fact that your income is small can hardly be considered a reason for not studying the BEST methods for development and growth. We cordially invite you to CALL and see the sweets made by pupils after one FREE lesson, with FREE material. THERE IS NO REASON ON EARTH WHY YOU SHOULD NOT MAKE MONEY AT HOME. TO COUNTRY PEOPLE we send material FREE carr. pd. to your door, with free Postal instruction. PARTICS. FREE.
